PERHAPS the pendulum is swinging away from after-the-war indecency. New York is trying to clean up shameful plays.

Boston police, rugged moralists that lack sympathy for indecency calling itself genius, have stopped the sale of nine books.

Fortunately the pendulum can not swing in one direction all the time. Cromwell and his Puritans followed Charles I. We may get rid of writings and performances that would disgrace a monkey house.

AN ELECTRICAL device used in government's Wall Street assay office, actually takes gold out of the air. Fumes going up the chimney of a smelting furnace carry gold with them. The device has collected $12,400 from 5000 pounds of chimney dust. Wall Street knows how to get gold out of water, but the government process is new. If it could be applied to sea water, economically, gold would be, no longer, the basis of values.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, this may interest your army and navy departments. Japan has bought from France 172 fighting airplanes, including 60 big bombing planes—of which 20 could wipe out any city in America. Japan pays France $7,000,000 for the 172 planes, has ordered more, and Japan is building another big flying battle fleet at home.

Japan realizes that there may come earthquakes frmo above, worse than any originating underground.

We talk disarmament, and lovely peace to other nations, while they accumulate equipment that might blow our fine prosperity into the air—if they did not love us so much.

Would it not be a good idea to add action to our brotherly-love talk? Our army and navy departments think flying machines unimportant, and, as Will Rogers says, "they will keep on be-littling flying machines until they have something dropped on them, from one of them."

What do the army and navy think is Japan's purpose in buying and making so many fighting planes, Secretary Wilbur is reported to have said: "There is no danger from Europe's airplanes." She should not judge the flying of other nations by our own.

FROM Bolivia comes gambling news that is really new. Nestor Villegas, Simon Sheque and two Jaurequi brothers murdered Joe Manuel Pando, former Bolivian president, and the judge

Review-Tribune Offers Booklet, "Care of Pets"

The living animal, bird, or fish kept as a pet is entitled to good food, healthy living quarters, cleanliness in body and surroundings, protection from disease, and kind, intelligent treatment. Many people with the best intentions do not take proper care of pets because they do not know what is really best for the creatures.

A new booklet from our Washington Information Bureau tells about correct care of dogs, cats, rabbits, parrots, canaries, goldfish, pigeons, guinea pigs, and other pets. Housing, feeding, bathing, breeding, and other essentials briefly and clearly set forth, based on expert knowledge of government and other experienced agencies.

Any reader may get a copy by using the coupon below.

Coshocton City Is Isolated by Wreck and Flood

COSHOCTON, O., March 21. — The city was virtually isolated today, with a freight wreck on the Pennsylvania lines, west of here, delaying rail egress, and the Muskingum river, at flood stage, disrupting highway traffic. The river stood at 13.5 feet today, inundating many roads, having risen two feet and a half over night. Flood stage is eight feet. Roads to Millersburg and Mt Vernon were under water.

With More Rain Forecast, Residents in Lowlands Along Banks of Swollen Rivers Move to Higher Ground.

Fed by a 48-hour rain, the Ohio river today, the first day of spring, was nearing a flood stage.

At 1 p. m., the river, at dam No. 8, was approaching the 27-foot mark and rising two-tenths of a foot an hour. Lock men predicted 30 feet. The danger line is 33 feet.

Expect 26 Feet at Pittsburgh.

A crest of 26 feet is expected at Pittsburgh, government observers said.

The Allegheny mountains are full of ice and snow, and the present high water is due to the precipitation during the last two days.

The river reached a flood stage about six weeks ago, when it overflowed its banks at several places in the East Liverpool district, when 38 feet of water was reported.

LOUGI GRAFFI IS KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

Accident Occurs Between Irondale and Hammondsville.

VICTIM LABORER

Struck While Walking Tracks to Cream City.

Struck by an eastbound Pennsylvania railroad freight train, Lougi Graffi, 48 years old, an employe of the McLain Fire Brick company, was killed yesterday afternoon on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh tracks between Irondale and Hammondsville.

The back of Graffi's head was crushed and his left foot was badly mangled.

Graffi, according to reports, had alighted from a westbound passenger train at Hammondsville and was walking the tracks to Cream City, when he boarded, when he was hit by the train.

The crew of the freight train stopped and picked up the body, taking it to the D. N. MacLean funeral home in Wellsville.

Graffi is survived by three children, all living in Italy. His wife died two months ago in Italy.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception church in Wellsville, in charge of Rev. Edward Gracey, pastor. Burial will be made in St. Elizabeth cemetery.

BOULDER BLOCKS MIDLAND ROAD

A rock, weighing several tons, crashed from the hillside, partially blocking the Midland-East Liverpool road east of Smiths Ferry, Pa., Saturday night. One-way traffic was permitted following the slip.

Beaver county highway workmen were removing the boulder today.

Unmasked Bandits Hold Up Bank at Osgood; Get $2,000

GREENVILLE, O., March 21.—Two unmasked bandits today held up the bank at Osgood, near here, and escaped with $2,000. Cashier August Reichertm and Assistant Cashier L. J. Brewer, offered no resistance when the men covered them with guns and demanded money.

The men ran to a waiting automobile and drove west.

Mrs. Jessie Roe Funeral is Held In Emlenton, Pa.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jessie Hamilton Roe, wife of Joseph O. Roe, who died suddenly in Patchogue, Long Island, were held in the home of her sister, Mrs. B. F. Williams, of Emlenton, Pa., in charge of Rev. Mr. Gilbert, pastor of St. John's Reformed church, assisted by Rev. Mohney, of the Emlenton Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was made in Emlenton cemetery.

Beside her husband, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Harlan Brush, of Los Angeles, Cal., former resident of East Liverpool; Mrs. B. F. Williams and Miss Nina Hamilton, of Emlenton.

TWO MEN HELD FOR $13,885 SHORTAGE AT MIDLAND MILL

Works Accountant and Paymaster Face Charges.

ONE POSTS BOND

M. J. Howieson and J. P. Stone Accused of Embezzlement.

Charged with embezzlement in connection with alleged payroll "padding," M. J. Howieson, works accountant, and Joseph P. Stone paymaster for the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel company, Midland, Pa., will be given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace David A. Stewart, Beaver, Pa., at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Howieson, held in default of $12,000 bond, is charged with having embezzled $10,485 during the last two years by means of payroll manipulations. Stone, former resident of East Liverpool, working in Howieson's department, is alleged to have taken $3,400. He is at liberty under $4,000 bond.

The arrests were made upon affidavits signed by Maurice L. McJunkin, New York, special auditor, after an examination of records in the Midland office. The suspects were arrested at their homes in Midland by Night Patrolman Adam McConaughy, of the Beaver police force, who took them to Beaver.

According to Beaver county authorities Howieson on Saturday signed a written confession. Stone, it is claimed, has also confessed to having had a part in the scheme.

The affidavits signed by McJunkin sets fourth that funds were embezzled "March 4 and at various times within the last two years." It is claimed that Howieson "padded" the payrolls of the company by entering fictitious names on the payroll records. These names, it is claimed, were added after the payroll lists had been approved by department heads.

FIRE DESTROYS MILLPORT BARN

Efforts were being made today to determine the cause of the fire which destroyed the barn on the W. J. King farm, one mile east of Millport during the latter part of last week. The loss is estimated at $10,000 upon which $5,000 worth of insurance was carried.

The blaze was discovered by men who were passing. King being in Lisbon on business at the time. The stock was led to safety, but the hay, grain and farm machinery were destroyed.

Civil War Veterans Plan Flag Sale for Memorial Day Fund

Miniature American flags will be sold on the streets in the down town district on Saturday, May 7, as a means of raising funds with which to meet the expense of the annual memorial Day observance by General Lyon Post No. 44, G. A. R., it was announced today.

The committee in charge is made up of Joseph Webber, Sr., Gideon Standley and Benton Kirk.

Earl Carroll Loses Famous "Bathtub" Party Case Fight

WASHINGTON, March 21—Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, today lost his fight in the supreme court to escape a prison sentence resulting from the famous "bathtub" party given on the stage of his theatre.

The high court denied Carroll's petition for a writ of review of his conviction on a perjury charge.

No statement accompanied the brief announcement of the court.

Carroll faces a sentence of a year and a day in federal prison at Atlanta and a fine of $2,000.

INVADERS TAKE OVER REINS IN CHINA'S CHIEF CUSTOMS PORT

Fleeing Shantung Troops Fired Indiscriminately as They Go.

U. S. MARINES LAND

Tensity and Fears Reported in International Settlement.

BY ALFRED MEYER.

LONDON, March 21. — Chinese troops have broken through the barriers to the north of the international settlement and have had a stiff fight with the British, according to dispatches received here tonigut.

When word was received that the Chinese had broken the barriers, an armored car manned by British soldiers was sent to drive the invaders out. A brisk fight ensued and one British officers and thee men were wounded.

SHANGHAI, March 21.—Chaos prevails in Shanghai today, following the occupation of the native city by the victorious Cantonese.

The fleeing Shantung troops are impressing citizens into service and are firing indiscriminately as they go.

Cantonese sympathizers, without waiting for the creation of a Nationalist city administration, have taken matters into their own hands, seized the police stations, and are conducting a guerilla warfare on those whom they regard as their enemies.

Evidence of the chaotic conditions that rule in the native city was given today when it was reported that Nationalist guerillas, storming Dixwell road police station, found 40 northern soldiers taking refuge there and murdered all of them.

The international settlement is still inviolate, with strong guards posted and all international citizens ordered to keep within the settlement.

American marines have been landed and have been put on guard duty. Japanese and Portuguese troops have also been landed to aid the British troops.

British Troops Fired On.

British troops have been fired on by retreating Shantungites. Two American soldiers doing patrol duty within the international settlement have been beaten up.

Sniping invaders are reported to have wounded one American, one Brit-

MRS. M. K. DAVIS RUN DOWN BY J. F. BEVAN CAR OF CLEVELAND

Victim of Lincoln Highway Crash Dies in Hospital.

CHEST CRUSHED

Accident Occurs Near Stop 55 on Y. & O. Railroad.

Mrs. Mary K. Davis, 24, wife of Harry Davis, steward at the Lincoln Country club, Glenmoor, died in the City hospital at 4 o'clock Sunday morning from internal injuries suffered at 9 o'clock Saturday night when struck near Stop 55 on the Lincoln highway by an automobile driven by John F. Bevan, Cleveland.

Mist Blinds Driver.

Her left arm was broken, right ankle fractured and chest crushed. Bevan, who was on his way to Chester to attend the funeral of a relative, reported the accident to police here. No charge has been preferred against him.

Mrs. Davis, accompanied by her husband and James Azdell, a neighbor, was on her way home from East Liverpool, when the accident occurred. They had left the Y. & O. at Stop 55 and were walking south on the west side of the highway.

Bevan, driving a touring car, said that he was traveling about 25 or 30 miles an hour and, because of the

FOUR KILLED IN CLEVELAND

Several Other Persons are Injured Over Week-end.

CLEVELAND, O., March 21.— Four members of one Cleveland family are dead today, and several other persons were more or less seriously injured as the result of week-end traffic accidents in the Cleveland area.

The dead:

R. H. Bull, 36, shipping clerk; Mrs. Mayme Bull, 35, his wife, Frances 13, and Elizabeth 10, their daughters.

The automobile in which the four were riding was struck by an Erie railroad passenger train at a grade crossing in Solon, near here. Bull, his wife, and daughter, Frances, were killed instantly. Elizabeth died on the way to a hospital.

The family was returning home from a trip into the country, when the crash occurred. Witnesses believe Bull, who was driving, failed to hear the approaching train.

Norman Beller, 8, of Elyria, suffered a possible fractured skull when the Beller automobile crashed into another machine here Sunday.

Betty Green, 3, is in Charity hospital with a fractured skull, as a result of being hit by an auto.

Four other persons suffered lesser injuries in other accidents.

HERE IS FIRST INSTALLMENT OF REVIEW-TRIBUNE'S SERIAL, 'HATTIE,' STORY OF LOVE AND SACRIFICE, BY SAMUEL MERWIN

FIRST INSTALLMENT.

Hattie Johnson turned seventeen in October, and with the turning came transition out of inconspicuous youth into budding womanhood. She who had been thin—even, in the vernacular, skinny—was now, suddenly, noticeably, swelling and rounding into a pleasantly lissome slimness. The pinched little face, out of which wistful brown eyes had gazed with something the appeal of an Airdale puppy, filled into an oval, with a new softness about the demure mouth. The hair, that had been teh color of unripe cornsilk, straight and wispy, depened a shade and began to appear in experimental arrangements that indicated a grouping toward style.

Mrs. Mullane, the forewoman noted this quick blooming tolerantly. It was a problem familiar enough, here in the mailing room where at various times from thirty to sixty girls sat at the rows of desks folding magazines into addressed brown wrappers and piling them with overlapping edges so that in a single stroke of the paste brush they might be gummed for sealing. Mrs. Mullane noted also the tendency of the girl to dream, to start nervously and flush with self-consciousness. One afternon she saw Hattie with Willie Mazzini, the office boy, behind the partition that separated the mailing room from the supply room. They were sitting side by side, not speaking a word, holding hands. At intervals after that the experienced Mrs. Mullane considered—casually enough, to be sure—the case of Hattie. . . Hattie in the crowded subway, morning and evening, where girls and men were herded and packed together in a manner that no merchant of marketable cattle would tolerate (more than one of the quieter girls had spoken out bitterly to Mrs. Mullane about that); perhaps on the streets of Harlem of an evening wandering with older and shrewder girls into the drug stores for sodas and into the picture houses; possibly junketing to Coney Island of a Sunday afternon with some little Willie Mazzini or other and coming back up the bay on the fast evening boat, romantically yielding to the thrill of the summer night and the thrumming and squeaking of the inevitable two violins and a harp. Hattie was a good girl. Her thin little arms moved swiftly all day, every day, in the routinized movements that had been devised for the girls by the efficiency men. . . . She would never be pretty, not, that is, dangerously pretty. The gift of inner vigor and l[illegible] that men call personality would never be hers. Indeed Hattie appeared to have no humor at all, almost no ego. She was of the drifting, unquestioning sort. Unimaginative. Colorless. She never laughed, and her mouth, if she didn't watch out, would one day droop at the corners. Mrs. Mullane gathered that she had been held closely and none too happily at home, where she lived with her married sister and her grandmother. But a good girl. A rather quaintly old-fashioned good girl. Somewhat frightened about life. Given to speaking in a thinly respectful husky little voice. The most you could say was that her f[illegible] was pretily proportioned, and her profile, with the low straight forehead and the little straight nose, was good.

The printing and bookbinding establishment of Pratt and MacIntire was housed in a square modern building of steel and tile and stone that lowered squarely and boldly and impersonally over rows of dilapidated red-brick houses and over the ceaselessly roaring elevated road and the freight tracks and lumber yards of old Chelsea Village. By merely raising her head Hattie could see the municipal piers and the ferryboats of the North

Fleeing Shantung Troops Fired Indiscriminately as They Go.

U. S. MARINES LAND

Tensity and Fears Reported in International Settlement.

BY ALFRED MEYER.

LONDON, March 21. — Chinese troops have broken through the barriers to the north of the international settlement and have had a stiff fight with the British, according to dispatches received here tonigut.

When word was received that the Chinese had broken the barriers, an armored car manned by British soldiers was sent to drive the invaders out. A brisk fight ensued and one British officers and thee men were wounded.

SHANGHAI, March 21.—Chaos prevails in Shanghai today, following the occupation of the native city by the victorious Cantonese.

The fleeing Shantung troops are impressing citizens into service and are firing indiscriminately as they go.

Cantonese sympathizers, without waiting for the creation of a Nationalist city administration, have taken matters into their own hands, seized the police stations, and are conducting a guerilla warfare on those whom they regard as their enemies.

Evidence of the chaotic conditions that rule in the native city was given today when it was reported that Nationalist guerillas, storming Dixwell road police station, found 40 northern soldiers taking refuge there and murdered all of them.

The international settlement is still inviolate, with strong guards posted and all international citizens ordered to keep within the settlement.

American marines have been landed and have been put on guard duty. Japanese and Portuguese troops have also been landed to aid the British troops.

British Troops Fired On.

British troops have been fired on by retreating Shantungites. Two American soldiers doing patrol duty within the international settlement have been beaten up.

Sniping invaders are reported to have wounded one American, one Brit-

MRS. M. K. DAVIS RUN DOWN BY J. F. BEVAN CAR OF CLEVELAND

Victim of Lincoln Highway Crash Dies in Hospital.

CHEST CRUSHED

Accident Occurs Near Stop 55 on Y. & O. Railroad.

Mrs. Mary K. Davis, 24, wife of Harry Davis, steward at the Lincoln Country club, Glenmoor, died in the City hospital at 4 o'clock Sunday morning from internal injuries suffered at 9 o'clock Saturday night when struck near Stop 55 on the Lincoln highway by an automobile driven by John F. Bevan, Cleveland.

Mist Blinds Driver.

Her left arm was broken, right ankle fractured and chest crushed. Bevan, who was on his way to Chester to attend the funeral of a relative, reported the accident to police here. No charge has been preferred against him.

Mrs. Davis, accompanied by her husband and James Azdell, a neighbor, was on her way home from East Liverpool, when the accident occurred. They had left the Y. & O. 55 and were walking south on the west side of the highway.

Bevan, driving a touring car, said that he was traveling about 25 or 30 miles an hour and, because of the

FOUR KILLED IN CLEVELAND

Several Other Persons are Injured Over Week-end.

CLEVELAND, O., March 21.— Four members of one Cleveland family are dead today, and several other persons were more or less seriously injured as the result of week-end traffic accidents in the Cleveland area.

The dead:

R. H. Bull, 36, shipping clerk; Mrs. Mayme Bull, 35, his wife, Frances 13, and Elizabeth 10, their daughters.

The automobile in which the four were riding was struck by an Erie railroad passenger train at a grade crossing in Solon, near here. Bull, his wife, and daughter, Frances, were killed instantly. Elizabeth died on the way to a hospital.

The family was returning home from a trip into the country, when the crash occurred. Witnesses believe Bull, who was driving, failed to hear the approaching train.

Norman Beller, 8, of Elyria, suffered a possible fractured skull when the Beller automobile crashed into another machine here Sunday.

Betty Green, 3, is in Charity hospital with a fractured skull, as a result of being hit by an auto.

Four other persons suffered lesser injuries in other accidents.

HERE IS FIRST INSTALLMENT OF REVIEW-TRIBUNE'S SERIAL, 'HATTIE,' STORY OF LOVE AND SACRIFICE, BY SAMUEL MERWIN

FIRST INSTALLMENT.

Hattie Johnson turned seventeen in October, and with the turning came transition out of inconspicuous youth into budding womanhood. She who had been thin—even, in the vernacular, skinny—was now, suddenly, noticeably, swelling and rounding into a pleasantly lissome slimness. The pinched little face, out of which wistful brown eyes had gazed with something the appeal of an Airdale puppy, filled into an oval, with a new softness about the demure mouth. The hair, that had been teh color of unripe cornsilk, straight and wispy, depened a shade and began to appear in experimental arrangements that indicated a grouping toward style.

Mrs. Mullane, the forewoman noted this quick blooming tolerantly. It was a problem familiar enough, here in the mailing room where at various times from thirty to sixty girls sat at the rows of desks folding magazines into addressed brown wrappers and piling them with overlapping edges so that in a single stroke of the paste brush they might be gummed for sealing. Mrs. Mullane noted also the tendency of the girl to dream, to start nervously and flush with self-consciousness. One afternon she saw Hattie with Willie Mazzini, the office boy, behind the partition that separated the mailing room from the supply room. They were sitting side by side, not speaking a word, holding hands. At intervals after that the experienced Mrs. Mullane considered—casually enough, to be sure—the case of Hattie. . . Hattie in the crowded subway, morning and evening, where girls and men were herded and packed together in a manner that no merchant of marketable cattle would tolerate (more than one of the quieter girls had spoken out bitterly to Mrs. Mullane about that); perhaps on the streets of Harlem of an evening wandering with older and shrewder girls into the drug stores for sodas and into the picture houses; possibly jpuketing to Coney Island of a Sunday afternon with some little Willie Mazzini or other and coming back up the bay on the fast evening boat, romantically yielding to the thrill of the summer night and the thrumming and squeaking of the inevitable two violins and a harp. Hattie was a good girl. Her thin little arms moved swiftly all day, every day, in the routinized movements that had been devised for the girls by the efficiency men. . . . She would never be pretty, not, that is, dangerously pretty. The gift of inner vigor and l[illegible] that men call personality would never be hers. Indeed Hattie appeared to have no humor at all, almost no ego. She was of the drifting, unquestioning sort. Unimaginative. Colorless. She never laughed, and her mouth, if she didn't watch out, would one day droop at the corners. Mrs. Mullane gathered that she had been held closely and none too happily at home, where she lived with her married sister and her grandmother. But a good girl. A rather quaintly old-fashioned good girl. Somewhat frightened about life. Given to speaking in a thinly respectful husky little voice. The most you could say was that her [illegible] was prettily proportioned, and her profile, with the low straight forehead and the little straight nose, was good.

The printing and bookbinding establishment of Pratt and MacIntire was housed in a square modern building of steel and tile and stone that lowered squarely and boldly and impersonally over rows of dilapidated red-brick houses and over the ceaselessly roaring elevated road and the freight tracks and lumber yards of old Chelsea Village. By merely raising her head Hattie could see the municipal piers and the ferryboats of the North

STATE SOCIAL WORKERS MEET

Annual Conference Will Open Thursday at Charleston.

The annual state conference of the social workers will be held here March 25 and 26 and more than 500 social workers in the state are expected to attend, according to Judge Morgan Owen, state president of the organization.

The theme of the conference this year will be the proper care and training of the feeble-minded. The morning and afternoon sessions on the first day, which will be held in the Baptist Temple, will be devoted to a discussion of the relation of health to the social problem.

The subject, "Why This Social Problem," will be dealt with from the health angles by Dr. David Littlejohn, director of the division of rural sanitation of the state health department, while the economic angle will be discussed by Prof. T. L. Harris, of the department of sociology of the University of West Virginia.

In the afternoon Miss Ada Coddington, of the state health department, will discuss the relation of feeble-mindedness to the social disease problem, and Dr. R. D. Roller, Jr., school medical inspector of Charleston, will talk on "Facing the Facts" or the need of greater institutional facilities in the handling of the feeble-minded delinquents of the state.

The principal speakers at the Friday evening session will be Miss Edna McChristie, of Cincinnati, referee of the girls' division of the Hamilton county court of domestic relations, and Judge W. McClintic, of the U. S. court of the southern district. The subject will be probation—juvenile and adult and the community responsibility.

On Saturday the program includes papers on the county welfare organizations by the state board of children's guardians, work of the visiting teachers by Miss Helen Raymond Smith, of New York City, and classification of criminals, by Judge H. Roy Waugh, of Buckhannon. Saturday afternoon the subject of the present and future programs of the state and private institutions will be discussed, and also the pending legislation and its effects.

Saturday evening's session, which will be held in the auditorium of the Thomas Jefferson High school, will be addressed by Edgar A. Doll, of the Training School for Feeble-Minded at Vineland, N. J., and Dr. S. E. Weber, superintendent of schools of Charleston.

All sessions will be open to the public.

Madge Bellamy and Allan Forest in Featured Roles.

Because he stimulates them to their best creative efforts, both stage and screen actors like to work under the direction of Allan Dwan. Dwan's skill in securing spontaneous action from his artists was well demonstrated by the brilliant cast with which he produced "Summer Bachelors" for Fox Films from the novel by Warner Fabian. The film opened a three day engagement at the American today.

Madge Bellamy heads the imposing list of actors in "Summer Bachelors," a comedy of how husbands play when their wives are away. Allan Forrest appears in the leading male role opposite the star. Matt Moore, Charles Winninger, Hale Hamilton and Walter Catlett are the principal "bachelors," and Olive Tell is the genial part-time wife of Winninger. Leila Hyams and Clifford Holland have the secondary leads.

With such experienced players, Director Dwan only had to suggest what he wanted. He did not have to give minute instructions for each scene. As he came to each sequence, he outlined the circumstances to the players and let them work out their own ideas. Mr. Dwan fitted the parts together, and if the result was waht he wanted, he filmed the scene. The result was a convincing spontaneity.

James Hamilton prepared the screen version of "Summer Bachelors."

Missouri Doctor Invents Unique Rupture Truss

This New Thrill!

is Yours for the Asking

PICTURE this,—the New Easy Washer, with its two tubs, in your home, doing your washing in half the time. While the famous Vacuum Cup tub is washing one eight-sheet batch of clothes snowy white, the new Dryer is whirling another eight-sheet batch damp-dry, ready for the line in three minutes.

And . . . . there are no wet, dripping hems and corners when you take the clothes from the dryer; no broken buttons, no stretched woolens; no linens with deep wrinkles that are hard to iron out.

The water is handled for you as it is whirled from the clothes in the dryer by the new water-circulating system of the Easy. The handy gas heater beneath the washing tub keeps the water hot throughout the entire washing.

Now . . . . you can wash your most precious laces, your lovely blankets, sweaters, feather pillows and even your heavy rag rugs right in your own home, in the New Easy Washer. You will be amazed at the results!

FREE

In order that you may see for yourself the wonders of this modern miracle worker, we will lend you a New Easy, without cost or obligation, and let it do your next week's washing. Phone us right now and make your appointment. If you decide to keep the Easy, a small initial payment can be made and the Easy stays in your home permanently.

Madge Bellamy and Allan Forest in Featured Roles.

Because he stimulates them to their best creative efforts, both stage and screen actors like to work under the direction of Allan Dwan, Dwan's skill in securing spontaneous action from his artists was well demonstrated by the brilliant cast with which he produced "Summer Bachelors" for Fox Films from the novel by Warner Fabian. The film opened a three day engagement at the American today.

Madge Bellamy heads the imposing list of actors in "Summer Bachelors," a comedy of how husbands play when their wives are away. Allan Forrest appears in the leading male role opposite the star. Matt Moore, Charles Winninger, Hale Hamilton and Walter Catlett are the principal "bachelors," and Olive Tell is the genial part-time wife of Winninger. Leila Hyams and Clifford Holland have the secondary leads.

With such experienced players, Director Dwan only had to suggest what he wanted. He did not have to give minute instructions for each scene. As he came to each sequence, he outlined the circumstances to the players and let them work out their own ideas. Mr. Dwan fitted the parts together, and if the result was waht he wanted, he filmed the scene. The result was a convincing spontaneity.

James Hamilton prepared the screen version of "Summer Bachelors."

Missouri Doctor Invents Unique Rupture Truss

Sends It on Trial — Without Money Down, No Cash Deposit, No C. O. D.

Kansas City, Mo., (Special)—Having invented a superior type of rupture appliance—with no leg straps, no elastic belt, no cruel spring bands, no hard gouging pads—an unusual offer to give it wider demonstration is now being made by the Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 484-F Koch Building, 2906 Main Street, Kansas City, Mo. He will send his appliance for 30 days' trial without a cent in advance, no cash deposit, no C. O. D. shipment. Hundreds of people, many with double rupture of long standing, have declared it brought them quick improvement and freedom from the hampering and discomfort previously suffered from truss wearing. If ruptured, and wanting quick relief and improvement, make this test. After the 30 days' trial if entirely pleased and satisfied, pay its small price and keep the appliance. Otherwise, simply return it and owe nothing. The advantage of this offer is all in your favor. Accept it by writing the Doctor today. The coupon below will do with plain writing or printing in pencil.

This New Thrill!

is Yours for the Asking

PICTURE this,—the New Easy Washer, with its two tubs, in your home, doing your washing in half the time. While the famous Vacuum Cup tub is washing one eight-sheet batch of clothes snowy white, the new Dryer is whirling another eight-sheet batch damp-dry, ready for the line in three minutes.

And . . . . there are no wet, dripping hems and corners when you take the clothes from the dryer; no broken buttons, no stretched woolens; no linens with deep wrinkles that are hard to iron out.

The water is handled for you as it is whirled from the clothes in the dryer by the new water-circulating system of the Easy. The handy gas heater beneath the washing tub keeps the water hot throughout the entire washing.

Now . . . . you can wash your most precious laces, your lovely blankets, sweaters, feather pillows and even your heavy rag rugs right in your own home, in the New Easy Washer. You will be amazed at the results!

FREE

In order that you may see for yourself the wonders of this modern miracle worker, we will lend you a New Easy, without cost or obligation, and let it do your next week's washing. Phone us right now and make your appointment. If you decide to keep the Easy, a small initial payment can be made and the Easy stays in your home permanently.

ESSEX HANGS UP NEW RECORD

New Mark for Speed and Endurance by Super-six.

For the third time in a few weeks, a new Essex Super-Six motor car has made a remarkable record for speed and endurance, according to word received by the Hudson Motor Car Co., and transmitted to the Buckeye Motor Co., Hudson-Essex dealer in the East Liverpool area.

Timed by the Western Union and officially observed by newspapermen, an Essex ran for 24 consecutive hours on the speedway at San Antonio, turning up a total of 1218 miles for an average of 50¾ miles an hour. The test was made with a stock car by the Sanderson Motors Co., San Antonio distributors.

In recording the run, the San Antonio newspapers say that the fastest miles of the whole test were at the finish, when about 4½ miles were made in the final 4 minutes. They tell also that the track was slowed up by about two hours of showery weather.

"This Essex Super-Six," said Ray Birch, "had been run about 1500 miles when the trial began. In the Southwest, the motorists are more interested in speed than in districts where population is more congested. They like a car that can go across country at sustained high speed. Of course, the outstanding feature of the Essex Super-Six is its ability to run an average of 50 miles an hour all day long. The San Antonio distributor decided to prove this claim beyond any shadow of doubt.

"The run began at 2 p. m. on a Saturday afternoon, and continued just 24 hours, or until the track was made ready for automobile races on Sunday afternoon. For the afternoon of Saturday, all night long, and until Sunday afternoon the Essex kept rolling up its miles. A great factor in the success of the run was the ability of the Essex to take turns at high speed. The low center of gravity and the perfect balance of Essex construction enabled the drivers to take the turns even at night with scarcely a slow-down."

Crime News

Addressing a conference on crime, Charles H. Dennis, editor of the Chicago Daily News, makes this reply to critics who condemn the papers for their use of crime news:

"Crime obtrudes itself, while news of meritorious actions, as a rule, is surprisingly difficult to capture.

"The outcry so many people make against the publication of crime news is in a sense an outcry against human nature. It is the province of a newspaper to be as interesting as possible, within the bounds of good taste and good morals. A newspaper exists only because it is a purveyor of news. If it ceases to publish the news in reasonably complete form, it presently ceases to exist, for the public dooms it to a swift or lingering death, and rightly so."

The same general idea might be put in a slightly different way. Take news that circulates naturally by word of mouth, in any community, without help from newspapers. What kind of news gains quickest currency and widest distribution by this "underground route?" Crime news or police news, mostly.

Let a murder or robbery or fight or unexplained death occur, and see how it spreads through the cmmunity! Nearly everybody makes it his business to tell his neighbors. And people seem instinctively to consider evil news more important than good news. That is merely what the newspapers seem to do on a bigger scale, over a wider range.

Yet even so, possibly the newspapers are blamed over-much. The amount of crime news they print is exaggerated. In any but the yellowest papers, it bears a much lower proportion to the total volume of news than people imagine. The headlines, or else readers' own keen interest in such news, may mislead them in estimating it.

The Women's Rebellion

Carrie Chapman Catt, venerable American suffrage leader, prophesies a women's rebellion against arbitrary styles set by the French fashion trust.

"This rebellion," she writes in the Forum, "will come with the force and fury of all movements long overdue. It will be ruthless and thorough. It may precipitate the world into bankruptcy, close factories, turn millions into unemployment. No one has ever asked the price of liberty, and we shall not then."

She is particularly rebellious about the prediction of Paul Poiret, that within 30 years women will be in trousers. Not that she objects especially to trousers. In fact, she maintains that they belong to women by right of original invention and use, and have been stolen by men. But she objects to Poiret or any other man telling women what they are going to wear.

What then? It is a noble prospect that the rebellious Mrs. Catt opens up:

"Doctors, lawyers, legislators, judges, mothers, housewives, will swell the gathering army. They will plead that the abolition of artificial fashion will bring to the average family economy and calm; to the average woman, a costume comfortable, healthful, becoming and adapted to her work; to all women, an emancipation of brains, conscience, arms, legs and feet; to all the people, a dress of beauty and elegance combined with utility and comfort; to business, a stability heretofore unknown, and to the world at large, the removal of a distracting, artificial and menacing factor."

Three rousing cheers! If Mrs. Catt can accomplish this glorious consummation and at the same time give the Parisian style-setters a black eye, more power to her! Even the American clothing industry can probably endure the temporary upset, for the sake of establishing women's garb ultimately on a standardized basis of beauty and utility. When that great revolution comes, manufacturers will have reason to hope that the permanent models they are making will remain in vogue for at least one whole season.

Gentle Winter

Northern states have been experiencing a sort of pre-vernal spring, with grass growing and buds opening everywhere. Parts of the West have been threatened with heat prostration. Lake Ontario is reported free from ice. Pansies have been blooming at the "Soo." Bees have swarmed in Ontario. Navigation has opened on Lake Erie. There is a remarkable excess of temperature nearly everywhere on this continent since the beginning of the year.

And this was to be a dreadful winter, the coldest in many years, followed by a summerless year. The "goosebone prophets" are not saying a word now. Neither are the scientific meteorologists, except to laugh at their goosebone brethren and say, "You never can tell about weather more than a week ahead."

Who Should Have Fire Arms?

The National Crime Commission, meeting in Chicago, has been discussing means of controlling crime. Fire arms regulation is recognized as an important factor in this work.

The chief of police of one city recommends that all persons applying for gun permits be required to file finger prints. Then seven days should elapse before issuance of the gun, if the permit is granted. In seven days considerable wrath would have time to cool and vengeful impulse to die out, thus saving many lives.

Unfortunately, however, a weapon of this sort, once in the possession of any individual, hot-headed or otherwise, is always a menace. There is growing opinion that such dangerous weapons should be kept out of the hands of all but an authorized few. Certainly they should not be obtainable merely for the asking and the price.

INDUSTRIOUS BUNNY!

In the ancient wicked days when drinking still was going on, Riley Wilson, the official humorist of West Virginia, met on the streets of Huntington a friend of his from up in the mountains. Extending the customary hospitalities, Wilson invited the hillsman to have something. The visitor was agreeably inclined. They crossed the street and entered the swining doors of a life-saving station.

At the end of the bar an electric fan was buzzing. The gaze of the mountaineers froze on this novel object. So absorbed and interested was he almost he forgot to help himself from the bottle which the barkeeper set out for him. He put down his emptied glass, and walking close up to the fan, continued to watch it in a fascinated silence.

"Well, old man," said Wilson, "are you ready to move along."

"Riley," answered the mountaineer without turning his head, "ef you don't mind, I'm goin' to stay a spell longer. I don't know how much longer I mout be here, 'cause I aim to wait until this here little critter stops spinnin' his wheel around so I can git a good look at it. I've seen some peart squirrels caged up, in my time, but this shore must be the peartest one that ever was ketched."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 21.—Diary of a modern Papys: All the morning hunting for a cigarette case Paul Whiteman gave me many years ago and found it between covers of a magazine among trash in the basement. So gaily to my work until late in the evening.

To dinner at Will Hogg's and William Coe and his bride there and also Frank Pollack, who sang bravely as he once did at the Metropolitan and Mr. Coe told of his work in flower gardens and I thought he was a gardener, until after he left someone remarked he was worth fifty millions.

Later all to a musical play and for a round of night clubs. And talked with Roger Kahn, an engaging young man, and then to Charlie Journal's Montmartre, where there was a lady whose frock touched the floor. And Helen Morgan came to our table in another club and she has the loveliest hands any of us ever saw. Then home.

From a highbrow theatre program: "Company Physiotherapist — Dr. Blank." And a florist's window card states: "All stems hygienically clipped."

Urban Ledoux—the "Mr. Zero" of the nickle-a-meal cellar in St. Mark's Place—is reported to have fed 20,000 hungry outcasts last winter. On the wall of his restaurant called "The Tub" is the explanation of his charity: "To bring a greater share of love and beauty into the lives of those too long deprived."

Ledoux is an educated Canadian who has served his country as a diplomatist at various consular posts. He works during the summer and gives all he saves away in the winter. He talks to reporters, but gives the idea he is not especially interested in publicity.

Even the name by which he is best known is the outgrowth of his modesty. At his first free dinner, a reporter asked him what he should be called. He replied, "Nothing." From that was coined "Mr. Zero."

Noble resolve of a chronic first nighter: "The next comedian who snaps a cigarette lighter successfully and cries, 'My Heavens, it works!' will see me snatch my hat, thumb my nose, and run."

An artistic gentleman set out a bottle of rare brandy for several guests who dropped in preparatory to attending a midnight ball.

"What would you think," suggested one of the guests brightly, "if we took what is left of the brandy with us?"

"I would think you were rude," was the reply. That ended that.

Underworld monickers are fast disappearing. Police no longer hear of characters such as "Chicago Red," "Montreal Dave" and "Omaha Pete." In a round-up of crooks in a notorious Second avenue dive recently the police blotter revealed former yeggs with such names as Hulburt Waggstaff, J. Martin Zinn, Edouard La Clere and Barton Fustan.

The custom of the maitre de hotel being known by a single name such as Theodore, Robert, Pierre and Arthur is extending to other callings. Smart glove, gown and milinery shops in the Madison avenue shopping district bear single names of Mary, Louise, Florence, etc.

The newest in expensive desserts appearing on a swank safe menue is listed at $2 a portion. It is a frozen souffle moulded into a heart shape with an iced arrow of red piercing it and surrounded by billows of silver spun sugar. It looks pretty, but not $2 pretty.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Auto Toll Reduced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—The automobile death toll in the United States during the first month of the present year was the lowest it has been during January since 1924, according to data compiled and estimates made by the National Safety Council.

For the month the total number of motor vehicle fatalities is placed at about 1,430. This is at the rate of approximately 46 each day, whereas the daily average for January, 1925, was 65, while for January, 1926, it was 49. The figures for January, 1927, are based on reports from 109 cities and towns and four states which in all reported 487 deaths from automobile accidents for the month. These municipalities and states have a total population of some 40,000,000.

Twelve cities with more than 100,000 population reported no fatalities at all during the month, it is announced, and 29 cities under the 100,000 population mark also had clear records. Seventy-one of the cities and states making reports showed their records to have been equal to or better than those of January of last year, while 34 cities and states had more fatalities this January than last.

"The majority of the cities are off for a good start in 1927," says the Safety Council, "and the record of deaths per day in the United States is indeed encouraging."

Of the persons killed in motor vehicle accidents during this January, 73 per cent were pedestrians, while 12 per cent of the fatalities were due to collisions of automobiles. Automobile collisions with railroad trains, street cars, and fixed objects, and non-collision accidents accounted for the remainder. Of the pedestrian victims 23 per cent were under 15 years of age, 43 per cent were between the ages of 15 and 55, and 34 per cent were 55 years old and over.

The percentage of fatal accidents to children under 15 shows a reduction as compared with the percentage of such accidents in the total number of motor vehicle fatalities for 1926, which was almost 30 per cent, and it is believed to reflect the good that has been accomplished by safety work in the schools.

Showing Made By Large Cities.

Statistics were received from 12 cities with populations in excess of 500,000 and of these six showed a reduction in motor traffic fatalities, while five showed an increase and one a stand-off. Chicago had the greatest number of deaths during the month—50, as compared with 41 for January, 1926—and San Francisco showed the greatest percentage of increase, her 17 fatalities for the month more than doubling her record of eight last year.

Baltimore had 15 fatalities as compared with 12 in 1926; Boston, 4 as against 5; Buffalo, 6 as against 11; Cleveland, 7 as against 11; Detroit, 16 as against 17; Los Angeles, 29 as against 21; Milwaukee, 6 as against 9; Philadelphia, 28 as against 19; St. Louis, 14 as against 20.

Washington was the one city in this city to report the same number of fatalities for this January as for the same month last year—6.

Among cities of 300,000 to 500,000 population reporting only one showed a decrease, Louisville, and one, Rochester, N. Y., reported no change. All the others showed increases, Minneapolis, for instance, having double the number of fatalities this year that she had during the same month last year, 6 as compared with 3. New Orleans' figures jumped from 7 to 11.

Of the cities of 100,000 to 300,000, Oakland, Calif. reported the greatest number of fatalities, 8, which was double that city's record for last year. Atlanta, Ga., and Dayton, Ohio, came next with 7 each, which is to be compared with 4 and 3 respectively for January, 1926. No city under 100,000 reported more than 2 fatalities except Miami, Fla., which had 3.

The states reporting were Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, and Rhode Island, and all showed decreases except the last named where the 1927 figures were the same as those for last year. It is not to be understood, however, that complete returns have been made as yet in those states.

Other public accidents were reported by 43 cities, with a total of 127 deaths. Of these, 44 per cent were traffic accidents other than those involving motor vehicles and involved street cars and railroad trains; 16.5 per cent were drownings; and 11.6 per cent were due to firearms.

Dangerous Age for Children.

At the same time it announced the fatality statistics the National Safety Council made public a chart that shows graphically the dangerous age for children in the matter of automobile accidents.

"Statistics indicate that the child begins to play an important role in the accident situation after the third year," says the accompanying statement. "As he grows older his part becomes bigger and less limited in scope. Accidental fatalities in the third year are twice those in the second year. The tragic increase continues and in the age group, 5 to 9 years, a peak is reached not again attained until we reach the age group, 60 to 64 years. The death rate or deaths per hundred thousand increase from then on, though the actual number of deaths is not large because the population in the higher age groups is not large."

The lowest accidental death rate is for the age group, 15 to 19 years, and it does not show a marked increase until the 35 to 39 group is reached.

The most dangerous months for child pedestrians are April, June, August and October. Last year between 630 and 650 children under 15 years of age lost their lives during each of those months. The lowest month in 1926 was February, also the lowest in total number of automobile deaths when only 130 children were killed.

The sudden increase in the child death rate in the third and fourth years, it is pointed out, indicates the necessity for home training by instruction, care, and example. After the high point reached for the 5 to 9 year-old group there is a sharp slump to the low point for the 15 to 19 group already noted. This marked falling off in the death rate for automobile accidents is attributed to training in the schools, and to the general safety education work carried on throughout the country, but it seems that the schools can not do much to reduce

Addressing a conference on crime, Charles H. Dennis, editor of the Chicago Daily News, makes this reply to critics who condemn the papers for their use of crime news:

"Crime obtrudes itself, while news of meritorious actions, as a rule, is surprisingly difficult to capture.

"The outcry so many people make against the publication of crime news is in a sense an outcry against human nature. It is the province of a newspaper to be as interesting as possible, within the bounds of good taste and good morals. A newspaper exists only because it is a purveyor of news. If it ceases to publish the news in reasonably complete form, it presently ceases to exist, for the public dooms it to a swift or lingering death, and rightly so."

The same general idea might be put in a slightly different way. Take news that circulates naturally by word of mouth, in any community, without help from newspapers. What kind of news gains quickest currency and widest distribution by this "underground route?" Crime news or police news, mostly.

Let a murder or robbery or fight or unexplained death occur, and see how it spreads through the community! Nearly everybody makes it his business to tell his neighbors. And people seem instinctively to consider evil news more important than good news. That is merely what the newspapers seem to do on a bigger scale, over a wider range.

Yet even so, possibly the newspapers are blamed over-much. The amount of crime news they print is exaggerated. In any but the yellowest papers, it bears a much lower proportion to the total volume of news than people imagine. The headlines, or else readers' own keen interest in such news, may mislead them in estimating it.

The Women's Rebellion

Carrie Chapman Catt, venerable American suffrage leader, prophesies a women's rebellion against arbitrary styles set by the French fashion trust.

"This rebellion," she writes in the Forum, "will come with the force and fury of all movements long overdue. It will be ruthless and thorough. It may precipitate the world into bankruptcy, close factories, turn millions into unemployment. No one has ever asked the price of liberty, and we shall not then."

She is particularly rebellious about the prediction of Paul Poiret, that within 30 years women will be in trousers. Not that she objects especially to trousers. In fact, she maintains that they belong to women by right of original invention and use, and have been stolen by men. But she objects to Poiret or any other man telling women what they are going to wear.

What then? It is a noble prospect that the rebellious Mrs. Catt opens up:

"Doctors, lawyers, legislators, judges, mothers, housewives, will swell the gathering army. They will plead that the abolition of artificial fashion will bring to the average family economy and calm; to the average woman, a costume comfortable, healthful, becoming and adapted to her work; to all women, an emancipation of brains, conscience, arms, legs and feet; to all the people, a dress of beauty and elegance combined with utility and comfort; to business, a stability heretofore unknown, and to the world at large, the removal of a distracting, artificial and menacing factor."

Three rousing cheers! If Mrs. Catt can accomplish this glorious consummation and at the same time give the Parisian style-setters a black eye, more power to her! Even the American clothing industry can probably endure the temporary upset, for the sake of establishing women's garb ultimately on a standardized basis of beauty and utility. When that great revolution comes, manufacturers will have reason to hope that the permanent models they are making will remain in vogue for at least one whole season.

Gentle Winter

Northern states have been experiencing a sort of pre-vernal spring, with grass growing and buds opening everywhere. Parts of the West have been threatened with heat prostration. Lake Ontario is reported free from ice. Pansies have been blooming at the "Soo." Bees have swarmed in Ontario. Navigation has opened on Lake Erie. There is a remarkable excess of temperature nearly everywhere on this continent since the beginning of the year.

And this was to be a dreadful winter, the coldest in many years, followed by a summerless year. The "goosebone prophets" are not saying a word now. Neither are the scientific meteorologists, except to laugh at their goosebone brethren and say, "You never can tell about weather more than a week ahead."

Who Should Have Fire Arms?

The National Crime Commission, meeting in Chicago, has been discussing means of controlling crime. Fire arms regulation is recognized as an important factor in this work.

The chief of police of one city recommends that all persons applying for gun permits be required to file finger prints. Then seven days should elapse before issuance of the gun, if the permit is granted. In seven days considerable wrath would have time to cool and vengeful impulse to die out, thus saving many lives.

Unfortunately, however, a weapon of this sort, once in the possession of any individual, hot-headed or otherwise, is always a menace. There is growing opinion that such dangerous weapons should be kept out of the hands of all but an authorized few. Certainly they should not be obtainable merely for the asking and the price.

INDUSTRIOUS BUNNY!

In the ancient wicked days when drinking still was going on, Riley Wilson, the official humorist of West Virginia, met on the streets of Huntington a friend of his from up in the mountains. Extending the customary hospitalities, Wilson invited the hillsman to have something. The visitor was agreeably inclined. They crossed the street and entered the swining doors of a life-saving station.

At the end of the bar an electric fan was buzzing. The gaze of the mountaineers froze on this novel object. So absorbed and interested was he almost he forgot to help himself from the bottle which the barkeeper set out for him. He put down his emptied glass, and walking close up to the fan, continued to watch it in a fascinated silence.

"Well, old man," said Wilson, "are you ready to move along."

"Riley," answered the mountaineer without turning his head, "ef you don't mind, I'm goin' to stay a spell longer. I don't know how much longer I mout be here, 'cause I aim to wait until this here little critter stops spinnin' his wheel around so I can git a good look at it. I've seen some peart squirrels caged up, in my time, but this shore must be the peartest one that ever was ketched."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 21.—Diary of a modern Papys: All the morning hunting for a cigarette case Paul Whiteman gave me many years ago and found it between covers of a magazine among trash in the basement. So gaily to my work until late in the evening.

To dinner at Will Hogg's and William Coe and his bride there and also Frank Pollack, who sang bravely as he once did at the Metropolitan and Mr. Coe told of his work in flower gardens and I thought he was a gardener, until after he left someone remarked he was worth fifty millions.

Later all to a musical play and for a round of night clubs. And talked with Roger Kahn, an engaging young man, and then to Charlie Journal's Montmartre, where there was a lady whose frock touched the floor. And Helen Morgan came to our table in another club and she has the lovelist hands any of us ever saw. Then home.

From a highbrow theatre program: "Company Physiotherapist — Dr. Blank." And a florist's window card states: "All stems hygienically clipped."

Urban Ledoux—the "Mr. Zero" of the nickle-a-meal cellar in St. Mark's Place—is reported to have fed 20,000 hungry outcasts last winter. On the wall of his restaurant called "The Tub" is the explanation of his charity: "To bring a greater share of love and beauty into the lives of those too long deprived."

Ledoux is an educated Canadian who has served his country as a diplomatist at various consular posts. He works during the summer and gives all he saves away in the winter. He talks to reporters, but gives the idea he is not especially interested in publicity.

Even the name by which he is best known is the outgrowth of his modesty. At his first free dinner, a reporter asked him what he should be called. He replied, "Nothing." From that was coined "Mr. Zero."

Noble resolve of a chronic first nighter: "The next comedian who snaps a cigarette lighter successfully and cries, 'My Heavens, it works!' will see me snatch my hat, thumb my nose, and run."

An artistic gentleman set out a bottle of rare brandy for several guests who dropped in preparatory to attending a midnight ball.

"What would you think," suggested one of the guests brightly, "if we took what is left of the brandy with us?"

"I would think you were rude," was the reply. That ended that.

Underworld monickers are fast disappearing. Police no longer hear of characters such as "Chicago Red," "Montreal Dave" and "Omaha Pete." In a r undup of crooks in a notorious Second avenue dive recently the police blotter revealed former yeggs with such names as Hulburt Waggstaff, J. Martin Zinn, Edouard La Clere and Earton Fustan.

The custom of the maitre de hotel being known by a single name such as Theodore, Robert, Pierre and Arthur is extending to other callings. Smart glove, gown and millinery shops in the Madison avenue shopping district bear single names of Mary, Louise, Florence, etc.

The newest in expensive desserts appearing on a swank safe menue is listed at $2 a portion. It is a frozen souffle moulded into a heart shape with an iced arrow of red piercing it and surrounded by billows of silver spun sugar. It looks pretty, but not $2 pretty.

Auto Toll Reduced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—The automobile death toll in the United States during the first month of the present year was the lowest it has been during January since 1924, according to data compiled and estimates made by the National Safety Council.

For the month the total number of motor vehicle fatalities is placed at about 1,430. This is at the rate of approximately 46 each day, whereas the daily average for January, 1925, was 65, while for January, 1926, it was 49. The figures for January, 1927, are based on reports from 169 cities and towns and four states which in all reported 487 deaths from automobile accidents for the month. These municipalities and states have a total population of some 40,000,000.

Twelve cities with more than 100,000 population reported no fatalities at all during the month, it is announced, and 29 cities under the 100,000 population mark also had clear records. Seventy-one of the cities and states making reports showed their records to have been equal to or better than those of January of last year, while 34 cities and states had more fatalities this January than last.

"The majority of the cities are off for a good start in 1927," says the Safety Council, "and the record of deaths per day in the United States is indeed encouraging."

Of the persons killed in motor vehicle accidents during this January, 73 per cent were pedestrians, while 12 per cent of the fatalities were due to collisions of automobiles. Automobile collisions with railroad trains, street cars, and fixed objects, and non-collision accidents accounted for the remainder. Of the pedestrian victims 23 per cent were under 15 years of age, 43 per cent were between the ages of 15 and 55, and 34 per cent were 55 years old and over.

The percentage of fatal accidents to children under 15 shows a reduction as compared with the percentage of such accidents in the total number of motor vehicle fatalities for 1926, which was almost 30 per cent, and it is believed to reflect the good that has been accomplished by safety work in the schools.

Showing Made By Large Cities.

Statistics were received from 12 cities with populations in excess of 500,000 and of these six showed a reduction in motor traffic fatalities, while five showed an increase and one a stand-off. Chicago had the greatest number of deaths during the month—50, as compared with 41 for January, 1926—and San Francisco showed the greatest percentage of increase, her 17 fatalities for the month more than doubling her record of eight last year.

Baltimore had 15 fatalities as compared with 12 in 1926; Boston, 4 as against 5; Buffalo, 6 as against 11; Cleveland, 7 as against 11; Detroit, 16 as against 17; Los Angeles, 29 as against 21; Milwaukee, 6 as against 9; Philadelphia, 28 as against 19; St. Louis, 14 as against 20.

Washington was the one city in this city to report the same number of fatalities for this January as for the same month last year—6.

Among cities of 300,000 to 500,000 population reporting only one showed a decrease, Louisville, and one, Rochester, N. Y., reported no change. All the others showed increases, Minneapolis, for instance, having double the number of fatalities this year that she had during the same month last year, 6 as compared with 3. New Orleans' figures jumped from 7 to 11.

Of the cities of 100,000 to 300,000, Oakland, Calif. reported the greatest number of fatalities, 8, which was double that city's record for last year. Atlanta, Ga., and Dayton, Ohio, came next with 7 each, which is to be compared with 4 and 3 respectively for January, 1926. No city under 100,000 reported more than 2 fatalities except Miami, Fla., which had 3.

The states reporting were Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, and Rhode Island, and all showed decreases except the last named where the 1927 figures were the same as those for last year. It is not to be understood, however, that complete returns have been made as yet in those states.

Other public accidents were reported by 43 cities, with a total of 127 deaths. Of these, 44 per cent were traffic accidents other than those involving motor vehicles and involved street cars and railroad trains; 16.5 per cent were drownings; and 11.6 per cent were due to firearms.

Dangerous Age for Children.

At the same time it announced the fatality statistics the National Safety Council made public a chart that shows graphically the dangerous age for children in the matter of automobile accidents.

"Statistics indicate that the child begins to play an important role in the accident situation after the third year," says the accompanying statement. "As he grows older his part becomes bigger and less limited in scope. Accidental fatalities in the third year are twice those in the second year. The tragic increase continues and in the age group, 5 to 9 years, a peak is reached not again attained until we reach the age group, 60 to 64 years. The death rate or deaths per hundred thousand increase from then on, though the actual number of deaths is not large because the population in the higher age groups is not large."

The lowest accidental death rate is for the age group, 15 to 19 years, and it does not show a marked increase until the 35 to 39 group is reached.

The most dangerous months for child pedestrians are April, June, August and October. Last year between 630 and 650 children under 15 years of age lost their lives during each of those months. The lowest month in 1926 was February, also the lowest in total number of automobile deaths when only 130 children were killed.

The sudden increase in the child death rate in the third and fourth years, it is pointed out, indicates the necessity for home training by instruction, care, and example. After the high point reached for the 5 to 9 year-old group there is a sharp slump to the low point for the 15 to 19 group already noted. This marked falling off in the death rate for automobile accidents is attributed to training in the schools, and to the general safety education work carried on throughout the country, but it seems that the schools can not do much to reduce

Mrs. Wilson Smith Hostess at New Century Club Meet

Mrs. Wilson F. Smith received the members of the New Century club Saturday afternoon, at her home in St. Clair avenue. Responses to roll call were readings from "Snowbound."

Mrs. F. G. Fowler spoke on "Wheels of Government," and Mrs. Clyde R. Larkins discussed "Gardens of the Old South."

The next meeting will be held April 9, at the home of Mrs. D. M. Ogilvie in McKinnon avenue.

Mrs. F. B. Lawrence Entertains.

The Colonial club met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred B. Lawrence in Newell.

Response to roll call was a favorite American novelist.

"The Life and Works of Eeith Wharton" was given by Mrs. Thomas Sant; "Booth Tarkington's Life and Works" was the topic of a paper written by Mrs. Frank M. Gardner, and read by Mrs. Robert W. Harker. "James Branch Cabell" was discussed by Mrs. Joseph Cartwright, and "Theodore Dreiser" was the topic of Mrs. Robert Weinhardt's discussion. A review of "The Plutocrat" by Booth Tarkington was given by Mrs. John S. Goodwin.

Sixteen guests were present.

Mrs. Robert A. Weinhardt of Vine street will receive the club on April 2.

Lincoln Way Club Entertained.

Members of the Lincoln Way club were entertained Friday evening in the Glenmoor Athletic club hall by Mesdames J. R. Larimore and Albert Craft of Lincoln highway. The social hours were spent with music and dancing, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses. Places were arranged for 30 persons.

The next meeting will be held April 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Turner in Glenmoor.

Mrs. Harry Brokaw Hostess.

Mrs. Harry Brokaw entertained the members of her Sunday school class, No. 9, of the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Friday evening, at her home in Orchard Grove avenue. Guessing contests and stunts followed the business session. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hubert Hunt.

Charles Shope is teacher of the class.

Party in Newlyweds' Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Flynn, who were married Feb. 21 in the Newburg, N. Y., Salvation Army hall, were tendered a shower by their friends of the Salvation Army citadel Friday evening. The social hours were spent with games and music, after which the honor guests received many gifts.

Refreshments were served.

Mr. Flynn and his bride formerly resided here.

Helping Hand Class Party.

Members of the Helping Hand class of the Methodist Protestant church were entertained Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. Ellen Broadbent in Dresden avenue. Following the business session, games and music were diversions. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother.

Ceramic Presents Two Stars in "Getting Gertie's Garter."

You have heard of hard-headed business men often enough, but few persons realize why a solid cranium is an asset to an actor. So declared William Orlamond, veteran screen comedian in a recent interview.

Orlamond plays the part of the comedy butler in "Getting Gertie's Garter" in which Metropolitan is starring Marie Prevost, and which will be presented at the Ceramic theatre today. In one of the sequences transpiring in a barn, Orlamond is called upon to slide head first from the hay loft to the floor below.

The scene had to be "shot" several times before E. Mason Hopper, the director, was satisfied and despite the fact that much hay was strewn on the floor to break the force of the fall, Orlamond insisted that every time he dived he coul' feel the wooden planks sock him on the dome. Needless to say the comedian was tickled to death when the director shouted, "okay," and moved to another set.

Charles Ray has the male lead in the picture and with Miss Prevost heads an exceptionally brilliant cast including, Harry Myers, Sally Rand, Franklin Pangborn, Fritzi Ridgeway, Del Henderson and Lila Leslie. The screen play is based on the stage success of the same name by Avery Hopwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glennon and daughter, Alice of Virginia avenue, were Beaver Falls visitors on Friday.

Mr. nad Mrs. Robert Graham of Ohio avenue were Pittsburgh visitors on Thursday.

LANDSLIDES AGAIN CLOSE HIGHWAY TO WELLSVILLE

BARRIERS GO UP AS ROCKS BLOCK TRAFFIC

County Officials Act as Rains Cause Hillside Slips.

DETOUR ORDERED

Street Cars Operate on Both Tracks After Clean-up.

Both the eastbound and the westbound tracks of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company were in service this morning at 10 o'clock after deposits of mud, earth and rocks, portions of several slides which dropped off Walker's hillside during the night, had been cleaned off the right of way.

Large slips occurred in three places between the top of the hill west of Jethro and a point a short distance west of Walker's, completely covering the roadway and portions of the westbound street car tracks.

At other places along the road, small and large rocks were strewn over the highway.

The thoroughfare is closed as a result of the slips, and indications today pointed to a suspension of traffic over the river route for several days.

Automobile traffic will use the campground road detour until the slides are cleaned off.

YOUTH ADMITS THEFT OF WATCH

William Crawford, 23 years old, who police say, admitted the theft of a wrist watch from Cora Bamer, of East End, East Liverpool, will be bound over to the grand jury today by local authorities.

Crawford was arrested with another youth, George Davis, and from the pair police learned that a deal was being framed to steal an automobile belonging to Abe Katz, of this city, it was said.

WILL TELL STORY OF 'CINDERELLA'

The story of Cinderalla and her prince will be given as the closing number of the piano recital which will be presented by pupils of Miss Margaret Jean Fogo on Tuesday evening, March 29, in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The cast for "Cinderella" follows:

Cinderella, Janet, Musser; Prince, Richard Ginder; Cupid, Delmar O'Hara; Godmother, Esther Frances Swift; stepmother, Sara Ferguson; Belinda, Beulah Pugh; Henrietta, Lillian West; Duke, Joseph Rabinovitz.

Fairies—Betty Miller, Juliet Smith, Frances Havelock, Catherine Wilkinson, Margaret Earich, Mildred Wilkinson, Clara Frail, Mildred Connor, Cleora West and Letha Mae Clark.

Ladies—Catherine Wilkinson, Evelyn Irons, Jean Johnson, Ruth Weekley, Dorothy Grey, Irene Cline, Ruby Redinger, Alice Fogo and Lenora Cline.

Lords—Willard Havelock, John McGary, James Connor, Leroy Jones, Don Ferguson and James Earich.

Pianist—Ruth Coleman.

COMPLETE ROAD JOB TOMORROW

McQueen's Run Thoroughfare Gets Hard Surface.

Finishing touches to the McQueen's Run road, which will place the thoroughfare in better condition than it has been since it was built, will be applied tomorrow.

The city forces, which have been co-operating with coal men, farmers and teamsters in one of the most efficient pieces of road improving projects of its kind that has been done here for a long time, was to dump the final lods of slag today

Tomorrow the steam roller is scheduled to make its last trip and the road will be ready for use.

Several weeks were required to complete the job. Ditches and drains were cleaned out, the roadway leveled off and then covered with broken bricks. Over this was spread a thick layer of slag and the whole then rolled down.

The new road provides an improved connecting link between Aten avenue and the brick stretch in Yellow Creek township.

WEST END P. T. A. MEET TONIGHT

WILL ENFORCE TRAFFIC LAWS

State Inspector Warns Motorists to Use Proper Tags.

John Tompkins, of Warren, an inspector connected with the state bureau of motor vehicles, has joined local police authorities in their war on motorists who refuse to carry proper license plates on their cars.

Tompkins will spent several days in Wellsville and later will visit East Liverpool.

The state inspector points out that each motor vehicle must have two license plates, each designed for the particular car on which it is placed.

Arrests will be made for violations of the traffic regulation.

SALINEVILLE

The Philathea Bible class of the Methodist church held its regular business meeting at the church Friday evening. The hostesses, Miss Bess Goddard, Mrs. James Herbert, Mrs. Bessie McGonnagle, Mrs. Dora Hunter, and Mrs. Edith Close, served luncheon. After the business session, a social hour was spent. Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illino's, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

75 Persons Join Nazarene Church During Revival

Seventy-five persons united with the church during revival services, which were conducted at the Church of the Nazarene, St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, yesterday. Rev. Bena Fleming, Ashland, Ky., preached at morning, afternoon and evening services and also spoke at a Sunday school rally.

Music was rendered by E. B. Marsh and George H. Ward. A quartet, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Mounts and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox, sang at the afternoon service. A sextet made up of Carl Ward, Otmer Statts, Raymond Davis, Gale Hutchinson, George Ward and E. B. Marsh sand, "Amazing Grace" at the evening service. A vocal solo was given by Miss Alberta Brindley.

Rev. E. H. Stillion, Oil City, Pa., will conduct tonight's services. Miss Magdalene Deboer of Sandy Lake, Pa., will sing. A 15-minute program of instrumental music will be rendered beginning at 7:15 o'clock.

Bookmakers presented to C. W. Cropper, secretary of the Australian Jockey club, an illuminated address encased in jeweled solid silver, as he started on a tour abroad recently.

Thirty sharks were included in the net catch made by a herring fishing trawler that landed at Belfast, Ireland, recently.

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long-suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking.

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It is a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer.

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

Nab Five Persons On Liquor Charges; Three Pay Fines

Five persons, charged with liquor violations, were nabbed by the police over the week-end. One was fined, another forfeited his bond, the third pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence, while two others were to be given hearings before Municipal Judge Hanley this afternoon.

Clarence Christy was fined $100 and costs upon a possession charge after Chief of Police McDermott, Captain Conley, Patrolman Lister and Patrolman Curran raided his home in Church alley.

Captain Conley, Patrolman Roth and Curran arrested James Monroe, Orchard grove avenue, at 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning, on a charge of possession. He will get a hearing at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Carl Kelly, Walnut street, arrested when Chief McDermott, Captain Conley, Patrolman Lister and Patrolman Curran, visited his home Saturday evening, was charged with possession of liquor and gambling devices. He was released on bond for a hearing this afternoon.

Paul Wiggins, arrested in East End last Tuesday, entered a plea of guilty to a possession charge and was fined $200 and costs this morning.

Two men giving names of "McConnell" and "Canevin," but no street addresses, were listed for possession. The latter, who was arrested in East End, forfeited $105.80. The arrests were made by Patrolmen Smith and Curran.

It begins what, in years to come, will be the world's really important police force. Criminals know—what this government does not yet know—that flying is a practical reality.

MAYOR WALKER of New York, sets a good example proposing to cut taxes on poor people's dwellings. This should apply to any moderate price house in which a father and mother bring up children. When they are poor, actually, the city, state and nation should help instead of taxing them, since they are providing human working machinery for the next generation.

MOSCOW threatens many things, if the Chinese harm Russian subjects captured on board a Russian ship and accused of propagandism.

A Russian-Chinese war would be long and no repetition of the Russian-Japanese war, the czar and the grand dukes being replaced by capable thinking Russians. Russia, not backward like this nation would soon have hundreds of fighting planes above China's cities—and they would not fall down.

But how would you conquer, all at once, China's 400,000,000. Savage Asiatics have done it, by settling among the Chinese, and ruling by terror.

But that system has gone by. To fight China or Russia, would be like something yourself in a huge feather bed, as one of the German experts said.

No More Tired Burning Feet

What a Relief!

Why suffer the miserable discomfort of smarting, aching, perspiring feet when it is so easy to quickly make them well by merely using a harmless liquid called Dax.

The minute you use Dax your feet become cool and comfortable. The irritation and soreness disappear as if by magic. Soothing, blessed relief is immediately yours.

Dax must not be confused with foot powders or messy salves that only give temporary comfort at the most. Dax does not merely ease foot pain. On the contrary, it removes the cause by correcting the action of the sweat glands.

Get a bottle of Dax today at Jesse D. Holloway or any druggist. It is guaranteed to instantly make your feet well and happy, or else costs nothing.

LANDSLIDES AGAIN CLOSE HIGHWAY TO WELLSVILLE

BARRIERS GO UP AS ROCKS BLOCK TRAFFIC

County Officials Act as Rains Cause Hillside Slips.

DETOUR ORDERED

Street Cars Operate on Both Tracks After Clean-up.

Both the eastbound and the westbound tracks of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company were in service this morning at 10 o'clock after deposits of mud, earth and rocks, portions of several slides which dropped off Walker's hillside during the night, had been cleaned off the right of way.

Large slips occurred in three places between the top of the hill west of Jethro and a point a short distance west of Walker's, completely covering the roadway and portions of the westbound street car tracks.

At other places along the road, small and large rocks were strewn over the highway.

The thoroughfare is closed as a result of the slips, and indications today pointed to a suspension of traffic over the river route for several days.

Automobile traffic will use the campground road detour until the slides are cleaned off.

YOUTH ADMITS THEFT OF WATCH

William Crawford, 23 years old, who, police say, admitted the theft of a wrist watch from Cora Bamer, of East End, East Liverpool, will be bound over to the grand jury today by local authorities.

Crawford was arrested with another youth, George Davis, and from the pair police learned that a deal was being framed to steal an automobile belonging to Abe Katz, of this city, it was said.

WILL TELL STORY OF 'CINDERELLA'

The story of Cinderalla and her prince will be given as the closing number of the piano recital which will be presented by pupils of Miss Margaret Jean Fogo on Tuesday evening, March 29, in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The cast for "Cinderella" follows:

Cinderella, Janet, Musser; Prince, Richard Ginder; Cupid, Delmar O'Hara; Godmother, Esther Frances Swift; stepmother, Sara Fergusen; Belinda, Beulah Pugh; Henrietta, Lillian West; Duke, Joseph Rabinovitz.

Fairies—Betty Miller, Juliet Smith, Frances Havelock, Catherine Wilkinson, Margaret Earich, Mildred Wilkinson, Clara Frail, Mildred Connor, Cleora West and Letha Mae Clark.

Ladies—Catherine Wilkinson, Evelyn Irons, Jean Johnson, Ruth Weekley, Dorothy Grey, Irene Cline, Ruby Redinger, Alice Fogo and Lenora Cline.

Lords—Willard Havelock, John McGary, James Connor, Leroy Jones, Don Ferguson and James Earich.

Pianist—Ruth Coleman.

COMPLETE ROAD JOB TOMORROW

McQueen's Run Thoroughfare Gets Hard Surface.

Finishing touches to the McQueen's Run road, which will place the thoroughfare in better condition than it has been since it was built, will be applied tomorrow.

The city forces, which have been co-operating with coal men, farmers and teamsters in one of the most efficient pieces of road improving projects of its kind that has been done here for a long time, was to dump the final lods of slag today

Tomorrow the steam roller is scheduled to make its last trip and the road will be ready for use.

Several weeks were required to complete the job. Ditches and drains were cleaned out, the roadway leveled off and then covered with broken bricks. Over this was spread a thick layer of slag and the whole then rolled down.

The new road provides an improved connecting link between Aten avenue and the brick stretch in Yellow Creek township.

WEST END P. T. A. MEET TONIGHT

WILL ENFORCE TRAFFIC LAWS

State Inspector Warns Motorists to Use Proper Tags.

John Tompkins, of Warren, an inspector connected with the state bureau of motor vehicles, has joined local police authorities in their war on motorists who refuse to carry proper license plates on their cars.

Tompkins will spent several days in Wellsville and later will visit East Liverpool.

The state inspector points out that each motor vehicle must have two license plates, each designed for the particular car on which it is placed. Arrests will be made for violations of the traffic regulation.

SALINEVILLE

The Philathea Bible class of the Methodist church held its regular business meeting at the church Friday evening. The hostesses, Miss Bess Goddard, Mrs. James Herbert, Mrs. Bessie McGonnagle, Mrs. Dora Hunter, and Mrs. Edith Close, served luncheon. After the business session, a social hour was spent. Games and contests were features. About 60 were present. Mrs. Fred Chambers, of Damascus, was an honor guest. Prizes were awarded to the winners of the contests.

Miss Grace Skinner, a student nurse in the Ohio Valley hospital, Steubenville, is spending a short vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner.

The Knights of Columbus held a St. Patrick's day party at their hall on East Main street Thursday evening. Supper was served to about 200 guests. A good program was rendered. Dancing followed the program.

Mrs. Ernest McKinsey, of Grant hill has returned from Steubenville, where she consulted a physician.

Charles Kimberly, Jr., is suffering from an attack of grip. This is the first time he has missed school in three years.

Mrs. Mary Jane Morrow, of Lincoln avenue, who was suffering from pneumonia, is reported improving.

The annual Congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held on Thursday evening in the church. Devotional services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Martin, who was elected moderator of the meeting. Attorney S. E. McCormick was clerk. Reports were received from all boards, societies and treasurers of the church. The budget for the church year, beginning April first, was adopted. The following officers were elected: O. M. Ashbaugh, and William Heatherington, elders, for three years; Fred Madison and Blaine Patterson, trustees, for three years; Samuel B. Larkins, Herman Graubner and John Johnson, deacons, two for three years, Johnson to fill out the unexpired time of Blaine Patterson, for two years. The annual canvass will be made on Sunday afternoon.

The Dorcas Bible class of the Presbyterian church, met in regular session Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Loch. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Meda Smith. Mrs. Latta Smith presided over the business session. It was decided to purchase utensils for the kitchen of the church. The following officers were elected for the new year, begining April first: President, Mrs. Helen James; vice president, Miss Margaret Smith; secretary, Mrs. Eva Henderson; treasurer, Mrs. Jetta McCormick. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her daughters, Miss Elizabeth Loch, Mrs. Bess Eisenbarth, and grand daughter, Jean Eisenbarth.

More Eggs, Better Chicks, Result of F. P. Faulk's Feed

Do you chickens come home to roost?

There's an old saying to the effect that they do, but there's many a poultry owner who's had to chase the prodigals back, out of some neighbor's garden, perhaps, where they were enjoying some luscious, newly planted seeds, because the home rations weren't what they should have been.

You can't just put a hen on a nest and a "Do It Now" sing in front of her and expect her to produce.

It takes nourishment and care and Mr. Poultry Owner can buy the one and get good sound advice on the other at the F. P. Faulk Sons Company, of East Liverpool and Wellsville.

At any of their branches can be purchased high quality fancy scratch feed, chop, cracked corn, corn meal, grain, feed, hay, straw, salt, plant lime, lawn fertilizer, field and garden seeds of all kinds, poultry supplies of all kinds, Wingold and Favorite flours, and in addition Standard Portland Cement.

"We Never Sleep" is Motto of Busy Bee Quality Restaurant

If wifie insists upon her beauty sleep in the morning, she should have it, by all means, but hungry hubbies must be fed before the daily grind begins, and irrespective of whether he wants just a simple menu of the every ready rolls and coffee or demands a more extensive and substantial outlay to fill the aching void, he can spend a few minutes, or a half-hour, as he chooses, in the Busy Bee restaurant, right in the Diamond, and be fit and ready for another day's successful toil.

And then, if you're too busy to go home for noon lunch, drop in on the Busy Bee for a short snack, and, further, if you decide that faithful wifie might care to eat someone else's cooking besides her own (they do, occasionally, men—that's a tip) take her to the Busy Bee for dinner in the evening.

For after-show folks and others whose appetites crave a bite before bed, the same fine service and food are available. And thus, the Busy Bee serves all the day 'round—24 full hours—from breakfast time to breakfast time. And, by the way, you might, in the mornings, or, for that matter anytime, try some of their electrically baked waffles with rich, delicious coffee.

Auto Wrecking Firm Invaluable Aids in Motor Repair Work

A chain is as strong as its weakest link. This may be applicable to almost anything in general, and is especially true of automobiles, which consist of so many interdependent parts, or "links," that the inefficiency of one may throw the whole thing into a state of disorder.

Of course, there are several things to do in a case of this kind: You may repair, or buy a new part, or, better still, get a good used part that is practically as good as new and much less expensive, through the facilities of the East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Co., at 767 Dresden avenue.

If your engine is the "missing" link, a timer, a coil, new wires, or perhaps plugs may be necessary to make everything shipshape again.

Or your generator, which has done many a good "turn" for you, may have ceased to function; maybe its the battery, or starting motor, the fan, gears or any of the hundred and one things that must co-operate to produce speed and power.

The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Co., deals entirely in good, used parts, as well as tires, tops and other accessaries, and buys and sells used cars.

Naylor and Travis Motor Car Experts; Buick a Specialty

Spring time—Summer time—Vacation time—and if you're a motorist it should be automobile repair time!

Probably figuring already on a trip. Let's see, now—You'll pack up your best golf tools and togs for an uninterrupted outing on some seaside links, and that new bathing suit in which you'll cut a handsome figure, and flannels and sport outfits of all kinds in preparation for a long looked for surcease from business troubles. And then you'll feel all set to go.

But the most important thing—Have you looked at the "innards" of your trusty old auto? Have you had expert mechanics like Naylor and Travis give it a rigid inspection to see that it can stand the wear and tear of an arduous vacation trip?

If you haven't, can you be sure that you'll not be wielding a wrench most of the time instead of a mashie? Or wearing overalls instead of a bathing suit? Or gazing at the mechanical scenery on your back under the car instead of enjoying nature's unending vistas along the roadside?

See Naylor and Travis this spring. Telephone shop 539-M, or residence 7500 R-5, and they'll give you quick service.

Valley Wall Paper, Paint Store Moves; Prices Hard to Beat

W. W. York, who has been hanging wall paper for more than a score and a half of years has got the "hang" of the business down to such an extent that he has been compelled to expand into larger quarters.

York, who is proprietor of the Valley Wall Paper and Paint store started out with several rolls of paper and a bucket of paste just 35 years ago and he has stuck to his job like his paper sticks to the walls until today he has established a large satisfied clientele throughout the city and adjoining territory.

He had been hanging paper for about 18 years when he opened a store in connection with his business. This store has been in operation ever since and its business has grown to such proportions that it was necessary to move into bigger quarters at 203 West Sixth street just two doors below Jackson.

And another thing—the Valley store has been able to reduce its expense about one-half and a goodly portion of this will be shared with its customers in the way of reduced prices on the latest of styles and hundreds of shadings in wall papers.

A telephone call to 1029, places the services of Mr. York and the Valley Wall Paper and Pain store always within arm's reach.

Service and Safety Boost Business of Hyatt Taxi Fleet

Lady Godiva, in her traditional ride in 1040 through the streets of Coventry at the whim of her husband, Leofric, Earl of Mercier, to free her subjects of certain exactions imposed upon them, knew nothing of the seclusion, comfort and efficiency of the modern taxicab.

But in this day and age the taxi is an important part of every day life, and there are none better than East Liverpool's oldest company—Hyatt's Green Cab.

Hyatt's was established five years ago, starting with a small sedan. Now they have four regular cabs, three of which are Reos, specially built cabs. "Nothing but the best will do" was their slogan as they began the establishment of a system of regulation metered taxis.

Care in the selection of drivers is a big factor in Hyatt's record of no accidents in five years. Only experienced operators are employed to take care of the rapidly growing business that now keeps the Hyatt "Green" fleet in constant operation.

Promptness in answering calls also adds to the value of their service. Ring No. 2 and you'll get a taxi, quick!

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS PREPARE FOR LONG STRUGGLE

300,000 MEN PLAN TO QUIT WORK APRIL 1

Tie-up Expected to Last at Least Four Months.

FIGHT ON UNION

Operators Make No Move to Avert Shutdown.

PITTSBURGH, March 21. — Pennsylvania soft coal miners and mine owners are gathering here today to prepare for a bitter struggle.

All mining operations in the unionized soft coal fields of the country will cease April 1. Indications are the tie-up will last at least four months. There are strong reasons for believing it may last much longer.

On April 1, 300,000 miners will cease work. In four months, their loss in wages will be $150,000,000. The loss to business will be greater than this.

It is more than a wage dispute. It is a fight on the part of powerful operators to smash or at least cripple the United Mine Workers of America. On the other hand the union hopes to regain its complete domination of the coal industry, weakened in recent years.

Large Stocks of Coal.

Theoretically, the general business welfare of the country should not suffer until early winter. The stocks of coal above ground are by far the largest in history, and will last through the autumn. If history repeats itself, however, greedy speculators will start prices skyrocketing within a few weeks and industries, either caught unprepared, or panicky, will pay through the nose.

Neither side has any definite plan to avert the shutdown. On the contrary, each is making preparations for long, enforced idleness.

The present wage contract, negotiated at Jacksonville in 1924, expires at midnight March 31. In the absence of a new working agreement the union miners must automatically cease work. Neither side believes that between now and April 1, a new contract can be made for the central competitive field.

Anthracite Not Affected.

The central field, composed of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, is the heart of the bituminous industry. It determines the wages for all other fields and produces more than 45 per cent. of the nation's soft coal.

This controversy does not affect the anthracite industry as it is working under a five-year contract made in 1926. Anthracite is a domestic fuel and is not suitable to industrial use American industry, the railroads, public utilities and manufacturing establishments, depend almost entirely upon bituminous coal. Of all the coal produced in America, 95 per cent, is bituminous.

There will be 90,000,000 tons of coal above ground on April 1. This great reserve, plus the tonnage to be produced in the non-union and outlying fields, will care amply for the public's need for several months.

If the union's grip is broken in Pennsylvania, operators in other states will be emboldened to break with the union.

Big Battle Looms.

Therefore the big battle is in Pennsylvania. This is recognized by both sides. The miners are massing their heaviest artillery in this state. The operators are girding for a bitter conflict, and are prepared to spend vast sums to operate on a non-union basis.

Operators of union mines in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio will close down their mines to await the outcome of the Pennsylvania fight.

Union operators contend they cannot exist under the present $7.50 a day basic wage contract, which the mine workers want to renew. Operators say the unionized industry generally has lost vast sums since 1924, and is losing business steadily to the non-union fields. As a remedy for this situation, the operators at the recent Miami joint conference proposed the adoption of a competitive wage scale to be based upon the wages paid in the non-union fields. The scale would have been determined by a joint commission.

Miners said this plan would have cut wages $2.50 a day. They promptly rejected the operators' proposal and the conference adjourned without agreement. It is not likely to be reconvened as neither side is willing to yield at this time. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, says he will never accept a wage reduction.

90 Young Men Hear Pittsburgh Editor At Afternoon Club

Ninety young men, between the ages of 16 and 26 years, attended yesterday's meeting of the Sunday Afternoon club, held in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. The speaker was Charles F. Gilmore, managing editor of the Pittsburgh Press.

Two selections, "Sailor's Chorus" and "Somebody's Calling My Name," were rendered by the Apollo male quartet of the First Presbyterian church.

Gilmore emphasized tact in dealing with others for "in getting others to do things willingly produces the right spirit and insures success."

American Fliers And DePinedo Will Meet in Para Today

RIO JANEIRO, March 21— Two groups of venturesome fliers may meet in Para today.

The United States army good will fliers hopped off from port Natal early today for Para.

A report from Manaos, as yet unconfirmed, states that Commander Francesco De Pinedo, the Italian ace who is making a quadri-continental flight, hopped off from Manaos to fly down the Amazon to Para.

Later reports confirmed that Commander De Pinedo had left Manaos to fly down the Amazon river to Para, planning to make one stop enroute to take on fuel. He plans to reach Para at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

There are conflicting reports regarding Major Sarmento Beires, the Portuguese round-the-world fliers. One unconfirmed report is that he has a broken propellor and cannot continue his flight. tOher reports state, however, that his troubles are not important and that the flight will continue.

TWO MEN HELD ON LARCENY COUNT

William Tucker and Lawrence Lemmell will be given hearings before Municipal Judge Hanley this afternoon upon charges of larceny filed upon information of Raymond Jackson, Fourth street plumber.

They are alleged to have entered Jackson's shop Saturday afternoon upon the pretext of purchasing pipe. While Jackson was in the rear of the shop, he claimed, they opened the cash register and took six $1 bills and one $5 bill.

Chief of Police McDermott arrested the two men this morning.

Laird Smith, East End, charged with speeding upon Pennsylvania avenue, was fined $1 and costs. He was arrested by Patrolman Smith, Saturday night.

CORDWIN ARNOLD ROTARY SPEAKER

Cordwin Arnold, Wellsville insurance dealer, will be chairman of the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow, when directors will be elected.

Nominees for the seven places on the board are: Malcolm Thompson, William H. Vodrey, Charles R. Boyce, Edward L. Carson, Martin T. Abbott, Albert E. Frosch, James S. Hilbert, Edwin Wells Jr., Lawrence W. Smith, Blaine H. Cochran, Frederick Lawrence, Joseph Betz, Frank G. Fowler, Daniel M. Ogilvie, Frank L. Wells, Roy R. Bode, Charles W. Bowman and Albert V. mist, failed to notice the three pedestrians until he was almost upon them. The woman was struck by the right front fender of the car, the machine passing over her body. Davis, who was walking beside his wife, was knocked to the road but was not hurt.

Driver Stops Car.

Bevan stopped the car, he claimed, within about 30 feet. James Boyd, residing near Calcutta, who was in the Datwyler restaurant near Stop 55, at the time of the accident, placed Mrs. Davis into his automobile and rushed her to the hospital. Bevan followed the Boyd car to the hospital and later went to Chester where he reported the accident to Undertaker George Arner, Arner, upon Bevan's request, notified the East Liverpool police.

Body of the victim was removed to the W. W. Warrick undertaking establishment at Clarkson Sunday, and will be brought to her home near Stop 55 today.

Bevan, who resides near Superior avenue and 80th street, Cleveland, was enroute to attend the funeral of Charles Souers, former East Liverpool man, who died in Cleveland last week. Services were held at the Arner funeral home this afternoon.

Mother of Two Children.

Mrs. Davis was born in Wilmington, Del., but has resided with her father, near Signal, for many years. She was married on December 24, 1923. Mr. and Mrs. Davis moved to the Stop 55 district this winter, when Davis was appointed steward at the new country club.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, Harry, Jr., 3, and Roland, 1. The children were at home with their grandmother, Mrs. Emmett Davis, at the time of the accident. Her father, one brother and one sister reside near Signal.

Funeral services will be held in the Clarkson Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Clarkson cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy manifested during the recent bereavement of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Margaret Moore. Especially do we thank Rev. McKay and singers, the employes of the Review-Tribune and all those who so kindly donated their cars, floral and spiritual offerings.

MOTOR BOATING EDITOR SLAIN IN NEW YORK

Police Baffled by Brutal Murder in Victim's Home.

THROAT BOUND

Detectives Question Man Arrested in Syracuse.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder confessed today, according to Police Inspector Coughlin, that she and Henry Judd Gray, a salesman, plotted to kill her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," and that Gray did the actual slaying.

Inspector Coughlin quoted the pretty widow as saying the murder was committed because she had been "madly in love" with the salesman for two and a half years.

Gray who is 31 and married, has been arrested in Syracuse. His home is in East Orange, N. J. He denies al knowledge of the crime.

Mrs. Snyder who is also 31, is not under arrest as yet, but will be charged with some degree of homicide, according to District Attorney Newcombe of Queens. She collapsed in the district attorney's office in Long Island City after being questioned for over 24 hours and was put under the care of a physician.

Blunt Instrument Used.

Snyder was killed by a blow over the head with a blunt instrument while he slept, and a garrot of picture wire was twisted tightly around his neck. A heavy iron pinch bar such as is used in opening packing boxes was found in Gray's hotel room in Syracuse. Police also found there a pair of rubber gloves.

He went to bed immediately. Mrs. Snyder also retired in her own room. Gray, the confession says, had gained entrance to the house while the Snyders were at the party, and was hidden in some room when they returned.

After Snyder had fallen asleep, Mrs. Snyder got up and joined Gray. The saleman said, according to Coughlin: "There no time like the present."

Mrs. Snyder's story continues that Gray then went upstairs and struck her husband over the head with a blunt instrument. Gray also bound him with picture cord.

Mrs. Snyder then permitted her hands and feet to be tied and Gray carried her to her room and placed her on her bed, where she remained for five hours. It was about 8 o'clock Sunday morning when she finally gave the alarm, first calling her daughter, Lorraine, 9, who discovered her father slain.

NEW YORK, March 21—With little more to work on than an hysterical recital by Mrs. Ruth Snyder of the events leading to her husband's murder, in which she told of being knocked down, bound and gagged by a "tall man with a black moustache, who speaks broken English," police today were attempting to unravel the mystery of the murder iot Albert Snyder, art editor of the magazine, "Motor Boating."

Struck on Head.

Snyder was found yesterday morning on his bed in his home, in Queens, his throat tightly bound with picture wire and his hands bound behind his back with the same material. Death, the medical examiner reported, had been due to blows on the head by some blunt instrument, although the wire would have caused death if the blows had not.

Outside of Shanghai similar chaos prevails. Chang Chow is reported to have fallen to the Cantonese, thus cutting the Shanghai-Nanking railroad, and barring the retreat of the northerners in Shanghai.

Although calm is reported everywhere in the international settlement, there is great tensity and fears are expressed that either the retreating Northerners or the guerilla sympathizers of the Cantonese may burst forth.

The general strike which was called upon the entry of the Cantonese into Shanghai has already seriously hampered normal life, and with 100,000 workers reported idle there may be difficulty in maintaining public services.

First Installment

river and on Wednesdays and Saturdays great gay liners working out and heading down the bay toward England and Frace and Italy. Sometimes a gray battleship or a squadron of destroyers steamed by, and she thought with a timid little thrill of the sailors and wondered adventurously if it could be true that they had sweethearts in every port. She knew that they danced on those ships and kept goats for pets.

One afternoon shortly before five o'clock, Lucille Overman came in to see her old friends in the mailing room. Though some of the girls said afterward that she came to show her clothes. She wore a long cape of the sort labeled in the Sunday advertisements Poiret twill, with a collar of gray fur and a smart little hat. The cape was navy blue, lined with gray crepe de chine. The dress within it was of blue Canton crepe embroidered boldly with gold thread; very scanty and short. The stockings were of flesh-colored silk. Hattie had dreamed of such costumes. Though she could never wear flesh-colored silk stockings. "It wouldn't be me," she thought wistfully.

Lucille was tall and slender, with blue-black hair and cool gray-blue eyes. She had taken Hattie up in those first heart-breaking days in the mailing room; told her how to get speed in folding the wrappers and talked shrewdly during crowded lunch hours of what she called shop politics. Not unnaturally the forlorn little heart of the beginner had opened at this touch of what she felt to be friendship.

Lucille liked to talk of the mysterious life of the great city, and of herself as a factor in it. She knew all the foremen, and even certain of the office force, and in an expensive hour whispered of automobile rides with Mr. Watkins, the mechanical superintendent, who was known to have a family up in Mount Vernon. She said she really had to confide in someone, and Hattie experienced pride in being that one. Vicariously the girl lived through Lucille's rather wild doings, listening wide-eyed as to a new series of Arabian Nights entertainments. Lucille and two of the stenographers had a secret arrangement with one of the elevator moys in the Hanscombe building by which the boy now and then made them known to prosperous young business men who had good cars. It was the boy's business, she explained, to pick real ones. She'd had enough of pikers. Once when both the stenographers had other dates, she urged Hattie to make the fourth on an evening ride with two swell men. Hattie, frightened and inarticulate, refused, but had thought much about it since. . . . Then, after Lucille lost her job, Greba Zorn, the hunchback, burst out about her in a curiously suppressed storm of bitter anger. This was in Child's, one noon, with people crowded close about the white atble eating hurriedly and with dishes and tray clattering noisily. Greba said that Lucille had cultivated Hattie only as a foil. She always had to have a simple-minded, plain little girl for a friend, one who wasn't talkative and could be led along. Hattie defended her, of course, hotly. And Greba's voice trembled with passion. It amounted to a quarrel. . . . It hurt, deeply.

And now Hattie found herself walking out of the building by Lucille's side, as of old, walking somewhat primly in her ready-made black dress. Her shoes, fortunately, were new; the only new things she owned at the moment. And her spirit clung to them.

"Let's go over town for supper," said Lucille.

"I've got to go home," Hattie mumbled.

"Oh, come along. I haven't seen you for ages. And there's a lot to tell."

"What are you doing dow?" asked Hattie, tempted and evading the issue.

"Me? Oh, I supposed you knew. I'm working in the pictures."

Hattie's big eyes glanced up, then down. "Oh!" she breathed, softly. Then, "You don't mean you're an actress?"

"Surest thing you know!" Lucille chuckled. "I've got to be up at the studio at seven-thirty tonight for a test. My first real part. I've been doing extra work, and bits. But even that isn't so bady. You get seven dollars a day, and up, when you work. I'm cultivating one of the assistant directors. Awfully nice fellow. Have to be careful, because his girl is working up there now in the big Armand de Brissac picture. There's the man for you—de Brissac! Temperament? Whew!"

Hattie's difficulty was to take all this amazing news at one time into an inelastic brain. The name of Armand de Brissac was to her one of the greatest names in the world. For a long, long time—two or three years—she had seen it displayed in enormous type on the bilboards. She knew his picture—keen, glittering eyes, heavy brows, firm mouth, manly chin. A great man. No name ever appeared in the advertisments in such huge type. They put Shakespeare in tiny letters down under it when he made the wonderful picture of The Tempest that cost two million dollars.

"Tell you what," Lucille was saying now, "you come on up with me and watch them make the test."

"Oh, I couldn't."

"Call up and tell your folks the truth about it. It's all right. The studio's awfully business-like and nice—just like the shop."

"We haven't got any telephone."

"Oh, come along! You can explain it easy enough. It's not as if you had to risk getting caught in a fib."

"I don't see how I . . . ."

But they were walking toward child's.

AARON SAPIRO DRAWS BLOOD IN LIBEL SUIT

So-called "Wheat King" Scores Against Ford.

ANTI-JEW POINT

Documentary Evidence Placed in Detroit Trial Record.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, March 21.—Aaron Sapiro, so-called "Wheat King," drew blood today in his million-dollar libel suit against Henry Ford.

The wheat king scored impressivly when he placed in the record documentary evidence showing that the Ford crusade against the Sapiro co-operatives originated as a campaign against the Jews. This was the chief contention of Sapiro in his libel suit.

The evidence consisted of a letter written by H. W. Roland, an executive for Ford's Dearborn Independent, to Harry H. Dunn, who investigated the co-operative movement for the auto king and later wrote most of the articles attacking Sapiro. The letter showed that Dunn was originally ordered to investigate "the Jewish boys who are putting the works on the farmers."

It showed that the activities of Bernard M. Baruch, New York capitalist, among the farmers had actually brought about the investigation which led to the articles.

Ford's attorneys sought to block all testimony on the letter, which came into the trial while William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, was on the witness stand.

ed little relief from the flood conditions now being experienced in both the southern and the northern watersheds of the state.

The Scioto river registered 12 feet 3 inches at 8 a. m. here today, the highest mark since 1921. The Olentangy went over its banks during the night, flooding the river road with a foot of water. Farms on the Scioto trail, south of here, were a sea of water, and the river more than a mile wide at many points.

North of Columbus, at Bucyrus and Galion, the state highway was closed because of floods, necessitating several deturs.

electric interurban cars have stopped ccssing the Olentangy bridge at Prospect, south of Marion.

Car Tracks Inundated.

On the Scioto river at Newmans, south of Marion, the interurban tracks were under water, and the Scioto power station was threatened. Marion and surrounding town were in danger of losing all electric power should the rise continue.

The Sandusky river is over flood stage as far south as Tiffin and upper Sandusky.

Coshocton on the Muskingum river is suffering from high waters for the second time this year, and Zanesville is menaced by both the Licking and the Muskingum rivers.

At Athens the Hocking river is past flood stage. The Tuscarawas is gradually backing its waters to a dangerous stage in Dover and New Philadelphia. Lowlands of the Ohio river are feeling the encroaching water though the stage at no reported points is as yet considered dangerous.

The stage at Cincinnati is 39.7 feet with a flood stage of 55 feet. Parkersburg registered 24.5 feet this morning.

Balkan War Clouds Overshadow Geneva Arms Parley Today

GENEVA, March 21.—Balkan war clouds overshadow the opening session of the preparatory disarmament conference, which opens this afternoon.

There was general excitement as reports were received of the threatening trouble between Italy and Jugo-Slavia over alleged warlike preparations by Jugo-Slavia.

There were no indications that the league council would be called in special session to deal with the matter.

Mahoning River at Flood Stage.

YOUNGSTOWN, March 21.—The Mahoning river here is at flood stage today and rising steadily at the rate of two inches an hour. At 8 a. m., the river was eight and five tenths feet above normal.

Part of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks between Youngstown and Girard are under six inches of water, slowing traffic.

Highway traffic is also impeded in all directions.

Mosquito creek, Warren, is overflowing, inundating the lowlands.

Other Streams Swollen.

ST. MARYS, O., March 21.—Banks of Lake St. Mary are intact despite a 16-inch rise in the past day. The water level is now equal to that of 1913 though canal officers do not anticipate danger from the lake.

The high water has caused much damage to the Miami and Erie canal in this vicinity, and workmen are working day and night to prevent washouts on the railroad right of ways.

Memorial high school is closed today because of a flooded basement.

DAYTON, O., March 21.—The Miami river here today passed the 11.5 mark, having risen from a three foot stage in the past 48 hours. No danger is felt as the five conservancy dams are capable of storing up flood waters.

The water behind Lockington dam is 42 feet.

Reports From Other Cties.

SIDNEY, O., March 21.—The Miami river is still rising here, and residents here and at Piqua are moving from low level houses with their household goods.

MARYSVILLE, O., March 21—Union county streams are over their banks and at higher stage than any time since 1913. City streets are flooded and basements are under water.

MANSFIELD, O., March 21.—Wholesale houses and factories in the northern section of the town are under water here today as the result of the overflowing of Toby's creek. Many small bridges south of here were reported washed away early today.

Cleveland Cellars Flooded.

CLEVELAND, O., March 21.—Heavy rains over the week-end have caused much damage to property here. Cellars were flooded in various parts of the city and traffic on many streets was blocked by overflowing of storm sewers.

Fireman Frank G. Conrad had a narrow escape from drowning when he was swept into a deep hole which had been caused by a broken water main. He was rescued by other firemen who were helping him in an effort to fill the hole.

The home of W. J. Foster in Euclid village was reported in danger of falling into the lake as steady rain had washed away the high bank supporting the house.

Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad officials here reported a service tie-up on account of tracks being under water near White House crossing.

Maumee River Overflowing.

TOLEDO, March 21.—With the first day of spring here, northwestern Ohio was threatened with a flood.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 21.—The industrial stocks and the specialties were under moderate selling pressure in early trading today, and the trend of prices was distinctly downward.

Special weakness was apparent in the stocks which yielded most readily to bearish selling in the latter part of last week. Houston Oil lost an additional eight points and Warner Brothers at 24 recorded a total shrinkage of about 15 points from last week's high.

Lackawanna carried its new movement forward to above 167, but the railroad stocks as a whole were dull and quiet. Stocks of the coal carriers reflected the prospect of a suspension in the bituminous coal mines next Friday. Investment buying of the rail shares was temporarily held up while the reaction was in progress.

Industrial reports over the week end were favorable, though many of the prominent companies are continuously complaining about the difficulty of making profits commensurate with their increasing volume of business. Price declines in oil, sugar and other products have added to the troubles of many corporations since the turn of the year.

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS PREPARE FOR LONG STRUGGLE

Tie-up Expected to Last at Least Four Months.

FIGHT ON UNION

Operators Make No Move to Avert Shutdown.

PITTSBURGH, March 21. — Pennsylvania soft coal miners and mine owners are gathering here today to prepare for a bitter struggle.

All mining operations in the unionized soft coal fields of the country will cease April 1. Indications are the tie-up will last at least four months. There are strong reasons for believing it may last much longer.

On April 1, 300,000 miners will cease work. In four months, their loss in wages will be $150,000,000. The loss to business will be greater than this.

It is more than a wage dispute. It is a fight on the part of powerful operators to smash or at least cripple the United Mine Workers of America. On the other hand the union hopes to regain its complete domination of the coal industry, weakened in recent years.

Large Stocks of Coal.

Theoretically, the general business welfare of the country should not suffer until early winter. The stocks of coal above ground are by far the largest in history, and will last through the autumn. If history repeats itself, however, greedy speculators will start prices skyrocketing within a few weeks and industries, either caught unprepared, or panicky, will pay through the nose.

Neither side has any definite plan to avert the shutdown. On the contrary, each is making preparations for long, enforced idleness.

The present wage contract, negotiated at Jacksonville in 1924, expires at midnight March 31. In the absence of a new working agreement the union miners must automatically cease work. Neither side believes that between now and April 1, a new contract can be made for the central competitive field.

Anthracite Not Affected.

The central field, composed of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, is the heart of the bituminous industry. It determines the wages for all other fields and produces more than 45 per cent. of the nation's soft coal.

This controversy does not affect the anthracite industry as it is working under a five-year contract made in 1926. Anthracite is a domestic fuel and is not suitable to industrial use. American industry, the railroads, public utilities and manufacturing establishments, depend almost entirely upon bituminous coal. Of all the coal produced in America, 95 per cent, is bituminous.

There will be 90,000,000 tons of coal above ground on April 1. This great reserve, plus the tonnage to be produced in the non-union and outlying fields, will care amply for the public's need for several months.

If the union's grip is broken in Pennsylvania, operators in other states will be emboldened to break with the union.

Big Battle Looms.

Therefore the big battle is in Pennsylvania. This is recognized by both sides. The miners are massing their heaviest artillery in this state. The operators are girding for a bitter conflict, and are prepared to spend vast sums to operate on a non-union basis.

Operators of union mines in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio will close down their mines to await the outcome of the Pennsylvania fight.

Union operators contend they cannot exist under the present $7.50 a day basic wage contract, which the mine workers want to renew. Operators say the unionized industry generally has lost vast sums since 1924, and is losing business steadily to the non-union fields. As a remedy for this situation, the operators at the recent Miami joint conference proposed the adoption of a competitive wage scale to be based upon the wages paid in the non-union fields. The scale would have been determined by a joint commission.

Miners said this plan would have cut wages $2.50 a day. They promptly rejected the operators' proposal and the conference adjourned without agreement. It is not likely to be reconvened as neither side is willing to yield at this time. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, says he will never accept a wage reduction.

90 Young Men Hear Pittsburgh Editor At Afternoon Club

Ninety young men, between the ages of 16 and 26 years, attended yesterday's meeting of the Sunday Afternoon club, held in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. The speaker was Charles F. Gilmore, managing editor of the Pittsburgh Press.

Two selections, "Sailor's Chorus" and "Somebody's Calling My Name," were rendered by the Apollo male quartet of the First Presbyterian church.

Gilmore emphasized tact in dealing with others for "in getting others to do things willingly produces the right spirit and insures success."

American Fliers And DePinedo Will Meet in Para Today

RIO JANEIRO, March 21— Two groups of venturesome fliers may meet in Para today.

The United States army good will fliers hopped off from port Natal early today for Para.

A report from Manaos, as yet unconfirmed, states that Commander Francesco De Pinedo, the Italian ace who is making a quadri-continental flight, hopped off from Manaos to fly down the Amazon to Para.

Later reports confirmed that Commander De Pinedo had left Manaos to fly down the Amazon river to Para, planning to make one stop enroute to take on fuel. He plans to reach Para at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

There are conflicting reports regarding Major Sarmento Beires, the Portuguese round-the-world fliers. One unconfirmed report is that he has a broken propellor and cannot continue his flight. tOher reports state, however, that his troubles are not important and that the flight will continue.

TWO MEN HELD ON LARCENY COUNT

William Tucker and Lawrence Lemmell will be given hearings before Municipal Judge Hanley this afternoon upon charges of larceny filed upon information of Raymond Jackson, Fourth street plumber.

They are alleged to have entered Jackson's shop Saturday afternoon upon the pretext of purchasing pipe. While Jackson was in the rear of the shop, he claimed, they opened the cash register and took six $1 bills and one $5 bill.

Chief of Police McDermott arrested the two men this morning.

Laird Smith, East End, charged with speeding upon Pennsylvania avenue, was fined $1 and costs. He was arrested by Patrolman Smith, Saturday night.

CORDWIN ARNOLD ROTARY SPEAKER

Cordwin Arnold, Wellsville insurance dealer, will be chairman of the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow, when directors will be elected.

Nominees for the seven places on the board are: Malcolm Thompson, William H. Vodrey, Charles R. Boyce, Edward L. Carsen, Martin T. Abbott, Albert E. Frosch, James S. mist, failed to notice the three pedestrians until he was almost upon them. The woman was struck by the right front fender of the car, the machine passing over her body. Davis, who was walking beside his wife, was knocked to the road but was not hurt.

Driver Stops Car.

Bevan stopped the car, he claimed, within about 30 feet. James Boyd, residing near Calcutta, who was in the Datwyler restaurant near Stop 55, at the time of the accident, placed Mrs. Davis into his automobile and rushed her to the hospital. Bevan followed the Boyd car to the hospital and later went to Chester where he reported the accident to Undertaker George Arner, Arner, upon Bevan's request, notified the East Liverpool police.

Body of the victim was removed to the W. W. Warrick undertaking establishment at Clarkson Sunday, and will be brought to her home near Stop 55 today.

Bevan, who resides near Superior avenue and 80th street, Cleveland, was enroute to attend the funeral of Charles Souers, former East Liverpool man, who died in Cleveland last week. Services were held at the Arner funeral home this afternoon.

Mother of Two Children.

Mrs. Davis was born in Wilmington, Del., but has resided with her father, near Signal, for many years. She was married on December 24, 1923. Mr. and Mrs. Davis moved to the Stop 55 district this winter, when Davis was appointed steward at the new country club.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, Harry, Jr., 3, and Roland, 1. The children were at home with their grandmother, Mrs. Emmett Davis, at the time of the accident. Her father, one brother and one sister reside near Signal.

Funeral services will be held in the Clarkson Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Clarkson cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy manifested during the recent bereavement of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Margaret Moore. Especially do we thank Rev. McKay and singers, the employes of the Review-Tribune and all those who so kindly donated their cars, floral and spiritual offerings.

MOTOR BOATING EDITOR SLAIN IN NEW YORK

Police Baffled by Brutal Murder in Victim's Home.

THROAT BOUND

Detectives Question Man Arrested in Syracuse.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder confessed today, according to Police Inspector Coughlin, that she and Henry Judd Gray, a salesman, plotted to kill her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," and that Gray did the actual slaying.

Inspector Coughlin quoted the pretty widow as saying the murder was committed because she had been "madly in love" with the salesman for two and a half years.

Gray who is 31 and married, has been arrested in Syracuse. His home is in East Orange, N. J. He denies al knowledge of the crime.

Mrs. Snyder who is also 31, is not under arrest as yet, but will be charged with some degree of homicide, according to District Attorney Newcombe of Queens. She collapsed in the district attorney's office in Long Island City after being questioned for over 24 hours and was put under the care of a physician.

Blunt Instrument Used.

Snyder was killed by a blow over the head with a blunt instrument while he slept, and a garrot of picture wire was twisted tightly around his neck. A heavy iron pinch bar such as is used in opening packing boxes was found in Gray's hotel room in Syracuse. Police also found there a pair of rubber gloves.

He went to bed immediately. Mrs. Snyder also retired in her own room. Gray, the confession says, had gained entrance to the house while the Snyders were at the party, and was hidden in some room when they returned.

After Snyder had fallen asleep, Mrs. Snyder got up and joined Gray. The saleman said, according to Coughlin: "There no time like the present."

Mrs. Snyder's story continues that Gray then went upstairs and struck her husband over the head with a blunt instrument. Gray also bound him with picture cord.

Mrs. Snyder then permitted her hands and feet to be tied and Gray carried her to her room and placed her on her bed, where she remained for five hours. It was about 8 o'clock Sunday morning when she finally gave the alarm, first calling her daughter, Lorraine, 9, who discovered her father slain.

NEW YORK, March 21—With little more to work on than an hysterical recital by Mrs. Ruth Snyder of the events leading to her husband's murder, in which she told of being knocked down, bound and gagged by a "tall man with a black moustache, who speaks broken English," police today were attempting to unravel the mystery of the murder iof Albert Snyder, art editor of the magazine, "Motor Boating."

Struck on Head.

Snyder was found yesterday morning on his bed in his home, in Queens, his throat tightly bound with picture wire and his hands bound behind his back with the same material. Death, the medical examiner reported, had been due to blows on the head by some blunt instrument, although the wire would have caused death if the blows had not.

Invaders Take Shanghai

ish, one Portuguese and one German subject, who were driving automobiles in the international settlement.

Outside of Shanghai similar chaos prevails. Chang Chow is reported to have fallen to the Cantonese, thus cutting the Shanghai-Nanking railroad, and barring the retreat of the northerners in Shanghai.

Although calm is reported everywhere in the international settlement, there is great tensity and fears are expressed that either the retreating Northerners or the guerilla sympathizers of the Cantonese may burst forth.

Strike Hampers Normal Life.

The general strike which was called upon the entry of the Cantonese into Shanghai has already seriously hampered normal life, and with 100,000 workers reported idle there may be difficulty in maintaining public services.

Fengtien Troops Advance.

PEKIN, March 21.—The Fengtien march through Honan continues and announcement was made today that the Kuh Sien arsenal has been captured.

1,500 Marines Land.

WASHINGTON, March 21 --Fifteen hundred U. S. marines have been landed in Shanghai, Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, reported to the navy department this morning.

Americans in Nanking Safe.

PEKIN, March 21.—Nanking is not menaced by the Cantonese now and all Americans there are safe, according to a report to the American legation here today.

Communists Control Hankow.

LONDON, March 21. — Communist elements in the Kuomintang have successfully carried out a coup d'etat and won complete control of Hankow, following a violent quarrel with the more conservative factions of the Nationalist forces, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai.

First Installment

river and on Wednesdays and Saturdays great gay liners working out and heading down the bay toward England and Frace and Italy. Sometimes a gray battleship or a squadron of destroyers steamed by, and she thought with a timid little thrill of the sailors and wondered adventurously if it could be true that they had sweethearts in every port. She knew that they danced on those ships and kept goats for pets.

One afternoon shortly before five o'clock, Lucille Overman came in to see her old friends in the mailing room. Though some of the girls said afterward that she came to show her clothes. She wore a long cape of the sort labeled in the Sunday advertisements Poiret twill, with a collar of gray fur and a smart little hat. The cape was navy blue, lined with gray crepe de chine. The dress within it was of blue Canton crepe embroidered boldly with gold thread; very scanty and short. The stockings were of flesh-colored silk. Hattie had dreamed of such costumes. Though she could never wear flesh-colored silk stockings. "It wouldn't be me," she thought wistfully.

Lucille was tall and slender, with blue-black hair and cool gray-blue eyes. She had taken Hattie up in those first heart-breaking days in the mailing room; told her how to get speed in folding the wrappers and talked shrewdly during crowded lunch hours of what she called shop politics. Not unnaturally the forlorn little heart of the beginner had opened at this touch of what she felt to be friendship.

Lucille liked to talk of the mysterious life of the great city, and of herself as a factor in it. She knew all the foremen, and even certain of the office force, and in an expensive hour whispered of automobile rides with Mr. Watkins, the mechanical superintendent, who was known to have a family up in Mount Vernon. She said she really had to confide in someone, and Hattie experienced pride in being that one. Vicariously the girl lived through Lucille's rather wild doings, listening wide-eyed as to a new series of Arabian Nights entertainments. Lucille and two of the stenographers had a secret arrangement with one f the elevator moys in the Hanscombe building by which the boy now and then made them known to prosperous young business men who had good cars. It was the boy's business, she explained, to pick real ones. She'd had enough of pikers. Once when both the stenographers had other dates, she urged Hattie to make the fourth on an evening ride with two swell men. Hattie, frightened and inarticulate, refused, but had thought much about it since. . . . Then, after Lucille lost her job, Greba Zorn, the hunchback, burst out about her in a curiously suppressed storm of bitter anger. This was in Child's, one noon, with people crowded close about the white atble eating hurriedly and with dishes and tray clattering noisily. Greba said that Lucille had cultivated Hattie only as a foil. She always had to have a simple-minded, plain little girl for a friend, one who wasn't talkative and could be led along. Hattie defended her, of course, hotly. And Greba's voice trembled with passion. It amounted to a quarrel. . . . It hurt, deeply.

And now Hattie found herself walking out of the building by Lucille's side, as of old, walking somewhat primly in her ready-made black dress. Her shoes, fortunately, were new; the only new things she owned at the moment. And her spirit clung to them.

"Let's go over town for supper," said Lucille.

"I've got to go home," Hattie mumbled.

"Oh, come along. I haven't seen you for ages. And there's a lot to tell."

"What are you doing dow?" asked Hattie, tempted and evading the issue.

"Me? Oh, I supposed you knew. I'm working in the pictures."

Hattie's big eyes glanced up, then down. "Oh!" she breathed, softly. Then, "You don't mean you're an actress?"

"Surest thing you know!" Lucille chuckled. "I've got to be up at the studio at seven-thirty tonight for a test. My first real part. I've been doing extra work, and bits. But even that isn't so bady. You get seven dollars a day, and up, when you work. I'm cultivating one of the assistant directors. Awfully nice fellow. Have to be careful, because his girl is working up there now in the big Armand de Brissac picture. There's the man for you—de Brissac! Temperament? Whew!"

Hattie's difficulty was to take all this amazing news at one time into an inelastic brain. The name of Armand de Brissac was to her one of the greatest names in the world. For a long, long time—two or three years—she had seen it displayed in enormous type on the bilboards. She knew his picture—keen, glittering eyes, heavy brows, firm mouth, manly chin. A great man. No name ever appeared in the advertisments in such huge type. They put Shakespeare in tiny letters down under it when he made the wonderful picture of The Tempest that cost two million dollars.

"Tell you what," Lucille was saying now, "you come on up with me and watch them make the test."

"Oh, I couldn't."

"Call up and tell your folks the truth about it. It's all right. The studio's awfully business-like and nice—just like the shop."

"We haven't got any telephone."

"Oh, come along! You can explain it easy enough. It's not as if you had to risk getting caught in a fib."

"I don't see how I . . . ."

But they were walking toward child's.

AARON SAPIRO DRAWS BLOOD IN LIBEL SUIT

So-called "Wheat King" Scores Against Ford.

Documentary Evidence Placed in Detroit Trial Record.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, March 21.—Aaron Sapiro, so-called "Wheat King," drew blood today in his million-dollar libel suit against Henry Ford.

The wheat king scored impressivly when he placed in the record documentary evidence showing that the Ford crusade against the Sapiro co-operatives originated as a campaign against the Jews. This was the chief contention of Sapiro in his libel suit.

The evidence consisted of a letter written by H. W. Roland, an executive for Ford's Dearborn Independent, to Harry H. Dunn, who investigated the co-operative movement for the auto king and later wrote most of the articles attacking Sapiro. The letter showed that Dunn was originally ordered to investigate "the Jewish boys who are putting the works on the farmers."

It showed that the activities of Bernard M. Baruch, New York capitalist, among the farmers had actually brought about the investigation which led to the articles.

Ford's attorneys sought to block all testimony on the letter, which came into the trial while William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, was on the witness stand.

River Near Flood Stage

ed little relief from the flood conditions now being experienced in both the southern and the northern watersheds of the state.

The Scioto river registered 12 feet 3 inches at 8 a. m. here today, the highest mark since 1921. The Olentangy went over its banks during the night, flooding the river road with a foot of water. Farms on the Scioto trail, south of here, were a sea of water, and the river more than a mile wide at many points.

North of Columbus, at Bucyrus and Galion, the state highway was closed because of floods, necessitating several deturs.

electric interurban cars have stopped ccssing the Olentangy bridge at Prospect, south of Marion.

Car Tracks Inundated.

On the Scioto river at Newmans, south of Marion, the interurban tracks were under water, and the Scioto power station was threatened. Marion and surrounding town were in danger of losing all electric power should the rise continue.

The Sandusky river is over flood stage as far south as Tiffin and upper Sandusky.

Coshocton on the Muskingum river is suffering from high waters for the second time this year, and Zanesville is menaced by both the Licking and the Muskingum rivers.

At Athens the Hocking river is past flood stage. The Tuscarawas is gradually backing its waters to a dangerous stage in Dover and New Philadelphia. Lowlands of the Ohio river are feeling the encroaching water though the stage at no reported points is as yet considered dangerous.

The stage at Cincinnati is 39.7 feet with a flood stage of 55 feet. Parkersburg registered 24.5 feet this morning.

Mahoning River at Flood Stage.

YOUNGSTOWN, March 21.—The Mahoning river here is at flood stage today and rising steadily at the rate of two inches an hour. At 8 a. m., the river was eight and five tenths feet above normal.

Part of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks between Youngstown and Girard are under six inches of water, slowing traffic.

Highway traffic is also impeded in all directions.

Mosquito creek, Warren, is overflowing, inundating the lowlands.

Other Streams Swollen.

ST. MARYS, O., March 21.—Banks of Lake St. Mary are intact despite a 16-inch rise in the past day. The water level is now equal to that of 1913 though canal officers do not anticipate danger from the lake.

The high water has caused much damage to the Miami and Erie canal in this vicinity, and workmen are working day and night to prevent washouts on the railroad right of ways.

Memorial high school is closed today because of a flooded basement.

DAYTON, O., March 21.—The Miami river here today passed the 11.5 mark, having risen from a three foot stage in the past 48 hours. No danger is felt as the five conservancy dams are capable of storing up flood waters.

The water behind Lockington dam is 42 feet.

Reports From Other Cties.

SIDNEY, O., March 21.—The Miami river is still rising here, and residents here and at Piqua are moving from low level houses with their household goods.

MARYSVILLE, O., March 21—Union county streams are over their banks and at higher stage than any time since 1913. City streets are flooded and basements are under water.

MANSFIELD, O., March 21.—Wholesale houses and factories in the northern section of the town are under water here today as the result of the overflowing of Toby's creek. Many small bridges south of here were reported washed away early today.

Cleveland Cellars Flooded.

CLEVELAND, O., March 21.—Heavy rains over the week-end have caused much damage to property here. Cellars were flooded in various parts of the city and traffic on many streets was blocked by overflowing of storm sewers.

Fireman Frank G. Conrad had a narrow escape from drowning when he was swept into a deep hole which had been caused by a broken water main. He was rescued by other firemen who were helping him in an effort to fill the hole.

The home of W. J. Foster in Euclid village was reported in danger of falling into the lake as steady rain had washed away the high bank supporting the house.

Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad officials here reported a service tie-up on account of tracks being under water near White House crossing.

Maumee River Overflowing.

TOLEDO, March 21.—With the first day of spring here, northwestern Ohio was threatened with a flood.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 21.—The industrial stocks and the specialties were under moderate selling pressure in early trading today, and the trend of prices was distinctly downward.

Special weakness was apparent in the stocks which yielded most readily to bearish selling in the latter part of last week. Houston Oil lost an additional eight points and Warner Brothers at 24 recorded a total shrinkage of about 15 points from last week's high.

Lackawanna carried its new movement forward to above 167, but the railroad stocks as a whole were dull and quiet. Stocks of the coal carriers reflected the prospect of a suspension in the bituminous coal mines next Friday. Investment buying of the rail shares was temporarily held up while the reaction was in progress.

Industrial reports over the week end were favorable, though many of the prominent companies are continuously complaining about the difficulty of making profits commensurate with their increasing volume of business. Price declines in oil, sugar and other products have added to the troubles of many corporations since the turn of the year.

One Thin Woman Gained 15 Pounds In Five Weeks

Men and women, weak, thin and miserable, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in 30 days any druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

But be sure and demand McCoy's and get the original—rich in health and strength building vitamines.

Q. What part of the land area of the world does the British Empire cover? B. C.

A. According to the most recent estimates, the British Empire covers approximately one-quarter of the world's habitable land area. This excludes the Arctic region. The British Empire comprises 13,406,103 square miles.

Q. In playing Five Hundred, if a player gets the bid at No Trump, and his partner has the Joker, must he play it when he can not follow suit? A. A. D.

A. He may discard if he chooses.

Q. Are all insects killed with the same expedition by the use of carbon disulfide? D. M. P.

A. A great variation has been found in the resistance of different species of insects to carbon disulfide fumigation. In a saturated atmosphere of disulfide at about 90 degrees F., a bumblebee will die in a few seconds, while the saw-toothed grain beetle will live two hours.

Q. Please state where the smithy was that is mentioned in Longfellow's poem. C. D. N.

A. Ernest Longfellow in his book, "Random Memories," says: "A short time ago I saw in an English newspaper that the village smithy was in a certain English village that was named; as a matter of fact, as everybody knows, it was on Brattle street, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Q. Who said "We must hang together or assuredly we shall all hang separately?" G. J. R.

A. Benjamin Franklin thus expressed himself to John Hancock at the signing of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776.

Q. What is the best kind of candy thermometer to use? O. P.

A. A thermometer protection with a metal case is to be preferred for making candy. Such thermometers usually come in copper cases and are of varying lengths. For home candy making use a small thermometer about nine inches long, costing about $1.50; will be found very efficient.

Q. What is the meaning of the famous painting "The Huguenot." O. W. S.

A. Briefly, the explanation of the painting called "The Huguenot" is as follows: By order of the Duc de Guise, issued before St. Bartholomew's day "all good Catholics" were enjoined to wear a white scarf as a distinguishing badge. The young woman pleads with her lover as she strives to fasten the symbolic white scarf. The lover will die in the morning. As one writer suggests, the picture is reminiscent of the famous line, "I could not love thee, dear, so much, loved I not honour more."

Q. Have all crystals, when unmolested, a definite number of faces? V. M.

A. Every crystal has a definite molecular structure and its outward form is bounded by a number of faces resulting from the regular arrangement of the particles of the substance which is undergoing solidification. Although the faces often develop unequally, the angles between them remain constant.

Q. Did Phi Beta Kappa always admit women? L. M.

A. This was obviously not intended by the founders but fidelity to the test of scholarship required it. Women were first admitted by the Alpha of Vermont in 1875.

German Press Law Passed by Reichstag Gives Editors Relief

BERLIN.—Publishers and editors of newspapers and periodicals can no longer be forced to testify in court regarding the author of a publication against which the state prosecutor demands an action, according to a new paragraph in the German Press Law, which has been accepted by the Reichstag recently. The editor responsible for the publication might be punished, as heretofore, but the name of the author of the publication will remain a secret, if the defendant can help it.

It is generally expected that this new law will contribute to strengthen the independence and freedom of the press and protect editors from pressure exerted on them by courts.

the fatalities that occur during the years from 5 to 9. That is the problem of the home.

Studies and surveys of the locations of child accidents show that the dangers lie just beyond the congested business districts in highly congested residential districts where yards are the exception. Children will play, and if they have no yards and no community playgrounds they will take to the sidewalks and streets.

Those playing on sidewalks are in even greater danger than those in the street, for motorists can see the latter and govern themselves accordingly. It is the child who darts from the sidewalk into the street in front of a passing car that most often gets injured or killed.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S. S. S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S. S. S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me" Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Strong Prelim Card Planned For Series

Midland High and Bryan Clothiers to Battle in Connection With Elks-Midland Games.

THE East Liverpool-Midland basketball series which is scheduled to get under way with the first game here on Wednesday night, is attractive enough in itself to bring district fans out in droves, but the event has been enhanced to an ever greater extent as a result of a novel preliminary game series arranged by Managers Adam and Kissinger.

In other words, the basketball moguls will really provide two series for the price of one and the main bouters, it appears, will have to step some to take the play away from the prelim lads.

The preliminary foes will be the Midland high school five and the Bryan Clothiers, of East Liverpool.

The Clothiers will have such performers as Hamilton, McKeever and Wildblood as forwards; Elmer English, center; and Dick Larkins and Franner McConville as guards, the outfit that defeated the Elks Saturday night with the lodgemen using three reserve players.

Coaches Lomond and Wuschinski, in charge of athletics at Midland high, are both star performers with the Midland Collegians who will oppose the Elks in the main performances.

The Elks will have their regular roster on the floor for the three games, with Lippe and Shupe at the forwards, Wilde at center, and Anderson and McConville at guards, with Tommy Pusey available for duty either at a forward or a guard, Joe Canne at center or forward, and Carl Wilson and Kenneth Clark for forwards.

ALTMANS LOSE TO BEARS, 32-28

The Bears defeated the Altmans, 32 to 28, in a fast contest here Saturday afternoon. The Altmans led for two periods but the Bears came through strong in the final periods to win. J Davis, Bittner and O'Shea starred for the winners while Tobin and Wise performed well for the Altmans.

The Bears have won 12 out of 15 games this season.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The swing for the cut-shot approach should be made, in the back swing, about as you would swing back for a stiff-arm shot. But there is this difference. For the stiff-arm shot your grip is rather firm and tight, and especially so in the left hand. For the cut-shot loosen up the grip, and particularly with the left hand. The club should be held as lightly as you can hold it without having it turn in your grip as the blade strikes the turf. You may be certain that the lighter the grip, while you still hold and control the club, the greater will be your degree of back spin. The action is a sort of flicking of the ball. Still, the ball must be hit accurately, so the grip must not be so wholly loose that you do not maintain mastery of the club. And hold the head still, also your body.

STAGE BOXING FINALS TONIGHT

CINCINNATI, March 21.—The semi-finals, and finals, of the A. A. U. junior boxing championship tourney were to be battled out here tonight, with 32 youthful amateur championship aspirants left to fight it out.

Of the 32 who successfully defended themselves in Saturday night's preliminaries, eight hailed from New York, while St. Louis had six of its original team of eight left in the field.

Philadelphia, Cleveland, Grand Rapids, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Boston, and Chapel Hill, N. C., all were conceded a chance to grab a few of the eight championships that were to be handed out tonight, but the "insiders" predicted that the New York boys would annex the majority of the bouts.

Dodgers Play Golf.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 21.—The Brooklyn Dodgers returned to the business of baseball today after a brief fling on the links, the feature of the annual Al Lang dinner yesterday. "Jigger" Statz, Brooklyn outfielder, won in the players' division hands down, and Wilbert Robinson and Clark Griffith shared honors in the managerial class.

BANKERS DEFEND PIN LAURELS

Bankers of the Liberty duckpin league will defend their first place honors this evening when they clash with the Smith News five. By winning three games, the News quint can tie up the race again.

Turk-Nash and Chryslers play tomorrow night and Altmans and Roselawns Friday.

The second half of the season will close next week, followed by the play-off series between the Turk-Nash team, winner of the first half and the victor of the wind-up period.

Lack Punch At Plate; Defensively Weak At Several Positions

Dazzy Vance Heads Hurling Corps, Along With Jess Barnes and Bill Doak; Meusel Probably Will Start Season in Left Field.

By Davis J. Walsh.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 21.—If Edward Payson Weston had had feet but no legs, he might have been able to walk across the continent provided he started with Lincoln's administration and forgot to stop. In other words, the worthy Mr. Weston would be going nowhere with great haste and so is the Brooklyn club.

It has the feet of a ball club in its pitchers but W. Rotund Robinson neglected to provide the other and wholly necessary portions of its anatomy and, in consequence, the thing can slide but can't climb. Fortunately, the Phillies can slide faster, further and funnier, so the Dodgers probably will escape the ignominy of the cellar.

Robinson always has had pitchers but, otherwise, there hasn't been a real good ball player developed by the Brooklyn club in ten years.

Dazzy Vance, of course, heads the array of pitchers. Then there are Jess Barnes, ex-Giant and ex-Brave; Bill Doak, the salivary gland, back again after a year with the sub-divisions; Bob McGraw, Doug McWeeney, Jess Petty and Rube Ehrhardt. All were regulars last year and, with one or two additions will constitute the varsity staff. However, Big Jim Elliott, who won 27 and lost 20 with Seattle last year, is a certain regular. He seems to be one of those rarities, a lef hander who has both control and the ability to stand up under work. It is not difficult to see how Elliott pitched 45 complete games in the coast league, for his delivery is as effortless as the glide of a swan. Elliott simply can't miss.

Gets More Pitchers.

Still, Mr. Robinson was taking no chances, so he brought down Roy Gerdinier and Clarence Griffin for another trial, recalled Guy Cantrell from Jersey City, contrived to have the curse taken off the suspension of Norman Plitt for playing outlaw baseball and also signed Clark Wilson and Ed Strelecki.

The team, in brief, is topheavy with pitchers and, in fact, battery candidates in general.

It had three fair catchers last year in Charles Hargreaves, George O'Neill and Hank Deberry, who must be carried to work with Vance. They obviously weren't enough, so Robbie traded Grimes away for "Butch" Henline, of the Phillies.

Meantime, the infield was permitted to stand pretty much, as is, and it was frightful to behold in 1926. In place of Chick Fewster at second base, Jay Partridge was culled from Memphis and seems to be an improvement on his predecessor. Partridge, a native of Mount Ville, Ga., hasn't hit much to date and doesn't look as though he will. But he is aggressive, fast and has what they call a "double play arm," and probably will make the riffle.

Fewster and Bill Rhiel, up from Greenville, via Youngstown, Ohio, are the remaining second basemen in camp and the former is certain to be carried for he can play good ball for a week or two at a time.

Babe Herman is playing first base with marked indifference but he has no one to beat out of the job, with the possible exception of Del Bissonette, back again from Jersey City. The same club sent "Chuck" Corgan back for another trial at shortstop but Johnny Butler's great steadiness will get him the nod there.

Meusel in Outfield.

Bobby Barrett, ex-Cub, is up from Memphis to play third base but the tip is that Bill Marriott will appear at the bag again this year. Jerry Standaert will be carried for another season because of his hitting, the club having exactly none.

Another change from the original line up selected probably will be made in left field. Arnold Statz is back from Los Angeles to give the league another whirl but isn't hitting, so "Irish" Meusel probably will get the job. Max Carey, far from the man he was in many respects, will play center field, and Harvey "Gink" Hendrick, former Yank, will be the right fielder. "Gink" hit .360 in New Orleans last year and looks the part.

In addition, Gus Felix still is around for no particular reason. So is Merwin Jacobson, to say nothing of Oscar Roettger, former Yankee pitcher who has been converted into an outfielder without causing undue excitement. Ernie Neitzski, up from Nashville and Birmingham, looks like a good man but may be a year away from proving it.

Not much of a club, outside of its pitching, no real punch at the plate, not too much speed and weak defensively in several important positions.

Bantams at Work.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Bud Taylor, bantamweight champion, and Tony Canzoneri, New York challenger, began serious training today for their title bout at the Coliseum Saturday night.

Canzoneri, it is said, may have trouble in getting down to the 118 pound weight limit. Taylor is already in fine condition. Three fights within a month have kept the champion in the pink.

Four-game Exhibition.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, March 21—Ray Schalk and his White Sox family were here today for their four-game exhibition series against the local Texas league club. The Sox were unable to play the third game of their series with the Cats at Forth Worth yesterday on account of rain.

Housewives of Penang, in the Straits Settlements, are becoming converted to the use of electrical refrigerators and ranges, tropics.

Columbiana Lad To Lead Mt. Union

ALLIANCE, O., March 17.—Harold A. Burkle, sophomore center on the Mount Union college basketball team this year, has been elected captain of the 1927-28 quintet.

Burkle hails from Columbiana where he played three years as forward on the high school team. At Mount he has been used at the pivot position to fill the place left vacant by "Lefty" Miller, center on the Purple's three Ohio Conference championship teams.

McVey To Referee K.-C. Boxing Bouts

Five Mitt Exhibitions on Tuesday's Card.

Oscar McVey, it was announced today, will be the referee in boxing bouts which will feature the open meeting and smoker to be held in the Ingram building, Diamond, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening by Carroll council, No. 509, Knights of Columbus.

Five ring bouts, including two by Boy Scouts, will be included in the card on which appear Harry Heckathorne, Kid Woods, Ike Jones, Earl Miller, Joseph A. McKenna and Paul (Shuffle) Callahan.

Interspersing the boxing will be vocal solos by Dr. R. R. Bode, E. A. Purton and John Coleman, specialties by George H. White and other features.

The affair is for Knights of Columbus and their friends.

Two Holes In One

T. Tanaka, a Japanese golfer, is believed to have created a world's record by holing his tee shot twice in one shot on the fifth and sixteenth holes of the "Langara" golf course at Vancouver, British Columbia.

Giants Take it Easy.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 21.—Light workouts were the order of the day for the New York Giants, who face but one scheduled game between now and Saturday, that with the Jacksonville club of the Southeastern league on Wednesday. The Philadelphia Athletics through the batting of Ty Cobb and the pitching of Jack Quinn, beat the Giants, 2 to 1, yesterday.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

JUDGING from a study of the careers of the men now leading the major league clubs in the south the catcher's box is the best place from which to learn baseball. No less than six of the managers of the two big time circuits were or are catchers.

Were Very Popular Winter Choices

Incidentally four of the men selected over the past winter to replace deposed managers, were called from the ranks of the masked players.

Ray Schalk, new White Sox boss, is still doing catching duty for the Chicagoans and will do his share next season. Bob O'Farrell, successor to Rogers Hornsby as manager of the St Louis Cardinals, was selected last year as the most valuable player to his team in the National league, because of his services behind the plate and his general labors with the club.

Dan Howley, raised from the minors to pilot the St. Louis Browns, was a backstop in his day and Bill Carrigan won his spurs as a manager while also showing the way as a catcher with the Boston Red Sox in the old halcyon days.

Only One From the Outfield.

As for the other bosses—

Jack McAllister, new pilot of the Indians, was an outfielder.

Mariarty, new Tiger manager was an infielder with the Tigers.

Stanley Harris is second basing as usual for the Washington Senators.

Miller Huggins of the Yanks was an infielder.

Stuffy McInnis, Philly boss, was Connie Mack's star first baseman years ago.

Dave Bancroft, Braves' pilot, is a shortstop.

Donnie Bush, Pirate leader, shortstopped for the Tigers.

John McGraw was an infielder with the famous Orioles.

Joe McCarthy, Cub pilot was an infielder.

Athletics Have Pilot Quartet.

Speaking of managers, the Athletics could present a novelty act of managers between innings if they cared to—and introduce no less an assemblage than—

Ty Cobb, former manager of the Tigers.

Eddie Collins, former pilot of the White Sox.

Kid Gleason, also an ex-manager of the White Sox.

Zack Wheat, manager at times of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cenrtainly Connie Mack cannot wait for strategy and brain work on his club the coming campaign. If the legs hold out for Messrs. Cobb, Collins and Wheat so that they can stay in the game and go at top speed the long geared leader should be sitting pretty.

Baptists Defeat Lutherans, 48-27

Sunday School Cage Loop Rivals Stage Fast Contest.

In the preliminary in the Elks High school game Saturday the Baptists waylaid the Lutherans by the score of 48 to 27. The Baptists led from the start and outclassed the Lutherans all the way. Mackey, Hall and Kittridge were the main works for the Baptists, while Barlow, Brown and Mackall played well for the Lutherans.

Referee—Lorah.

The oldest manager in service in the American league won his baseball spurs as a catcher. He is Connie Mack. And Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers was a backstop in the old Baltimore Oriole days.

Apparently the big mask and the blur of the batter's bat don't hinder the wide awake catcher who wants to learn the ins and outs, as well as the balls and strikes of baseball.

Hard Practice for Tribe.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 21.—The Cleveland Indians will devote most of this week to hard practice in games between the regulars and yanigans. Only two more exhibition games are scheduled before the tribe leaves here, one with the world champion St. Louis Cards and the other with the Columbus American association team.

The Clevelanders are due to leave Lakeland within ten days.

Harris Swings Axe.

TAMPA, Fla., March 21.—Bucky Harris has begun to swing the axe. It was announced today that "Curley" Ogden, who has been up to the majors for several seasons now, will be sent back to the minors. It had been predicted Ogden would gain a regular piching berth with the Nats this year. The Senators went to Avon park today to meet the champion Cardinals.

Beat Elks By Margin of Three Field Goals; Wilson, English Star

Both Squads Play Strong Defensive Games; Contest to Help School Team Buy Sweaters.

With Center English and Guards McConville and Larkins leading the scoring attack, by way of diversion from the customary method of making points the forwards getting just three for the night's work, High school passers Saturday night rolled up three more field goals than the Elks club and finished on the big end of the count in a benefit clash for the schoolboys. The score was 37 to 31.

Center "Elmo" English had a big night. Playing with all his customary zip and dash, English ran through the lodge ranks for seven field goals.

But individual scoring honors were carried off by Carl Wilson, former high school performer, who sank seven field goals for the Antlers and two fouls for a total of 16 points, one better than English.

Had Wilson's comrades come through with a few extra buckets in the same manner that the high school lads supported their scoring star, Wilson's work might not have been in vain.

The Elks lacked the services of Nate Lippe and Dave Shupe, regular forwards, and Ray Wilde, center.

Lippe wrenched a careless knee in a game last week, Wilde was called out of town and Shupe, who had expected to be here for the game, was summoned to Greensburg, Pa., by the illness of a relative.

The high school lads displayed all the speed and form they have exhibited in running up a great record for the season.

Their defense was working in excellent style, with Larkins and McConville drawing the plaudits of the fans time after time. Dick and Franner broke up plenty of passes and also cut quite a figure in the scoring. McConville dropped in three field goals and Larkins four.

And the fact that the high school forwards failed to get a single field goal in the first half attests to the defense ability also of the Antler guards, Anderson and "Chuck" McConville. In the second half Hamilton sank a couple of buckets and Wildblood one.

A fair crowd witnessed the engagement which was staged to assist the school team in purchasing sweaters.

SOUTHERN OPEN ATTRACTS STARS

ATLANTA, March 21.—The pick of amateur and professional golfers were on hand today, as first practice rounds started over the East Lake Country Club course for the Southern open championship.

Interest ran high, with the talk among the pros mainly centering on the $4,000 purse for the winner, and $8,000 in other prizes.

Bobby Jones played a foursome Sunday afternoon and turned in a card of 68 for the round, while Bobby Cruickshank and Willie MacFarlane had 70s. Others getting the feel of the course were Tommy Armour, Wild Bill Mehlhorn, Leo Diegel, Mike Brady, Johnny Farrell, Joe Turnesa, Bob McDonald.

Walter Hagen and Al Espinosa are due to arrive from Florida today.

The competition formally starts Wednesday with a pro-amateur best ball match, and the 72-medal play contest begins Thursday morning ending Saturday evening.

Cubs Trim Angels.

LOS ANGELES, March 21. — The Cubs believe they are now ready to start the season grind, having made a clean sweep of their exhibition series with the Los Angeles and Hollywood clubs of the Pacific Coast league. They swamped the Angels yesterday in the series final, 14 to 1. "We're ready for the pennant grind," said McCarthy.

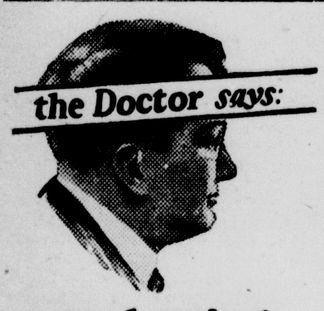
Germany Honors Woman Physician

Dr. Sofie A. Nordhoff-Jung.

The cross of honor has just been awarded by the German government to Dr. Sofie A. Nordhoff-Jung, Washington physician, in recognition of her Red Cross work during the early period of the war. Dr. Nordhoff-Jung is a member of the Georgetown University hospital staff and has practiced in Washington for more than 30 years.

During the celebration of her fifty-fifth wedding anniversary, a Walworth, England, woman wore the cream alpaca dress she used at her marriage.



the Doctor says:

guard against Coughs!

THE moment you feel any disagreeable sensation in your throat you should take a dose of PERTUSSIN to prevent coughs.

Very often irritation in the throat is caused by dust or habitual smoking. PERTUSSIN helps to clear the air passages and soothes the irritation.

It is entirely free from "dope", pleasant to take and has been prescribed by physicians for more than twenty years.

If PERTUSSIN does not relieve you quickly, you should consult your doctor.

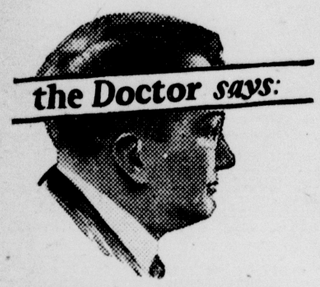
Germany Honors Woman Physician

Dr. Sofie A. Nordhoff-Jung.

The cross of honor has just been awarded by the German government to Dr. Sofie A. Nordhoff-Jung, Washington physician, in recognition of her Red Cross work during the early period of the war. Dr. Nordhoff-Jung is a member of the Georgetown University hospital staff and has practiced in Washington for more than 30 years.

During the celebration of her fifty-fifth wedding anniversary, a Walworth, England, woman wore the cream alpaca dress she used at her marriage.



the Doctor says:

guard against Coughs!

THE moment you feel any disagreeable sensation in your throat you should take a dose of PERTUSSIN to prevent coughs.

Very often irritation in the throat is caused by dust or habitual smoking. PERTUSSIN helps to clear the air passages and soothes the irritation.

It is entirely free from "dope", pleasant to take and has been prescribed by physicians for more than twenty years.

If PERTUSSIN does not relieve you quickly, you should consult your doctor.

OLDSMOBILE IN ROUMANIA

Car Vieing With Queen Marie for Popularity.

American made automobiles are vieing with Queen Marie in informing Rumanians about the United States. So great has become their popularity that a major in the Rumanian army recently selected a new Oldsmobile to make a record-breaking non-stop run which circled the kingdom in but slightly more than 50 hours.

This run, which attracted attention of all Rumania, was made by Major Al. Berlescu, an officer in the artillery. Major Berlescu is a motor enthusiast, entering practically every automobile race held in his country. He has won innumerable prizes at these events.

Accompanied by an army lieutenant as timekeeper, he started in an Oldsmobile stock touring car from Bucharest, the capitol of Rumania, to follow a route which was laid out to tour Rumania. The actual distance traveled was 2447 kilometers—approximately 1,520½ miles. The route circled back to finish in Bucharest where the Oldsmobile arrived just 50 hours and 15 minutes after the start.

Forty cities were passed through, at each of which the car stopped and was officially checked by the police. The only other stops were for gasoline. Much of the route was over roads which would be considered unimproved in this country, which makes all the more remakable the Oldsmobile's average time of more than 30 miles an hour for the entire trip.

Following the run the Oldsmobile was placed on exhibition in Bucharest where it attracted city-wide attention.

Since the introduction of the six cylinder Oldsmobile three and one-half years ago many similar record runs have been made in this country and in other sections of the world. It was the first car to ever be driven across the continent in high gear and to make a similar record in Australia. It also established the Pike's peak record for stock cars.

Czechoslovakia Inns Being Bankrupted; Radio is Blamed

PRAGUE.—Radio has nearly bankrupted the inns and beer shops of Czechoslovakia. On the other hand it has sent up the sale of bottled beer by leaps and bounds. Apparently radio fans prefer their beer in the comfort of their homes, listening to music from their own receiving sets, even to the fascinations of cafe society.

In 1926, licensed holders of wireless in Czechoslovakia increased from 17,900 to 175,000.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Auditor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve (12) o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on Monday April 18th, 1927, for the purchase of bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, in the aggregate sum of Four Thousand Seven Hundred Seventy Dollars ($4,770.00), dated May 1st, 1927. Said bonds will be 5 in number and numbered from one to five, both inclusive; the first of said bonds shall be of the denomination of One Thousand, One Hundred Seventy Dollars ($1,170.00) and the balance of said bonds shall be of the denomination of Nine Hundred Dollars ($900.00) each, and all will draw interest at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of March and September of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. The said bonds shall be due and payable as follows:

Date of maturity	Number	Amount
September 1, 1928,	1	$1,170.00
September 1, 1929,	2	900.00
September 1,1930,	3	900.00
September 1, 1931,	4	900.00
September 1, 1932,	5	900.00

Said bonds shall be issued to provide a fund for the purpose of acquiring and purchasing one fire truck chassis with motor and one Fire Chief's car for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and one police car for the Police Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one year's interest on said bonds.

Said bonds shall be issued under authority of the laws of the State of Ohio and of Section 3939 of the General Code of Ohio, and under authority and in accordance with a certain Ordinance of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, entitled: "An Ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for the purpose of acquiring and purchasing one fire truck chassis with motor and one fire chief's car for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and one police car for the Police Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio"; said Ordinance was passed on the 3rd day of March, 1927; said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder, at not less than par and accrued interest.

All Bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery and all bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to The Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for two per cent (2%) of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as before set forth within ten days from the time of award; said check to be retained by the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, if said condition is not fulfilled.

The City of East Liverpool, Ohio, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed: "Bids for Bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for the purpose of acquiring and purchasing one fire truck chassis with motor and one fire chief's car for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and one Police Car for the Police Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio."

OLDSMOBILE IN ROUMANIA

Car Vieing With Queen Marie for Popularity.

American made automobiles are vieing with Queen Marie in informing Rumanians about the United States. So great has become their popularity that a major in the Rumanian army recently selected a new Oldsmobile to make a record-breaking non-stop run which circled the kingdom in but slightly more than 50 hours.

This run, which attracted attention of all Rumania, was made by Major Al. Berlescu, an officer in the artillery. Major Berlescu is a motor enthusiast, entering practically every automobile race held in his country. He has won innumerable prizes at these events.

Accompanied by an army lieutenant as timekeeper, he started in an Oldsmobile stock touring car from Bucharest, the capitol of Rumania, to follow a route which was laid out to tour Rumania. The actual distance traveled was 2447 kilometers—approximately 1,520½ miles. The route circled back to finish in Bucharest where the Oldsmobile arrived just 50 hours and 15 minutes after the start.

Forty cities were passed through, at each of which the car stopped and was officially checked by the police. The only other stops were for gasoline. Much of the route was over roads which would be considered unimproved in this country, which makes all the more remakable the Oldsmobile's average time of more than 30 miles an hour for the entire trip.

Following the run the Oldsmobile was placed on exhibition in Bucharest where it attracted city-wide attention.

Since the introduction of the six cylinder Oldsmobile three and one-half years ago many similar record runs have been made in this country and in other sections of the world. It was the first car to ever be driven across the continent in high gear and to make a similar record in Australia. It also established the Pike's peak record for stock cars.

Czechoslovakia Inns Being Bankrupted; Radio is Blamed

PRAGUE.—Radio has nearly bankrupted the inns and beer shops of Czechoslovakia. On the other hand it has sent up the sale of bottled beer by leaps and bounds. Apparently radio fans prefer their bear in the comfort of their homes, listening to music from their own receiving sets, even to the fascinations of cafe society.

In 1926, licensed holders of wireless in Czechoslovakia increased from 17,000 to 175,000.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART.

NOW SENATOR BORAH BECOMES A 'SPOKESMAN'-A BUSY ONE, TOO

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Before the summer's ended Senator William E. Borah's "spokesman" promises to have become as widely known a character in Washington fiction as the "presidential spokesman" himself.

WILLIAM E. BORAH

Probably the country's too well acquainted with the "presidential spokesman" to need an introduction to him.

He was born of the rule that the president mustn't be quoted.

He frequently says something he wants repeated but it isn't etiquette to attribute it to him directly.

The "presidential spokesman" was invented to get around the difficulty. Everybody with a mite of experience knows that the "presidential spokesman" means the president.

Senator Borah's "spokesman" has only just appeared on the scene.

BORAH is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. It's a position which gives vast weight to his views concerning America's international policies.

By indorsing them he can greatly help the president. By opposing them he can gravely handicap him.

Much to the White House's annoyance, this latter is what Borah has pretty consistently done. Especially is he out of sympathy with the administration's course in Mexico and Nicaragua. Every time the state department made a move south of the Rio Grande, so long as congress was in session, the senator followed it up with a speech denouncing it as all wrong.

GOVERNMENT executives always are glad when congress adjourns. They were gladder than usual this time, for they figured it would put a stop to the worst of Borah's heckling.

True, he gave warning that he intended to keep on fighting, but nobody expected more from him than an occasional interview, an informal sort of thing, lacking in continuity, hard to time psychologically and without the punch of a regular speech or a "spokesman's" ponderous utterances.

Little did Washington realize the scheme the Idaho man had up his sleeve.

He didn't go home, as most other members of congress do. He stayed right here. Every day, from his headquarters in the senate office building, he's giving out an "official statement," through his "spokesman," meaning himself, just like the president.

THAT "spokesman" stunt was a stroke of real genius.

It exalts Borah. It puts him in the presidential class. It practically announces his White House candidacy, which Borah certainly doesn't mind a bit. In that sense it kills two birds with one stone.

At the same time it burlesques the "presidential spokesman," detracting very noticeably from the impressiveness of what the latter has to say. It's been taken for granted hitherto that a "spokesman" was the exclusive prerogative of a president. That idea's punctured now, with the utmost ease, and what's been punctured never appears at its best.

BORAH wanted to take his foreign relations committee to Mexico and Nicaragua during the summer, to learn at first hand what conditions in that part of the world actually are like.

The administration forces in the senate squelched this plan, on the ground that it would simply be a trouble-making junket.

The suggestion's heard in high up quarters today that it would have been a blamed sight better if the entire outfit had been permitted to go. Senator Shipstead's gone anyway. Instead of heading trouble off, administration leaders are hinting now that it looks to them as if the attempt to smother it had only resulted in spreading it around.

HEALTH POSTER CONTEST LISTED

Health poster contest will be held at the Community house, New Cumberland, April 22, afternoon and evening. In the afternoon the posters will be on exhibition. In the evening the prizes will be awarded. A program will be given in the evening which will consist of music, both vocal and instrumental, and a 25-piece orchestra.

Last year the contest included the rural schools alone, and over 200 posters were submitted. This year the grades in Weirton, Newell and New Cumberland will be included. The rural schools will compete with each other as they did last year and the city schools will compete.

There will be 12 cash prizes, six for the rural and six for the city grades. Five, three and two dollars will be given for the three best posters in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and the same prizes for the grades below.

The contest will be conducted by the Hancock County Tuberculosis league with the assistance of the superintendents and teachers of the county. The prizes will be paid from the Christmas seal fund.

PLAN TO EXTEND GAME SOCIETY

CHEVROLET CAR IS IN DEMAND

Nearly 86,000 New Models Sold During February.

Responding to an unprecedented and enthusiastic demand on the part of the public for 'the most beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet history' with its numerous refinements at lowered prices, the Chevrolet Motor company during February again smashed all previous monthly production records by producing 85,821 cars.

February production this year showed an increase of 34,518 cars or more than 67 per cent over the total of 51,303 Chevrolets built in February, 1926.

Despite greatly enlarged facilities provided under the $10,000,000 expansion program completed Dec. 1, 1926, the Chevrolet Motor company was forced to extend its operations by working overtime, day and night, to meet the nation-wide demand for Chevrolet cars—a demand marking the rise of this company to its position as the largest manufacturer of gear-shift cars in the world.

"There is only one reason for the phenomenal growth in popularity of the Chevrolet car" said D. K. Trotter of the Trotter Chevrolet Motor company, "and that is—it has pleased the public. It has met the desire of the public for a high grade car, of exceptional quality and performance, at a reasonable price. It is this constantly growing approval of the Chevrolet car that is causing the company to extend its production to meet the increasing demand."

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

NOW SENATOR BORAH BECOMES A 'SPOKESMAN'-A BUSY ONE, TOO

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Before the summer's ended Senator William E. Borah's "spokesman" promises to have become as widely known a character in Washington fiction as the "presidential spokesman" himself.

WILLIAM E. BORAH

Probably the country's too well acquainted with the "presidential spokesman" to need an introduction to him.

He was born of the rule that the president mustn't be quoted.

He frequently says something he wants repeated but it isn't etiquette to attribute it to him directly.

The "presidential spokesman" was invented to get around the difficulty. Everybody with a mite of experience knows that the "presidential spokesman" means the president.

Senator Borah's "spokesman" has only just appeared on the scene.

BORAH is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. It's a position which gives vast weight to his views concerning America's international policies.

By indorsing them he can greatly help the president. By opposing them he can gravely handicap him.

Much to the White House's annoyance, this latter is what Borah has pretty consistently done. Especially is he out of sympathy with the administration's course in Mexico and Nicaragua. Every time the state department made a move south of the Rio Grande, so long as congress was in session, the senator followed it up with a speech denouncing it as all wrong.

GOVERNMENT executives always are glad when congress adjourns. They were gladder than usual this time, for they figured it would put a stop to the worst of Borah's heckling.

True, he gave warning that he intended to keep on fighting, but nobody expected more from him than an occasional interview, an informal sort of thing, lacking in continuity, hard to time psychologically and without the punch of a regular speech or a "spokesman's" ponderous utterances.

Little did Washington realize the scheme the Idaho man had up his sleeve.

He didn't go home, as most other members of congress do. He stayed right here. Every day, from his headquarters in the senate office building, he's giving out an "official statement," through his "spokesman," meaning himself, just like the president.

THAT "spokesman" stunt was a stroke of real genius.

It exalts Borah. It puts him in the presidential class. It practically announces his White House candidacy, which Borah certainly doesn't mind a bit. In that sense it kills two birds with one stone.

At the same time it burlesques the "presidential spokesman," detracting very noticeably from the impressiveness of what the latter has to say. It's been taken for granted hitherto that a "spokesman" was the exclusive prerogative of a president. That idea's punctured now, with the utmost ease, and what's been punctured never appears at its best.

BORAH wanted to take his foreign relations committee to Mexico and Nicaragua during the summer, to learn at first hand what conditions in that part of the world actually are like.

The administration forces in the senate squelched this plan, on the ground that it would simply be a trouble-making junket.

WOMAN IS KILLED BY AUTO

RIVER, SWOLLEN BY RAINS, NEARS FLOOD STAGE

Today

The Pendulum's Swing.
Gold From Smoke.
For President Coolidge.
Gambling For Death.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

PERHAPS the pendulum is swinging away from after-the-war indecency. New York is trying to clean up shameful plays.

Boston police, rugged moralists that lack sympathy for indecency calling itself genius, have stopped the sale of nine books.

Fortunately the pendulum can not swing in one direction all the time. Cromwell and his Puritans followed Charles I. We may get rid of writings and performances that would disgrace a monkey house.

AN ELECTRICAL device used in government's Wall Street assay office, actually takes gold out of the air. Fumes going up the chimney of a smelting furnace carry gold with them. The device has collected $12,400 from 5000 pounds of chimney dust. Wall Street knows how to get gold out of water, but the government process is new. If it could be applied to sea water, economically, gold would be, no longer, the basis of values.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, this may interest your army and navy departments. Japan has bought from France 172 fighting airplanes, including 60 big bombing planes—of which 20 could wipe out any city in America. Japan pays France $7,000,000 for the 172 planes, has ordered more, and Japan is building another big flying battle fleet at home.

Japan realizes that there may come earthquakes frmo above, worse than any originating underground.

We talk disarmament, and lovely peace to other nations while they accumulate equipment that might blow our fine prosperity into the air—if they did not love us so much.

Would it not be a good idea to add action to our brotherly-love talk? Our army and navy departments think flying machines unimportant, and, as Will Rogers says, "they will keep on be-littling flying machines until they have something dropped on them, from one of them."

What do the army and navy think is Japan's purpose in buying and making so many fighting planes, Secretary Wilbur is reported to have said: "There is no danger from Europe's airplanes." She should not judge the flying of other nations by our own.

FROM Bolivia comes gambling news that is really new. Nestor Villegas, Simon Sheque and two Jaurequi brothers murdered Joe Manuel Pando, former Bolivian president, and the judge

Review-Tribune Offers Booklet, "Care of Pets"

The living animal, bird, or fish kept as a pet is entitled to good food, healthy living quarters, cleanliness in body and surroundings, protection from disease, and kind, intelligent treatment. Many people with the best intentions do not take proper care of pets because they do not know what is really best for the creatures.

A new booklet from our Washington Information Bureau tells about correct care of dogs, cats, rabbits, parrots, canaries, goldfish, pigeons, guinea pigs, and other pets. Housing, feeding, bathing, breeding, and other essentials briefly and clearly set forth, based on expert knowledge of government and other experienced agencies.

Coshocton City Is Isolated by Wreck and Flood

COSHOCTON, O., March 21. — The city was virtually isolated today, with a freight wreck on the Pennsylvania lines, west of here, delaying rail egress, and the Muskingum river, at flood stage, disrupting highway traffic. The river stood at 13.5 feet today, inundating many roads, having risen two feet and a half over night. Flood stage is eight feet. Roads to Millersburg and Mt Vernon were under water.

Window panes in several houses in the village of Warsaw, near here, were shattered by a bolt of lightnight during a thunderstorm Sunday.

With More Rain Forecast, Residents in Lowlands Along Banks of Swollen Rivers Move to Higher Ground.

Fed by a 48-hour rain, the Ohio river today, the first day of spring, was nearing a flood stage.

At 1 p. m., the river, at dam No. 8, was approaching the 27-foot mark and rising two-tenths of a foot an hour. Lock men predicted 30 feet. The danger line is 33 feet.

Expect 26 Feet at Pittsburgh.

A crest of 26 feet is expected at Pittsburgh, government observers said.

The Allegheny mountains are full of ice and snow, and the present high water is due to the precipitation during the last two days.

The river reached a flood stage about six weeks ago, when it overflowed its banks at several places in the East Liverpool district, when 38 feet of water was reported.

LOUGI GRAFFI IS KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

VICTIM LABORER

Struck While Walking Tracks to Cream City.

Struck by an eastbound Pennsylvania railroad freight train, Lougi Graffi, 48 years old, an employe of the McLain Fire Brick company, was killed yesterday afternoon on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh tracks between Irondale and Hammondsville.

The back of Graffi's head was crushed and his left foot was badly mangled.

Graffi, according to reports, had alighted from a westbound passenger train at Hammondsville and was walking the tracks to Cream City, when he he boarded, when he was hit by the train.

The crew of the freight train stopped and picked up the body, taking it to the D. N. MacLean funeral home in Wellsville.

Graffi is survived by three children, all living in Italy. His wife died two months ago in Italy.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception church in Wellsville, in charge of Rev. Edward Gracey, pastor. Burial will be made in St. Elizabeth cemetery.

BOULDER BLOCKS MIDLAND ROAD

A rock, weighing several tons, crashed from the hillside, partially blocking the Midland-East Liverpool road east of Smiths Ferry, Pa., Saturday night. One-way traffic was permitted following the slip.

Beaver county highway workmen were removing the boulder today.

Unmasked Bandits Hold Up Bank at Osgood; Get $2,000

GREENVILLE, O., March 21.—Two unmasked bandits today held up the bank at Osgood, near here, and escaped with $2,000. Cashier August Reichertm and Assistant Cashier L. J. Brewer, offered no resistance when the men covered them with guns and demanded money.

The men ran to a waiting automobile and drove west.

Mrs. Jessie Roe Funeral is Held In Emlenton, Pa.

TWO MEN HELD FOR $13,885 SHORTAGE AT MIDLAND MILL

Works Accountant and Paymaster Face Charges.

M. J. Howieson and J. P. Stone Accused of Embezzlement.

Charged with embezzlement in connection with alleged payroll "padding," M. J. Howieson, works accountant, and Joseph P. Stone paymaster for the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel company, Midland, Pa., will be given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace David A. Stewart, Beaver, Pa., at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Howieson, held in default of $12,000 bond, is charged with having embezzled $10,485 during the last two years by means of payroll manipulations. Stone, former resident of East Liverpool, working in Howieson's department, is alleged to have taken $3,400. He is at liberty under $4,000 bond.

The arrests were made upon affidavits signed by Maurice L. McJunkin, New York, special auditor, after an examination of records in the Midland office. The suspects were arrested at their homes in Midland by Night Patrolman Adam McConaughy, of the Beaver police force, who took them to Beaver.

According to Beaver county authorities Howieson on Saturday signed a written confession. Stone, it is claimed, has also confessed to having had a part in the scheme.

The affidavits signed by McJunkin sets fourth that funds were embezzled "March 4 and at various times within the last two years." It is claimed that Howieson "padded" the payrolls of the company by entering fictitious names on the payroll records. These names, it is claimed, were added after the payroll lists had been approved by department heads.

FIRE DESTROYS MILLPORT BARN

Efforts were being made today to determine the cause of the fire which destroyed the barn on the W. J. King farm, one mile east of Millport during the latter part of last week. The loss is estimated at $10,000 upon which $5,000 worth of insurance was carried.

The blaze was discovered by men who were passing. King being in Lisbon on business at the time. The stock was led to safety, but the hay, grain and farm machinery were destroyed.

INVADERS TAKE OVER REINS IN CHINA'S CHIEF CUSTOMS PORT

Fleeing Shantung Troops Fired Indiscriminately as They Go.

U. S. MARINES LAND

Tensity and Fears Reported in International Settlement.

BY ALFRED MEYER.

LONDON, March 21. — Chinese troops have broken through the barriers to the north of the international settlement and have had a stiff fight with the British, according to dispatches received here tonigtt.

When word was received that the Chinese had broken the barriers, an armored car manned by British soldiers was sent to drive the invaders out. A brisk fight ensued and one British officers and thee men were wounded.

SHANGHAI, March 21.—Chaos prevails in Shanghai today, following the occupation of the native city by the victorious Cantonese.

The fleeing Shantung troops are impressing citizens into service and are firing indiscriminately as they go.

Cantonese sympathizers, without waiting for the creation of a Nationalist city administration, have taken matters into their own hands, seized the police stations, and are conducting a guerilla warfare on those whom they regard as their enemies.

Evidence of the chaotic conditions that rule in the native city was given today when it was reported that Nationalist guerillas, storming Dixwell road police station, found 40 northern soldiers taking refuge there and murdered all of them.

The international settlement is still inviolate, with strong guards posted and all international citizens ordered to keep within the settlement.

American marines have been landed and have been put on guard duty. Japanese and Portuguese troops have also been landed to aid the British troops.

British Troops Fired On.

British troops have been fired on by retreating Shantungites. Two American soldiers doing patrol duty within the international settlement have been beaten up.

Sniping invaders are reported to have wounded one American, one Brit-

MRS. M. K. DAVIS RUN DOWN BY J. F. BEVAN CAR OF CLEVELAND

Victim of Lincoln Highway Crash Dies in Hospital.

CHEST CRUSHED

Accident Occurs Near Stop 55 on Y. & O. Railroad.

Mrs. Mary K. Davis, 24, wife of Harry Davis, steward at the Lincoln Country club, Glenmoor, died in the City hospital at 4 o'clock Sunday morning from internal injuries suffered at 9 o'clock Saturday night when struck near Stop 55 on the Lincoln highway by an automobile driven by John F. Bevan, Cleveland.

Mist Blinds Driver.

Her left arm was broken, right ankle fractured and chest crushed. Bevan, who was on his way to Chester to attend the funeral of a relative, reported the accident to police here. No charge has been preferred against him.

Mrs. Davis, accompanied by her husband and James Azdell, a neighbor, was on her way home from East Liverpool, when the accident occurred. They had left the Y. & O. Stop 55 and were walking south on the west side of the highway.

Bevan, driving a touring car, said that he was traveling about 25 or 30 miles an hour and, because of the

FOUR KILLED IN CLEVELAND

Several Other Persons are Injured Over Week-end.

CLEVELAND, O., March 21.— Four members of one Cleveland family are dead today, and several other persons were more or less seriously injured as the result of week-end traffic accidents in the Cleveland area.

The dead:

R. H. Bull, 36, shipping clerk; Mrs. Mayme Bull, 35, his wife, Frances 13, and Elizabeth 10, their daughters.

The automobile in which the four were riding was struck by an Erie railroad passenger train at a grade crossing in Solon, near here. Bull, his wife, and daughter, Frances, were killed instantly. Elizabeth died on the way to a hospital.

The family was returning home from a trip into the country, when the crash occurred. Witnesses believe Bull, who was driving, failed to hear the approaching train.

Norman Beller, 8, of Elyria, suffered a possible fractured skull when the Beller automobile crashed into another machine here Sunday.

Betty Green, 3, is in Charity hospital with a fractured skull, as a result of being hit by an auto.

Four other persons suffered lesser injuries in other accidents.

HERE IS FIRST INSTALLMENT OF REVIEW-TRIBUNE'S SERIAL, 'HATTIE,' STORY OF LOVE AND SACRIFICE, BY SAMUEL MERWIN

FIRST INSTALLMENT.

Hattie Johnson turned seventeen in October, and with the turning came transition out of inconspicuous youth into budding womanhood. She who had been thin—even, in the vernacular, skinny—was now, suddenly, noticeably, swelling and rounding into a pleasantly lissome slimness. The pinched little face, out of which wistful brown eyes had gazed with something the appeal of an Airdale puppy, filled into an oval, with a new softness about the demure mouth. The hair, that had been teh color of unripe cornsilk, straight and wispy, depened a shade and began to appear in experimental arrangements that indicated a grouping toward style.

Mrs. Mullane, the forewoman noted this quick blooming toleranly. It was a problem familiar enough, here in the mailing room where at various times from thirty to sixty girls sat at the rows of desks folding magazines into addressed brown wrappers and piling them with overlapping edges so that in a single stroke of the paste brush they might be gummed for sealing. Mrs. Mullane noted also the tendency of the girl to dream, to start nervously and flush with self-consciousness. One afternon she saw Hattie with Willie Mazzini, the office boy, behind the partition that separated the mailing room from the supply room. They were sitting side by side, not speaking a word, holding hands. At intervals after that the experienced Mrs. Mullane considered—casually enough, to be sure—the case of Hattie. . . Hattie in the crowded subway, morning and evening, where girls and men were herded and packed together in a manner that no merchant of marketable cattle would tolerate (more than one of the quieter girls had spoken out bitterly to Mrs. Mullane about that); perhaps on the streets of Harlem of an evening wandering with older and shrewder girls into the drug stores for sodas and into the picture houses; possibly junketing to Coney Island of a Sunday afternon with some little Willie Mazzini or other and coming back up the bay on the fast evening boat, romantically yielding to the thrill of the summer night and the thrumming and squeaking of the inevitable two violins and a harp. Hattie was a good girl. Her thin little arms moved swiftly all day, every day, in the routinized movements that had been devised for the girls by the efficiency men. . . . She would never be pretty, not, that is, dangerously pretty. The gift of inner vigor and l[illegible] that men call personality would never be hers. Indeed Hattie appeared to have no humor at all, almost no ego. She was of the drifting, unquestioning sort. Unimaginative. Colorless. She never laughed, and her mouth, if she didn't watch out, would one day droop at the corners. Mrs. Mullane gathered that she had been held closely and none too happily at home, where she lived with her married sister and her grandmother. But a good girl. A rather quaintly old-fashioned good girl. Somewhat frightened about life. Given to speaking in a thinly respectful husky little voice. The most you could say was that her f[illegible] was prettily proportioned, and her profile, with the low straight forehead and the little straight nose, was good.

The printing and bookbinding establishment of Pratt and MacIntire was housed in a square modern building of steel and tile and stone that lowered squarely and boldly and impersonally over rows of dilapidated red-brick houses and over the ceaselessly roaring elevated road and the freight tracks and lumber yards of old Chelsea Village. By merely raising her head Hattie could see the municipal piers and the ferryboats of the North

Annual Conference Will Open Thursday at Charleston.

The annual state conference of the social workers will be held here March 25 and 26 and more than 500 social workers in the state are expected to attend, according to Judge Morgan Owen, state president of the organization.

The theme of the conference this year will be the proper care and training of the feeble-minded. The morning and afternoon sessions on the first day, which will be held in the Baptist Temple, will be devoted to a discussion of the relation of health to the social problem.

The subject, "Why This Social Problem," will be dealt with from the health angles by Dr. David Littlejohn, director of the division of rural sanitation of the state health department, while the economic angle will be discussed by Prof. T. L. Harris, of the department of sociology of the University of West Virginia.

In the afternoon Miss Ada Coddington, of the state health department, will discuss the relation of feeble-mindedness to the social disease problem, and Dr. R. D. Roller, Jr., school medical inspector of Charleston, will talk on "Facing the Facts" or the need of greater institutional facilities in the handling of the feeble-minded delinquents of the state.

The principal speakers at the Friday evening session will be Miss Edna McChristie, of Cincinnati, referee of the girls' division of the Hamilton county court of domestic relations, and Judge W. McClintic, of the U. S. court of the southern district. The subject will be probation—juvenile and adult and the community responsibility.

On Saturday the program includes papers on the county welfare organizations by the state board of children's guardians, work of the visiting teachers by Miss Helen Raymond Smith, of New York City, and classification of criminals, by Judge H. Roy Waugh, of Buckhannon. Saturday afternoon the subject of the present and future programs of the state and private institutions will be discussed, and also the pending legislation and its effects.

Saturday evening's session, which will be held in the auditorium of the Thomas Jefferson High school, will be addressed by Edgar A. Doll, of the Training School for Feeble-Minded at Vineland, N. J., and Dr. S. E. Weber, superintendent of schools of Charleston.

All sessions will be open to the public.

'Boy Paderewski' Headlines Bill At Ceramic Theatre

"Music Hath Charms," Novel Revue, is Offered in Conjunction With Picture, "Getting Gertie's Garter."

David Schooler, "the boy Paderwski," and his company will present an A-1 revue, "Music Hath Charms," in conjunction with the Marie Prevost-Charles Ray picture, "Getting Gertie's Garter," at the Ceramic theatre tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Schooler, America's favorite pianist, and two girls, singers and dancers, will offer a novel program.

An unobtrusive little garter from milady's boudoir causes a near riot and much side-splitting mirth in "Getting Gertie's Garter."

Miss Prevost, the vivacious comedienne, outdoes herself in her latest comedy role and is flanked by a scintillating cast of supporting players headed by Charles Ray, who is featured as leading man. Harry Myers, Sally Rand, Willam Orlamond, Fritzi Ridgeway, Franklin Pangborn, Del Henderson and Lila Leslie are in the supporting cast. The screen play was adapted by F. McGrew Willis from the famous stage farce by Avery Hopwood. E. Mason Hopper directed the production.

Madge Bellamy and Allan Forest in Featured Roles.

Because he stimulates them to their best creative efforts, both stage and screen actors like to work under the direction of Allan Dwan. Dwan's skill in securing spontaneous action from his artists was well demonstrated by the brilliant cast with which he produced "Summer Bachelors" for Fox Films from the novel by Warner Fabian. The film opened a three day engagement at the American today.

Madge Bellamy heads the imposing list of actors in "Summer Bachelors," a comedy of how husbands play when their wives are away. Allan Forrest appears in the leading male role opposite the star. Matt Moore, Charles Winninger, Hale Hamilton and Walter Catlett are the principal "bachelors," and Olive Tell is the genial part-time wife of Winninger. Leila Hyams and Clifford Holland have the secondary leads.

With such experienced players, Director Dwan only had to suggest what he wanted. He did not have to give minute instructions for each scene. As he came to each sequence, he outlined the circumstances to the players and let them work out their own ideas. Mr. Dwan fitted the parts together, and if the result was waht he wanted, he filmed the scene. The result was a convincing spontaneity.

James Hamilton prepared the screen version of "Summer Bachelors."

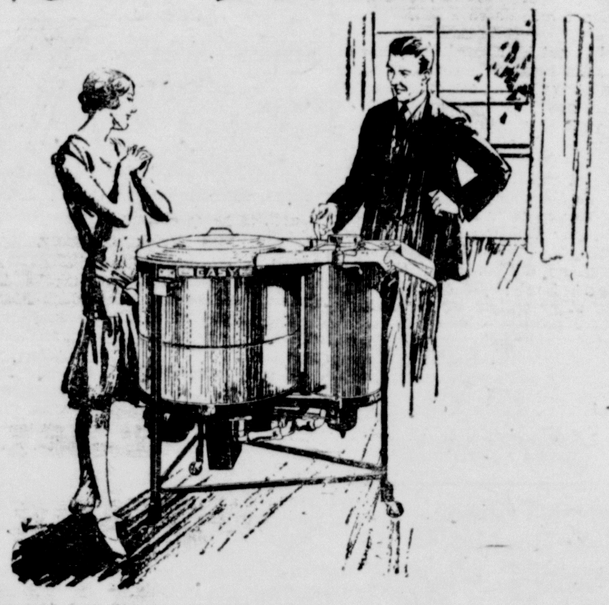
This New Thrill!



is Yours for the Asking

PICTURE this,—the New Easy Washer, with its two tubs, in your home, doing your washing in half the time. While the famous Vacuum Cup tub is washing one eight-sheet batch of clothes snowy white, the new Dryer is whirling another eight-sheet batch damp-dry, ready for the line in three minutes.

And . . . . there are no wet, dripping hems and corners when you take the clothes from the dryer; no broken buttons, no stretched woolens; no linens with deep wrinkles that are hard to iron out.

The water is handled for you as it is whirled from the clothes in the dryer by the new water-circulating system of the Easy. The handy gas heater beneath the washing tub keeps the water hot throughout the entire washing.

Now . . . . you can wash your most precious laces, your lovely blankets, sweaters, feather pillows and even your heavy rag rugs right in your own home, in the New Easy Washer. You will be amazed at the results!

FREE

In order that you may see for yourself the wonders of this modern miracle worker, we will lend you a New Easy, without cost or obligation, and let it do your next week's washing. Phone us right now and make your appointment. If you decide to keep the Easy, a small initial payment can be made and the Easy stays in your home permanently.

ESSEX HANGS UP NEW RECORD

New Mark for Speed and Endurance by Super-six.

For the third time in a few weeks, a new Essex Super-Six motor car has made a remarkable record for speed and endurance, according to word received by the Hudson Motor Car Co., and transmitted to the Buckeye Motor Co., Hudson-Essex dealer in the East Liverpool area.

Timed by the Western Union and officially observed by newspapermen, an Essex ran for 24 consecutive hours on the speedway at San Antonio, turning up a total of 1218 miles for an average of 50¾ miles an hour. The test was made with a stock car by the Sanderson Motors Co., San Antonio distributors.

In recording the run, the San Antonio newspapers say that the fastest miles of the whole test were at the finish, when about 4¼ miles were made in the final 4 minutes. They tell also that the track was slowed up by about two hours of showery weather.

"This Essex Super-Six," said Ray Birch, "had been run about 1500 miles when the trial began. In the Southwest, the motorists are more interested in speed than in districts where population is more congested. They like a car that can go across country at sustained high speed. Of course, the outstanding feature of the Essex Super-Six is its ability to run an average of 50 miles an hour all day long. The San Antonio distributor decided to prove this claim beyond any shadow of doubt.

"The run began at 2 p. m. on a Saturday afternoon, and continued just 24 hours, or until the track was made ready for automobile races on Sunday afternoon. For the afternoon of Saturday, all night long, and until Sunday afternoon the Essex kept rolling up its miles. A great factor in the success of the run was the ability of the Essex to take turns at high speed. The low center of gravity and the perfect balance of Essex construction enabled the drivers to take the turns even at night with scarcely a slow-down."

Crime News

Addressing a conference on crime, Charles H. Dennis, editor of the Chicago Daily News, makes this reply to critics who condemn the papers for their use of crime news:

"Crime obtrudes itself, while news of meritorious actions, as a rule, is surprisingly difficult to capture.

"The outcry so many people make against the publication of crime news is in a sense an outcry against human nature. It is the province of a newspaper to be as interesting as possible, within the bounds of good taste and good morals. A newspaper exists only because it is a purveyor of news. If it ceases to publish the news in reasonably complete form, it presently ceases to exist, for the public dooms it to a swift or lingering death, and rightly so."

The same general idea might be put in a slightly different way. Take news that circulates naturally by word of mouth, in any community, without help from newspapers. What kind of news gains quickest currency and widest distribution by this "underground route?" Crime news or police news, mostly.

Let a murder or robbery or fight or unexplained death occur, and see how it spreads through the community! Nearly everybody makes it his business to tell his neighbors. And people seem instinctively to consider evil news more important than good news. That is merely what the newspapers seem to do on a bigger scale, over a wider range.

Yet even so, possibly the newspapers are blamed over-much. The amount of crime news they print is exaggerated. In any but the yellowest papers, it bears a much lower proportion to the total volume of news than people imagine. The headlines, or else readers' own keen interest in such news, may mislead them in estimating it.

The Women's Rebellion

Carrie Chapman Catt, venerable American suffrage leader, prophesies a women's rebellion against arbitrary styles set by the French fashion trust.

"This rebellion," she writes in the Forum, "will come with the force and fury of all movements long overdue. It will be ruthless and thorough. It may precipitate the world into bankruptcy, close factories, turn millions into unemployment. No one has ever asked the price of liberty, and we shall not then."

She is particularly rebellious about the prediction of Paul Poiret, that within 30 years women will be in trousers. Not that she objects especially to trousers. In fact, she maintains that they belong to women by right of original invention and use, and have been stolen by men. But she objects to Poiret or any other man telling women what they are going to wear.

What then? It is a noble prospect that the rebellious Mrs. Catt opens up:

"Doctors, lawyers, legislators, judges, mothers, housewives, will swell the gathering army. They will plead that the abolition of artificial fashion will bring to the average family economy and calm; to the average woman, a costume comfortable, healthful, becoming and adapted to her work; to all women, an emancipation of brains, conscience, arms, legs and feet; to all the people, a dress of beauty and elegance combined with utility and comfort; to business, a stability heretofore unknown, and to the world at large, the removal of a distracting, artificial and menacing factor."

Three rousing cheers! If Mrs. Catt can accomplish this glorious consummation and at the same time give the Parisian style-setters a black eye, more power to her! Even the American clothing industry can probably endure the temporary upset, for the sake of establishing women's garb ultimately on a standardized basis of beauty and utility. When that great revolution comes, manufacturers will have reason to hope that the permanent models they are making will remain in vogue for at least one whole season.

Gentle Winter

Northern states have been experiencing a sort of pre-vernal spring, with grass growing and buds opening everywhere. Parts of the West have been threatened with heat prostration. Lake Ontario is reported free from ice. Pansies have been blooming at the "Soo." Bees have swarmed in Ontario. Navigation has opened on Lake Erie. There is a remarkable excess of temperature nearly everywhere on this continent since the beginning of the year.

And this was to be a dreadful winter, the coldest in many years, followed by a summerless year. The "goosebone prophets" are not saying a word now. Neither are the scientific meteorologists, except to laugh at their goosebone brethren and say, "You never can tell about weather more than a week ahead."

Who Should Have Fire Arms?

The National Crime Commission, meeting in Chicago, has been discussing means of controlling crime. Fire arms regulation is recognized as an important factor in this work.

The chief of police of one city recommends that all persons applying for gun permits be required to file finger prints. Then seven days should elapse before issuance of the gun, if the permit is granted. In seven days considerable wrath would have time to cool and vengeful impulse to die out, thus saving many lives.

Unfortunately, however, a weapon of this sort, once in the possession of any individual, hot-headed or otherwise, is always a menace. There is growing opinion that such dangerous weapons should be kept out of the hands of all but an authorized few. Certainly they should not be obtainable merely for the asking and the price.

INDUSTRIOUS BUNNY!

In the ancient wicked days when drinking still was going on, Riley Wilson, the official humorist of West Virginia, met on the streets of Huntington a friend of his from up in the mountains. Extending the customary hospitalities, Wilson invited the hillsman to have something. The visitor was agreeably inclined. They crossed the street and entered the swining doors of a life-saving station.

At the end of the bar an electric fan was buzzing. The gaze of the mountaineers froze on this novel object. So absorbed and interested was he almost he forgot to help himself from the bottle which the barkeeper set out for him. He put down his emptied glass, and walking close up to the fan, continued to watch it in a fascinated silence.

"Well, old man," said Wilson, "are you ready to move along."

"Riley," answered the mountaineer without turning his head, "ef you don't mind, I'm goin' to stay a spell longer. I don't know how much longer I mout be here, 'cause I aim to wait until this here little critter stops spinnin' his wheel around so I can git a good look at it. I've seen some peart squirrels caged up, in my time, but this shore must be the peartest one that ever was ketched."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 21.—Diary of a modern Papys: All the morning hunting for a cigarette case Paul Whiteman gave me many years ago and found it between covers of a magazine among trash in the basement. So gaily to my work until late in the evening.

To dinner at Will Hogg's and William Coe and his bride there and also Frank Pollack, who sang bravely as he once did at the Metropolitan and Mr. Coe told of his work in flower gardens and I thought he was a gardener, until after he left someone remarked he was worth fifty millions.

Later all to a musical play and for a round of night clubs. And talked with Roger Kahn, an engaging young man, and then to Charlie Journal's Montmartre, where there was a lady whose frock touched the floor. And Helen Morgan came to our table in another club and she has the loveliest hands any of us ever saw. Then home.

From a highbrow theatre program: "Company Physiotherapist — Dr. Blank." And a florist's window card states: "All stems hygienically clipped."

Urban Ledoux—the "Mr. Zero" of the nickle-a-meal cellar in St. Mark's Place—is reported to have fed 20,000 hungry outcasts last winter. On the wall of his restaurant called "The Tub" is the explanation of his charity: "To bring a greater share of love and beauty into the lives of those too long deprived."

Ledoux is an educated Canadian who has served his country as a diplomatist at various consular posts. He works during the summer and gives all he saves away in the winter. He talks to reporters, but gives the idea he is not especially interested in publicity.

Even the name by which he is best known is the outgrowth of his modesty. At his first free dinner, a reporter asked him what he should be called. He replied, "Nothing" From that was coined "Mr. Zero."

Noble resolve of a chronic first nighter: "The next comedian who snaps a cigarette lighter successfully and cries, 'My Heavens, it works!' will see me snatch my hat, thumb my nose, and run."

An artistic gentleman set out a bottle of rare brandy for several guests who dropped in preparatory to attending a midnight ball.

"What would you think," suggested one of the guests brightly, "if we took what is left of the brandy with us?"

"I would think you were rude," was the reply. That ended that.

Underworld monickers are fast disappearing. Police no longer hear of characters such as "Chicago Red," "Montreal Dave" and "Omaha Pete." In a roundup of crooks in a notorious Second avenue dive recently the police blotter revealed former yeggs with such names as Hulburt Wagstaff, J. Martin Zinn, Edouard La Clere and Barton Fustan.

The custom of the maitre de hotel being known by a single name such as Theodore, Robert, Pierre and Arthur is extending to other callings. Smart glove, gown and millinery shops in the Madison avenue shopping district bear single names of Mary, Louise, Florence, etc.

The newest in expensive desserts appearing on a swank safe menue is listed at $2 a portion. It is a frozen souffle moulded into a heart shape with an iced arrow of red piercing it and surrounded by billows of silver spun sugar. It looks pretty, but not $2 pretty.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Auto Toll Reduced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—The automobile death toll in the United States during the first month of the present year was the lowest it has been during January since 1924, according to data compiled and estimates made by the National Safety Council.

For the month the total number of motor vehicle fatalities is placed at about 1,430. This is at the rate of approximately 46 each day, whereas the daily average for January, 1925, was 65, while for January, 1926, it was 49. The figures for January, 1927, are based on reports from 109 cities and towns and four states which in all reported 487 deaths from automobile accidents for the month. These municipalities and states have a total population of some 40,000,000.

Twelve cities with more than 100,000 population reported no fatalities at all during the month, it is announced, and 29 cities under the 100,000 population mark also had clear records. Seventy-one of the cities and states making reports showed their records to have been equal to or better than those of January of last year, while 34 cities and states had more fatalities this January than last.

"The majority of the cities are off for a good start in 1927," says the Safety Council, "and the record of deaths per day in the United States is indeed encouraging."

Of the persons killed in motor vehicle accidents during this January, 73 per cent were pedestrians, while 12 per cent of the fatalities were due to collisions of automobiles. Automobile collisions with railroad trains, street cars, and fixed objects, and non-collision accidents accounted for the remainder. Of the pedestrian victims 23 per cent were under 15 years of age, 43 per cent were between the ages of 15 and 55, and 34 per cent were 55 years old and over.

The percentage of fatal accidents to children under 15 shows a reduction as compared with the percentage of such accidents in the total number of motor vehicle fatalities for 1926, which was almost 30 per cent, and it is believed to reflect the good that has been accomplished by safety work in the schools.

Showing Made By Large Cities.

Statistics were received from 12 cities with populations in excess of 500,000 and of these six showed a reduction in motor traffic fatalities, while five showed an increase and one a stand-off. Chicago had the greatest number of deaths during the month—50, as compared with 41 for January, 1926—and San Francisco showed the greatest percentage of increase, her 17 fatalities for the month more than doubling her record of eight last year.

Baltimore had 15 fatalities as compared with 12 in 1926; Boston, 4 as against 5; Buffalo, 6 as against 11; Cleveland, 7 as against 11; Detroit, 16 as against 17; Los Angeles, 29 as against 21; Milwaukee, 6 as against 9; Philadelphia, 28 as against 19; St. Louis, 14 as against 20.

Washington was the one city in this city to report the same number of fatalities for this January as for the same month last year—6.

Among cities of 300,000 to 500,000 population reporting only one showed a decrease, Louisville, and one, Rochester, N. Y., reported no change. All the others showed increases, Minneapolis, for instance, having double the number of fatalities this year that she had during the same month last year, 6 as compared with 3. New Orleans' figures jumped from 7 to 11.

Of the cities of 100,000 to 300,000, Oakland, Calif. reported the greatest number of fatalities, 8, which was double that city's record for last year. Atlanta, Ga., and Dayton, Ohio, came next with 7 each, which is to be compared with 4 and 3 respectively for January, 1926. No city under 100,000 reported more than 2 fatalities except Miami, Fla., which had 3.

The states reporting were Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, and Rhode Island, and all showed decreases except the last named where the 1927 figures were the same as those for last year. It is not to be understood, however, that complete returns have been made as yet in those states.

Other public accidents were reported by 43 cities, with a total of 127 deaths. Of these, 44 per cent were traffic accidents other than those involving motor vehicles and involved street cars and railroad trains; 16.5 per cent were drownings; and 11.6 per cent were due to firearms.

Dangerous Age for Children.

At the same time it announced the fatality statistics the National Safety Council made public a chart that shows graphically the dangerous age for children in the matter of automobile accidents.

"Statistics indicate that the child begins to play an important role in the accident situation after the third year," says the accompanying statement. "As he grows older his part becomes bigger and less limited in scope. Accidental fatalities in the third year are twice those in the second year. The tragic increase continues and in the age group, 5 to 9 years, a peak is reached not again attained until we reach the age group, 60 to 64 years. The death rate or deaths per hundred thousand increase from then on, though the actual number of deaths is not large because the population in the higher age groups is not large."

The lowest accidental death rate is for the age group, 15 to 19 years, and it does not show a marked increase until the 35 to 39 group is reached.

The most dangerous months for child pedestrians are April, June, August and October. Last year between 630 and 650 children under 15 years of age lost their lives during each of those months. The lowest month in 1926 was February, also the lowest in total number of automobile deaths when only 130 children were killed.

The sudden increase in the child death rate in the third and fourth years, it is pointed out, indicates the necessity for home training by instruction, care, and example. After the high point reached for the 5 to 9 year-old group there is a sharp slump to the low point for the 15 to 19 group already noted. This marked falling off in the death rate for automobile accidents is attributed to training in the schools, and to the general safety education work carried on throughout the country, but it seems that the schools can not do much to reduce

Eli's Handsomest

Yale's handsomest seniors, according to a vote taken by the senior class of the university, are Lawrence M. Noble, of Syracuse, N. Y., enrolled in the literary college, and William E. Minor, Jr., of Cincinnati, O., in the scientific school. Noble, who is working his way through Yale, is the only man in the university who has won his "Y" in three major sports, while Minor is active in the student council. Both are shown above.

Ceramic Presents Two Stars in "Getting Gertie's Garter."

You have heard of hard-headed business men often enough, but few persons realize why a solid cranium is an asset to an actor. So declared William Orlamond, veteran screen comedian in a recent interview.

Orlamond plays the part of the comedy butler in "Getting Gertie's Garter" in which Metropolitan is starring Marie Prevost, and which will be presented at the Ceramic theatre today. In one of the sequences transpiring in a barn, Orlamond is called upon to slide head first from the hay loft to the floor below.

The scene had to be "shot" several times before E. Mason Hopper, the director, was satisfied and despite the fact that much hay was strewn on the floor to break the force of the fall, Orlamond insisted that every time he dived he could feel the wooden planks sock him on the dome. Needless to say the comedian was tickled to death when the director shouted, "okay," and moved to another set.

Charles Ray has the male lead in the picture and with Miss Prevost heads an exceptionally brilliant cast including, Harry Myers, Sally Rand, Franklin Pangborn, Fritzi Ridgeway, Del Henderson and Lila Leslie. The screen play is based on the stage success of the same name by Avery Hopwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glennon and daughter, Alice of Virginia avenue, were Beaver Falls visitors on Friday.

Mr. nad Mrs. Robert Graham of Ohio avenue were Pittsburgh visitors on Thursday.

LANDSLIDES AGAIN CLOSE HIGHWAY TO WELLSVILLE

BARRIERS GO UP AS ROCKS BLOCK TRAFFIC

County Officials Act as Rains Cause Hillside Slips.

DETOUR ORDERED

Street Cars Operate on Both Tracks After Clean-up.

Both the eastbound and the westbound tracks of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company were in service this morning at 10 o'clock after deposits of mud, earth and rocks, portions of several slides which dropped off Walker's hillside during the night, had been cleaned off the right of way.

Large slips occurred in three places between the top of the hill west of Jethro and a point a short distance west of Walker's, completely covering the roadway and portions of the westbound street car tracks.

At other places along the road, small and large rocks were strewn over the highway.

The thoroughfare is closed as a result of the slips, and indications today pointed to a suspension of traffic over the river route for several days.

Automobile traffic will use the campground road detour until the slides are cleaned off.

Guards have been stationed at each end of the lower road to warn traffic.

YOUTH ADMITS THEFT OF WATCH

William Crawford, 23 years old, who police say, admitted the theft of a wrist watch from Cora Bamer, of East End, East Liverpool, will be bound over to the grand jury today by local authorities.

Crawford was arrested with another youth, George Davis, and from the pair police learned that a deal was being framed to steal an automobile belonging to Abe Katz, of this city, it was said.

WILL TELL STORY OF 'CINDERELLA'

The story of Cinderalla and her prince will be given as the closing number of the piano recital which will be presented by pupils of Miss Margaret Jean Fogo on Tuesday evening, March 29, in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The cast for "Cinderella" follows:

Cinderella, Janet, Musser; Prince, Richard Ginder; Cupid, Delmar O'Hara; Godmother, Esther Frances Swift; stepmother, Sara Ferguson; Belinda, Beulah Pugh; Henrietta, Lillian West; Duke, Joseph Rabinovitz.

Fairies—Betty Miller, Juliet Smith, Frances Havelock, Catherine Wilkinson, Margaret Earich, Mildred Wilkinson, Clara Frail, Mildred Connor, Cleora West and Letha Mae Clark.

Ladies—Catherine Wilkinson, Evelyn Irons, Jean Johnson, Ruth Weekley, Dorothy Grey, Irene Cline, Ruby Redinger, Alice Fogo and Lenora Cline.

Lords—Willard Havelock, John McGary, James Copnor, Leroy Jones, Don Ferguson and James Earich.

Pianist—Ruth Coleman.

COMPLETE ROAD JOB TOMORROW

McQueen's Run Thoroughfare Gets Hard Surface.

Finishing touches to the McQueen's Run road, which will place the thoroughfare in better condition than it has been since it was built, will be applied tomorrow.

The city forces, which have been co-operating with coal men, farmers and teamsters in one of the most efficient pieces of road improving projects of its kind that has been done here for a long time, was to dump the final lods of slag today

Tomorrow the steam roller is scheduled to make its last trip and the road will be ready for use.

Several weeks were required to complete the job. Ditches and drains were cleaned out, the roadway leveled off and then covered with broken bricks. Over this was spread a thick layer of slag and the whole then rolled down.

The new road provides an improved connecting link between Aten avenue and the brick stretch in Yellow Creek township.

WEST END P. T. A. MEET TONIGHT

WILL ENFORCE TRAFFIC LAWS

State Inspector Warns Motorists to Use Proper Tags.

John Tompkins, of Warren, an inspector connected with the state bureau of motor vehicles, has joined local police authorities in their war on motorists who refuse to carry proper license plates on their cars.

Tompkins will spent several days in Wellsville and later will visit East Liverpool.

The state inspector points out that each motor vehicle must have two license plates, each designed for the particular car on which it is placed.

Arrests will be made for violations of the traffic regulation.

SALINEVILLE

The Philathea Bible class of the Methodist church held its regular business meeting at the church Friday evening. The hostesses, Miss Bess Goddard, Mrs. James Herbert, Mrs. Bessie McGonnagle, Mrs. Dora Hunter, and Mrs. Edith Close, served luncheon. After the business session, a social hour was spent. Games and contests were features. About 60 were present. Mrs. Fred Chambers, of Damascus, was an honor guest. Prizes were awarded to the winners of the contests.

Miss Grace Skinner, a student nurse in the Ohio Valley hospital, Steubenville, is spending a short vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner.

The Knights of Columbus held a St. Patrick's day party at their hall on East Main street Thursday evening. Supper was served to about 200 guests. A good program was rendered. Dancing followed the program.

Mrs. Ernest McKinsey, of Grant hill has returned from Steubenville, where she consulted a physician.

Charles Kimberly, Jr., is suffering from an attack of grip. This is the first time he has missed school in three years.

Mrs. Mary Jane Morrow, of Lincoln avenue, who was suffering from pneumonia, is reported improving.

The annual Congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held on Thursday evening in the church. Devotional services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Martin, who was elected moderator of the meeting. Attorney S. E. McCormick was clerk. Reports were received from all boards, societies and treasurers of the church. The budget for the church year, beginning April first, was adopted. The following officers were elected: O. M. Ashbaugh, and William Heatherington, elders, for three years; Fred Madison and Blaine Patterson, trustees, for three years; Samuel B. Larkins, Herman Graubner and John Johnson, deacons, two for three years, Johnson to fill out the unexpired time of Blaine Patterson, for two years. The annual canvass will be made on Sunday afternoon.

The Dorcas Bible class of the Presbyterian church, met in regular session Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Loch. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Meda Smith. Mrs. Latta Smith presided over the business session. It was decided to purchase utensils for the kitchen of the church. The following officers were elected for the new year, begining April first: President, Mrs. Helen James; vice president, Miss Margaret Smith; secretary, Mrs. Eva Henderson; treasurer, Mrs. Jetta McCormick. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her daughters, Miss Elizabeth Loch, Mrs. Bess Eisenbarth, and grand daughter, Jean Eisenbarth.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. MEET APRIL 1

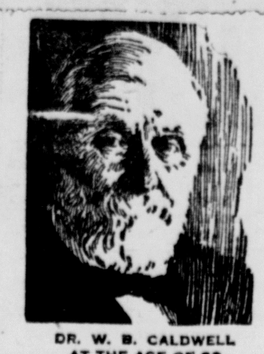
A miscellaneous program of vocal and instrumental music and readings will be given on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Methodist Protestant church, Tenth and Main streets. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

The program will be given under auspices of the Women's Home Missionary society.

Visit in Tennessee.

Mrs. H. C. Thomas and children, of Fifteenth street, have left for Oakdale, Tenn., where they expect to visit for a month with relatives.



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

75 Persons Join Nazarene Church During Revival

Seventy-five persons united with the church during revival services, which were conducted at the Church of the Nazarene, St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, yesterday. Rev. Bona Fleming, Ashland, Ky., preached at morning, afternoon and evening services and also spoke at a Sunday school rally.

Music was rendered by E. B. Marsh and George H. Ward. A quartet, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Mounts and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox, sang at the afternoon service. A sextet made up of Carl Ward, Otmer Statts, Raymond Davis, Gale Hutchinson, George Ward and E. B. Marsh sand, "Amazing Grace" at the evening service. A vocal solo was given by Miss Alberta Brindley.

Rev. E. H. Stillion, Oil City, Pa., will conduct tonight's services. Miss Magdalene Deboer of Sandy Lake, Pa., will sing. A 15-minute program of instrumental music will be rendered beginning at 7:15 o'clock.

Bookmakers presented to C. W. Cropper, secretary of the Australian Jockey club, an illuminated address encased in jeweled solid silver, as he started on a tour abroad recently.

Thirty sharks were included in the net catch made by a herring fishing trawler that landed at Belfast, Ireland, recently.

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long-suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking.

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It is a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer.

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

Nab Five Persons On Liquor Charges; Three Pay Fines

Five persons, charged with liquor violations, were nabbed by the police over the week-end. One was fined, another forfeited his bond, the third pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence, while two others were to be given hearings before Municipal Judge Hanley this afternoon.

Clarence Christy was fined $100 and costs upon a possession charge after Chief of Police McDermott, Captain Conley, Patrolman Lister and Patrolman Curran raided his home in Church alley.

Captain Conley, Patrolman Roth and Curran arrested James Monroe, Orchard grove avenue, at 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning, on a charge of possession. He will get a hearing at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Carl Kelly, Walnut street, arrested when Chief McDermott, Captain Conley, Patrolman Lister and Patrolman Curran, visited his home Saturday evening, was charged with possession of liquor and gambling devices. He was released on bond for a hearing this afternoon.

Paul Wiggins, arrested in East End last Tuesday, entered a plea of guilty to a possession charge and was fined $200 and costs this morning.

Two men giving names of "McConnell" and "Canevin," but no street addresses, were listed for possession. The latter, who was arrested in East End, forfeited $105.80. The arrests were made by Patrolmen Smith and Curran.

decided that one life for one murder was sufficient.

The four men convicted must cast lots, and the loser will be executed. The other three going to prison for 20 years. Leonardo, who liked to study faces under strong emotion, could make an interesting picture of those men gambling for death.

MUSSOLINI'S cabinet council has established an aerial police force, to regulate flying, up where it is done, and pursue criminals that escape in flying machines. That also is a new piece of news. It begins what, in years to come, will be the world's really important police force. Criminals know—what this government does not yet know—that flying is a practical reality.

MAYOR WALKER of New York, sets a good example proposing to cut taxes on poor people's dwellings. This should apply to any moderate price house in which a father and mother bring up children. When they are poor, actually, the city, state and nation should help instead of taxing them, since they are providing human working machinery for the next generation.

MOSCOW threatens many things, if the Chinese harm Russian subjects captured on board a Russian ship and accused of propagandism.

A Russian-Chinese war would be long and no repetition of the Russian-Japanese war, the czar and the grand dukes being replaced by capable thinking Russians, Russia, not backward like this nation would soon have hundreds of fighting planes above China's cities—and they would not fall down.

But how would you conquer, all at once, China's 400,000,000. Savage Asiatics have done it, by settling among the Chinese, and ruling by terror.

But that system has gone by. To fight China or Russia, would be like something yourself in a huge feather bed, as one of the German experts said.

No More Tired Burning Feet

What a Relief!

Why suffer the miserable discomfort of smarting, aching, perspiring feet when it is so easy to quickly make them well by merely using a harmless liquid called Dax.

The minute you use Dax your feet become cool and comfortable. The irritation and soreness disappear as if by magic. Soothing, blessed relief is immediately yours.

Dax must not be confused with foot powders or messy salves that only give temporary comfort at the most. Dax does not merely ease foot pain. On the contrary, it removes the cause by correcting the action of the sweat glands.

Get a bottle of Dax today at Jesse D. Holloway or any druggist. It is guaranteed to instantly make your feet well and happy, or else costs nothing.

RECOVERY FROM GRIP IS ALWAYS SLOW WORK

Victims of grip or influenza are always left badly weakened. The acute catarrhal conditions from which they have suffered make recovery take a long time. There is only one common sense course to follow—get rid of the catarrh.

Dangers of Catarrh

Catarrh helped bring on the attack. It is present in most people. Many know it only when some acute attack shows how much it has underminded the general health. Catarrh is both insidious and dangerous.

World's Tonic conquers catarrh. More than that, it is a wonderful strength builder. With it, thousands have botten rid of catarrh at the same time they were building up strength.

Those who are weakened by grip or influenza or cold are always subject to the ravages of catarrh. Build up strength with World's Tonic and overcome catarrh at the same time.

Sold by Carnahans also Brannon, Wellsville and all other reliable druggists. (219.)

More Eggs, Better Chicks, Result of F. P. Faulk's Feed

Do you chickens come home to roost?

There's an old saying to the effect that they do, but there's many a poultry owner who's had to chase the prodigals back, out of some neighbor's garden, perhaps, where they were enjoying some luscious, newly planted seeds, because the home rations weren't what they should have been.

You can't just put a hen on a nest and a "Do It Now" sing in front of her and expect her to produce.

It takes nourishment and care and Mr. Poultry Owner can buy the one and get good sound advice on the other at the F. P. Faulk Sons Company, of East Liverpool and Wellsville.

At any of their branches can be purchased high quality fancy scratch feed, chop, cracked corn, corn meal, grain, feed, hay, straw, salt, plant lime, lawn fertilizer, field and garden seeds of all kinds, poultry supplies of all kinds, Wingold and Favorite flours, and in addition Standard Portland Cement.

"We Never Sleep" is Motto of Busy Bee Quality Restaurant

If wifie insists upon her beauty sleep in the morning, she should have it, by all means, but hungry hubbies must be fed before the daily grind begins, and irrespective of whether he wants just a simple menu of the every ready rolls and coffee or demands a more extensive and substantial outlay to fill the aching void, he can spend a few minutes, or a half-hour, as he chooses, in the Busy Bee restaurant, right in the Diamond, and be fit and ready for another day's successful toil.

And then, if you're too busy to go home for noon lunch, drop in on the Busy Bee for a short snack, and, further, if you decide that faithful wifie might care to eat someone else's cooking besides her own (they do, occasionally, men—that's a tip) take her to the Busy Bee for dinner in the evening.

For after-show folks and others whose appetites crave a bite before bed, the same fine service and food are available. And thus, the Busy Bee serves all the day 'round—24 full hours—from breakfast time to breakfast time. And, by the way, you might, in the mornings, or, for that matter anytime, try some of their electrically baked waffles with rich, delicious coffee.

Auto Wrecking Firm Invaluable Aids in Motor Repair Work

A chain is as strong as its weakest link. This may be applicable to almost anything in general, and is especially true of automobiles, which consist of so many interdependent parts, or "links," that the inefficiency of one may throw the whole thing into a state of disorder.

Of course, there are several things to do in a case of this kind: You may repair, or buy a new part, or, better still, get a good used part that is practically as good as new and much less expensive, through the facilities of the East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Co., at 767 Dresden avenue.

If your engine is the "missing" link, a timer, a coil, new wires, or perhaps plugs may be necessary to make everything shipshape again.

Or your generator, which has done many a good "turn" for you, may have ceased to function; maybe its the battery, or starting motor, the fan, gears or any of the hundred and one things that must co-operate to produce speed and power.

The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Co., deals entirely in good, used parts, as well as tires, tops and other accessaries, and buys and sells used cars.

Naylor and Travis Motor Car Experts; Buick a Specialty

Spring time—Summer time—Vacation time—and if you're a motorist it should be automobile repair time!

Probably figuring already on a trip. Let's see, now—You'll pack up your best golf tools and togs for an uninterrupted outing on some seaside links, and that new bathing suit in which you'll cut a handsome figure, and flannels and sport outfits of all kinds in preparation for a long looked for surcease from business troubles. And then you'll feel all set to go.

But the most important thing—Have you looked at the "innards" of your trusty old auto? Have you had expert mechanics like Naylor and Travis give it a rigid inspection to see that it can stand the wear and tear of an arduous vacation trip?

If you haven't, can you be sure that you'll not be wielding a wrench most of the time instead of a mashie? Or wearing overalls instead of a bathing suit? Or gazing at the mechanical scenery on your back under the car instead of enjoying nature's unending vistas along the roadside?

See Naylor and Travis this spring. Telephone shop 539-M, or residence 7500 R-5, and they'll give you quick service.

Valley Wall Paper, Paint Store Moves; Prices Hard to Beat

W. W. York, who has been hanging wall paper for more than a score and a half of years has got the "hang" of the business down to such an extent that he has been compelled to expand into larger quarters.

York, who is proprietor of the Valley Wall Paper and Paint store started out with several rolls of paper and a bucket of paste just 35 years ago and he has stuck to his job like his paper sticks to the walls until today he has established a large satisfied clientele throughout the city and adjoining territory.

He had been hanging paper for about 18 years when he opened a store in connection with his business. This store has been in operation ever since and its business has grown to such proportions that it was necessary to move into bigger quarters at 203 West Sixth street just two doors below Jackson.

And another thing—the Valley store has been able to reduce its expense about one-half and a goodly portion of this will be shared with its customers in the way of reduced prices on the latest of styles and hundreds of shadings in wall papers.

A telephone call to 1029, places the services of Mr. York and the Valley Wall Paper and Pain store always within arm's reach.

Service and Safety Boost Business of Hyatt Taxi Fleet

Lady Godiva, in her traditional ride in 1040 through the streets of Coventry at the whim of her husband, Leofric, Earl of Mercier, to free her subjects of certain exactions imposed upon them, knew nothing of the seclusion, comfort and efficiency of the modern taxicab.

But in this day and age the taxi is an important part of every day life, and there are none better than East Liverpool's oldest company—Hyatt's Green Cab.

Hyatt's was established five years ago, starting with a small sedan. Now they have four regular cabs, three of which are Reos, specially built cabs. "Nothing but the best will do" was their slogan as they began the establishment of a system of regulation metered taxis.

Care in the selection of drivers is a big factor in Hyatt's record of no accidents in five years. Only experienced operators are employed to take care of the rapidly growing business that now keeps the Hyatt "Green" fleet in constant operation.

Promptness in answering calls also adds to the value of their service. Ring No. 2 and you'll get a taxi, quick!

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS PREPARE FOR LONG STRUGGLE

300,000 MEN PLAN TO QUIT WORK APRIL 1

Tie-up Expected to Last at Least Four Months.

FIGHT ON UNION

Operators Make No Move to Avert Shutdown.

PITTSBURGH, March 21. — Pennsylvania soft coal miners and mine owners are gathering here today to prepare for a bitter struggle.

All mining operations in the unionized soft coal fields of the country will cease April 1. Indications are the tie-up will last at least four months. There are strong reasons for believing it may last much longer.

On April 1, 300,000 miners will cease work. In four months, their loss in wages will be $150,000,000. The loss to business will be greater than this.

It is more than a wage dispute. It is a fight on the part of powerful operators to smash or at least cripple the United Mine Workers of America. On the other hand the union hopes to regain its complete domination of the coal industry, weakened in recent years.

Large Stocks of Coal.

Theoretically, the general business welfare of the country should not suffer until early winter. The stocks of coal above ground are by far the largest in history, and will last through the autumn. If history repeats itself, however, greedy speculators will start prices skyrocketing within a few weeks and industries, either caught unprepared, or panicky, will pay through the nose.

Neither side has any definite plan to avert the shutdown. On the contrary, each is making preparations for long, enforced idleness.

The present wage contract, negotiated at Jacksonville in 1924, expires at midnight March 31. In the absence of a new working agreement the union miners must automatically cease work. Neither side believes that between now and April 1, a new contract can be made for the central competitive field.

Anthracite Not Affected.

The central field, composed of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, is the heart of the bituminous industry. It determines the wages for all other fields and produces more than 45 per cent. of the nation's soft coal.

This controversy does not affect the anthracite industry as it is working under a five-year contract made in 1926. Anthracite is a domestic fuel and is not suitable to industrial use. American industry, the railroads, public utilities and manufacturing establishments, depend almost entirely upon bituminous coal. Of all the coal produced in America, 95 per cent, is bituminous.

There will be 90,000,000 tons of coal above ground on April 1. This great reserve, plus the tonnage to be produced in the non-union and outlying fields, will care amply for the public's need for several months.

If the union's grip is broken in Pennsylvania, operators in other states will be emboldened to break with the union.

Big Battle Looms.

Therefore the big battle is in Pennsylvania. This is recognized by both sides. The miners are massing their heaviest artillery in this state. The operators are girding for a bitter conflict, and are prepared to spend vast sums to operate on a non-union basis.

Operators of union mines in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio will close down their mines to await the outcome of the Pennsylvania fight.

Union operators contend they cannot exist under the present $7.50 a day basic wage contract, which the mine workers want to renew. Operators say the unionized industry generally has lost vast sums since 1924, and is losing business steadily to the non-union fields. As a remedy for this situation, the operators at the recent Miami joint conference proposed the adoption of a competitive wage scale to be based upon the wages paid in the non-union fields. The scale would have been determined by a joint commission.

Miners said this plan would have cut wages $2.50 a day. They promptly rejected the operators' proposal and the conference adjourned without agreement. It is not likely to be reconvened as neither side is willing to yield at this time. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, says he will never accept a wage reduction.

90 Young Men Hear Pittsburgh Editor At Afternoon Club

Ninety young men, between the ages of 16 and 26 years, attended yesterday's meeting of the Sunday Afternoon club, held in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. The speaker was Charles F. Gilmore, managing editor of the Pittsburgh Press.

Two selections, "Sailor's Chorus" and "Somebody's Calling My Name," were rendered by the Apollo male quartet of the First Presbyterian church.

Gilmore emphasized tact in dealing with others for "in getting others to do things willingly produces the right spirit and insures success."

American Fliers And DePinedo Will Meet in Para Today

RIO JANEIRO, March 21— Two groups of venturesome fliers may meet in Para today.

The United States army good will fliers hopped off from port Natal early today for Para.

A report from Manaos, as yet unconfirmed, states that Commander Francesco De Pinedo, the Italian ace who is making a quadri-continental flight, hopped off from Manaos to fly down the Amazon to Para.

Later reports confirmed that Commander De Pinedo had left Manaos to fly down the Amazon river to Para, planning to make one stop enroute to take on fuel. He plans to reach Para at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

There are conflicting reports regarding Major Sarmento Beires, the Portuguese round-the-world fliers. One unconfirmed report is that he has a broken propellor and cannot continue his flight. tOher reports state, however, that his troubles are not important and that the flight will continue.

TWO MEN HELD ON LARCENY COUNT

William Tucker and Lawrence Lemmell will be given hearings before Municipal Judge Hanley this afternoon upon charges of larceny filed upon information of Raymond Jackson, Fourth street plumber.

They are alleged to have entered Jackson's shop Saturday afternoon upon the pretext of purchasing pipe. While Jackson was in the rear of the shop, he claimed, they opened the cash register and took six $1 bills and one $5 bill.

Chief of Police McDermott arrested the two men this morning.

Laird Smith, East End, charged with speeding upon Pennsylvania avenue, was fined $1 and costs. He was arrested by Patrolman Smith, Saturday night.

CORDWIN ARNOLD ROTARY SPEAKER

Cordwin Arnold, Wellsville insurance dealer, will be chairman of the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow, when directors will be elected.

Nominees for the seven places on the board are: Malcolm Thompson, William H. Vodrey, Charles R. Boyce, Edward L. Carson, Martin T. Abbott, Albert E. Frosch, James S. Hilbert, Edwin Wells Jr., Lawrence W. Smith, Blaine H. Cochran, Frederick Lawrence, Joseph Betz, Frank G. Fowler, Daniel M. Ogilvie, Frank L. Wells, Roy R. Bode, Charles W. Bowman and Albert V. Bleininger.

Six Persons Hurt In Train Collision At Cortera, Ariz.

TUCSON, Ariz., March 21.—Six persons were suffering from serious injuries here today and many others sustained minor injuries as the result of a collision between the westbound Southern Pacific train—The Argonaut—and a freight train at Cortera, Ariz., 15 miles west of here.

mist, failed to notice the three pedestrians until he was almost upon them. The woman was struck by the right front fender of the car, the machine passing over her body. Davis, who was walking beside his wife, was knocked to the road but was not hurt.

Driver Stops Car.

Bevan stopped the car, he claimed, within about 30 feet. James Boyd, residing near Calcutta, who was in the Datwyler restaurant near Stop 55, at the time of the accident, placed Mrs. Davis into his automobile and rushed her to the hospital. Bevan followed the Boyd car to the hospital and later went to Chester where he reported the accident to Undertaker George Arner, Arner, upon Bevan's request, notified the East Liverpool police.

Body of the victim was removed to the W. W. Warrick undertaking establishment at Clarkson Sunday, and will be brought to her home near Stop 55 today.

Bevan, who resides near Superior avenue and 80th street, Cleveland, was enroute to attend the funeral of Charles Souers, former East Liverpool man, who died in Cleveland last week. Services were held at the Arner funeral home this afternoon.

Mother of Two Children.

Mrs. Davis was born in Wilmington, Del., but has resided with her father, near Signal, for many years. She was married on December 24, 1923. Mr. and Mrs. Davis moved to the Stop 55 district this winter, when Davis was appointed steward at the new country club.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, Harry, Jr., 3, and Roland, 1. The children were at home with their grandmother, Mrs. Emmett Davis, at the time of the accident. Her father, one brother and one sister reside near Signal.

Funeral services will be held in the Clarkson Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Clarkson cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy manifested during the recent bereavement of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Margaret Moore. Especially do we thank Rev. McKay and singers, the employes of the Review-Tribune and all those who so kindly donated their cars, floral and spiritual offerings.

MOTOR BOATING EDITOR SLAIN IN NEW YORK

Police Baffled by Brutal Murder in Victim's Home.

THROAT BOUND

Detectives Question Man Arrested in Syracuse.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder confessed today, according to Police Inspector Coughlin, that she and Henry Judd Gray, a salesman, plotted to kill her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," and that Gray did the actual slaying.

Inspector Coughlin quoted the pretty widow as saying the murder was committed because she had been "madly in love" with the salesman for two and a half years.

Gray who is 31 and married, has been arrested in Syracuse. His home is in East Orange, N. J. He denies al knowledge of the crime.

Mrs. Snyder who is also 31, is not under arrest as yet, but will be charged with some degree of homicide, according to District Attorney Newcombe of Queens. She collapsed in the district attorney's office in Long Island City after being questioned for over 24 hours and was put under the care of a physician.

Blunt Instrument Used.

Snyder was killed by a blow over the head with a blunt instrument while he slept, and a garrot of picture wire was twisted tightly around his neck. A heavy iron pinch bar such as is used in opening packing boxes was found in Gray's hotel room in Syracuse. Police also found there a pair of rubber gloves.

He went to bed immediately. Mrs. Snyder also retired in her own room. Gray, the confession says, had gained entrance to the house while the Snyders were at the party, and was hidden in some room when they returned.

After Snyder had fallen asleep, Mrs. Snyder got up and joined Gray. The saleman said, according to Coughlin: "There no time like the present."

Mrs. Snyder's story continues that Gray then went upstairs and struck her husband over the head with a blunt instrument. Gray also bound him with picture cord.

Mrs. Snyder then permitted her hands and feet to be tied and Gray carried her to her room and placed her on her bed, where she remained for five hours. It was about 8 o'clock Sunday morning when she finally gave the alarm, first calling her daughter, Lorraine, 9, who discovered her father slain.

NEW YORK, March 21—With little more to work on than an hysterical recital by Mrs. Ruth Snyder of the events leading to her husband's murder, in which she told of being knocked down, bound and gagged by a "tall man with a black moustache, who speaks broken English," police today were attempting to unravel the mystery of the murder of Albert Snyder, art editor of the magazine, "Motor Boating."

Struck on Head.

Snyder was found yesterday morning on his bed in his home, in Queens, his throat tightly bound with picture wire and his hands bound behind his back with the same material. Death, the medical examiner reported, had been due to blows on the head by some blunt instrument, although the wire would have caused death if the blows had not.

Invaders Take Shanghai

ish, one Portuguese and one German subject, who were driving automobiles in the international settlement.

Outside of Shanghai similar chaos prevails. Chang Chow is reported to have fallen to the Cantonese, thus cutting the Shanghai-Nanking railroad, and barring the retreat of the northerners in Shanghai.

Although calm is reported everywhere in the international settlement, there is great tensity and fears are expressed that either the retreating Northerners or the guerilla sympathizers of the Cantonese may burst forth.

Strike Hampers Normal Life.

The general strike which was called upon the entry of the Cantonese into Shanghai has already seriously hampered normal life, and with 100,000 workers reported idle there may be difficulty in maintaining public services.

Fengtien Troops Advance.

PEKIN, March 21.—The Fengtien march through Honan continues and announcement was made today that the Kuh Sien arsenal has been captured.

1,500 Marines Land.

WASHINGTON, March 21 --Fifteen hundred U. S. marines have been landed in Shanghai, Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, reported to the navy department this morning.

Americans in Nanking Safe.

PEKIN, March 21.—Nanking is not menaced by the Cantonese now and all Americans there are safe, according to a report to the American legation here today.

Communists Control Hankow.

LONDON, March 21. — Communist elements in the Kuomintang have successfully carried out a coup d'etat and won complete control of Hankow, following a violent quarrel with the more conservative factions of the Nationalist forces, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai.

First Installment

river and on Wednesdays and Saturdays great gay liners working out and heading down the bay toward England and Frace and Italy. Sometimes a gray battleship or a squadron of destroyers steamed by, and she thought with a timid little thrill of the sailors and wondered adventurously if it could be true that they had sweethearts in every port. She knew that they danced on those ships and kept goats for pets.

One afternoon shortly before five o'clock, Lucille Overman came in to see her old friends in the mailing room. Though some of the girls said afterward that she came to show her clothes. She wore a long cape of the sort labeled in the Sunday advertisements Poiret twill, with a collar of gray fur and a smart little hat. The cape was navy blue, lined with gray crepe de chine. The dress within it was of blue Canton crepe embroidered boldly with gold thread; very scanty and short. The stockings were of flesh-colored silk. Hattie had dreamed of such costumes. Though she could never wear flesh-colored silk stockings. "It wouldn't be me," she thought wistfully.

Lucille was tall and slender, with blue-black hair and cool gray-blue eyes. She had taken Hattie up in those first heart-breaking days in the mailing room; told her how to get speed in folding the wrappers and talked shrewdly during crowded lunch hours of what she called shop politics. Not unnaturally the forlorn little heart of the beginner had opened at this touch of what she felt to be friendship.

Lucille liked to talk of the mysterious life of the great city, and of herself as a factor in it. She knew all the foremen, and even certain of the office force, and in an expensive hour whispered of automobile rides with Mr. Watkins, the mechanical superintendent, who was known to have a family up in Mount Vernon. She said she really had to confide in someone, and Hattie experienced pride in being that one. Vicariously the girl lived through Lucille's rather wild doings, listening wide-eyed as to a new series of Arabian Nights entertainments. Lucille and two of the stenographers had a secret arrangement with one of the elevator moys in the Hanscombe building by which the boy now and then made them known to prosperous young business men who had good cars. It was the boy's business, she explained, to piek real ones. She'd had enough of pikers. Once, when both the stenographers had other dates, she urged Hattie to make the fourth on an evening ride with two swell men. Hattie, frightened and inarticulate, refused, but had thought much about it since. . . . Then, after Lucille lost her job, Greba Zorn, the hunchback, burst out about her in a curiously suppressed storm of bitter anger. This was in Child's, one noon, with people crowded close about the white atble eating hurriedly and with dishes and tray clattering noisily. Greba said that Lucille had cultivated Hattie only as a foil. She always had to have a simple-minded, plain little girl for a friend, one who wasn't talkative and could be led along. Hattie defended her, of course, hotly. And Greba's voice trembled with passion. It amounted to a quarrel. . . . It hurt, deeply.

And now Hattie found herself walking out of the building by Lucille's side, as of old, walking somewhat primly in her ready-made black dress. Her shoes, fortunately, were new; the only new things she owned at the moment. And her spirit clung to them.

"Let's go over town for supper," said Lucille.

"I've got to go home," Hattie mumbled.

"Oh, come along. I haven't seen you for ages. And there's a lot to tell."

"What are you doing dow?" asked Hattie, tempted and evading the issue.

"Me? Oh. I supposed you knew. I'm working in the pictures."

Hattie's big eyes glanced up, then down. "Oh!" she breathed, softly. Then, "You don't mean you're an actress?"

"Surest thing you know!" Lucille chuckled. "I've got to be up at the studio at seven-thirty tonight for a test. My first real part. I've been doing extra work, and bits. But even that isn't so bady. You get seven dollars a day, and up, when you work. I'm cultivating one of the assistant directors. Awfully nice fellow. Have to be careful, because his girl is working up there now in the big Armand de Brissac picture. There's the man for you—de Brissac! Temperament? Whew!"

Hattie's difficulty was to take all this amazing news at one time into an inelastic brain. The name of Armand de Brissac was to her one of the greatest names in the world. For a long, long time—two or three years—she had seen it displayed in enormous type on the bilboards. She knew his picture—keen, glittering eyes, heavy brows, firm mouth, manly chin. A great man. No name ever appeared in the advertisments in such huge type. They put Shakespeare in tiny letters down under it when he made the wonderful picture of The Tempest that cost two million dollars.

"Tell you what," Lucille was saying now, "you come on up with me and watch them make the test."

"Oh, I couldn't."

"Call up and tell your folks the truth about it. It's all right. The studio's awfully business-like and nice—just like the shop."

"We haven't got any telephone."

"Oh, come along! You can explain it easy enough. It's not as if you had to risk getting caught in a fib."

"I don't see how I . . . ."

But they were walking toward child's.

AARON SAPIRO DRAWS BLOOD IN LIBEL SUIT

So-called "Wheat King" Scores Against Ford.

ANTI-JEW POINT

Documentary Evidence Placed in Detroit Trial Record.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, March 21.—Aaron Sapiro, so-called "Wheat King," drew blood today in his million-dollar libel suit against Henry Ford.

The wheat king scored impressivly when he placed in the record documentary evidence showing that the Ford crusade against the Sapiro co-operatives originated as a campaign against the Jews. This was the chief contention of Sapiro in his libel suit.

The evidence consisted of a letter written by H. W. Roland, an executive for Ford's Dearborn Independent, to Harry H. Dunn, who investigated the co-operative movement for the auto king and later wrote most of the articles attacking Sapiro. The letter showed that Dunn was originally ordered to investigate "the Jewish boys who are putting the works on the farmers."

It showed that the activities of Bernard M. Baruch, New York capitalist, among the farmers had actually brought about the investigation which led to the articles.

Ford's attorneys sought to block all testimony on the letter, which came into the trial while William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, was on the witness stand.

Salvation Army Enrolls 15.

River Near Flood Stage

ed little relief from the flood conditions now being experienced in both the southern and the northern watersheds of the state.

The Scioto river registered 12 feet 3 inches at 8 a. m. here today, the highest mark since 1921. The Olentangy went over its banks during the night, flooding the river road with a foot of water. Farms on the Scioto trail, south of here, were a sea of water, and the river more than a mile wide at many points.

North of Columbus, at Bucyrus and Galion, the state highway was closed because of floods, necessitating several deturs.

electric interurban cars have stopped ecssing the Olentangy bridge at Prospect, south of Marion.

Car Tracks Inundated.

On the Scioto river at Newmans, south of Marion, the interurban tracks were under water, and the Scioto power station was threatened. Marion and surrounding town were in danger of losing all electric power should the rise continue.

The Sandusky river is over flood stage as far south as Tiffin and upper Sandusky.

Coshocton on the Muskingum river is suffering from high waters for the second time this year, and Zanesville is menaced by both the Licking and the Muskingum rivers.

At Athens the Hocking river is past flood stage. The Tuscarawas is gradually backing its waters to a dangerous stage in Dover and New Philadelphia. Lowlands of the Ohio river are feeling the encroaching water though the stage at no reported points is as yet considered dangerous.

The stage at Cincinnati is 39.7 feet with a flood stage of 55 feet. Parkersburg registered 24.5 feet this morning.

Mahoning River at Flood Stage.

YOUNGSTOWN, March 21.—The Mahoning river here is at flood stage today and rising steadily at the rate of two inches an hour. At 8 a. m., the river was eight and five tenths feet above normal.

Part of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks between Youngstown and Girard are under six inches of water, slowing traffic.

Highway traffic is also impeded in all directions.

Mosquito creek, Warren, is overflowing, inundating the lowlands.

Other Streams Swollen.

ST. MARYS, O., March 21.—Banks of Lake St. Mary are intact despite a 16-inch rise in the past day. The water level is now equal to that of 1913 though canal officers do not anticipate danger from the lake.

The high water has caused much damage to the Miami and Erie canal in this vicinity, and workmen are working day and night to prevent washouts on the railroad right of ways.

Memorial high school is closed today because of a flooded basement.

DAYTON, O., March 21.—The Miami river here today passed the 11.5 mark, having risen from a three foot stage in the past 48 hours. No danger is felt as the five conservancy dams are capable of storing up flood waters.

The water behind Lockington dam is 42 feet.

Reports From Other Cties.

SIDNEY, O., March 21.—The Miami river is still rising here, and residents here and at Piqua are moving from low level houses with their household goods.

MARYSVILLE, O., March 21—Union county streams are over their banks and at higher stage than any time since 1913. City streets are flooded and basements are under water.

MANSFIELD, O., March 21.—Wholesale houses and factories in the northern section of the town are under water here today as the result of the overflowing of Toby's creek. Many small bridges south of here were reported washed away early today.

Cleveland Cellars Flooded.

CLEVELAND, O., March 21.—Heavy rains over the week-end have caused much damage to property here. Cellars were flooded in various parts of the city and traffic on many streets was blocked by overflowing of storm sewers.

Fireman Frank G. Conrad had a narrow escape from drowning when he was swept into a deep hole which had been caused by a broken water main. He was rescued by other firemen who were helping him in an effort to fill the hole.

The home of W. J. Foster in Euclid village was reported in danger of falling into the lake as steady rain had washed away the high bank supporting the house.

Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad officials here reported a service tie-up on account of tracks being under water near White House crossing.

Maumee River Overflowing.

TOLEDO, March 21.—With the first day of spring here, northwestern Ohio was threatened with a flood.

Balkan War Clouds Overshadow Geneva Arms Parley Today

GENEVA, March 21.—Balkan war clouds overshadow the opening session of the preparatory disarmament conference, which opens this afternoon.

There was general excitement as reports were received of the threatening trouble between Italy and Jugo-Slavia over alleged warlike preparations by Jugo-Slavia.

There were no indications that the league council would be called in special session to deal with the matter.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 21.—The industrial stocks and the specialties were under moderate selling pressure in early trading today, and the trend of prices was distinctly downward.

Special weakness was apparent in the stocks which yielded most readily to bearish selling in the latter part of last week. Houston Oil lost an additional eight points and Warner Brothers at 24 recorded a total shrinkage of about 15 points from last week's high.

Lackawanna carried its new movement forward to above 167, but the railroad stocks as a whole were dull and quiet. Stocks of the coal carriers reflected the prospect of a suspension in the bituminous coal mines next Friday. Investment buying of the rail shares was temporarily held up while the reaction was in progress.

Industrial reports over the week end were favorable, though many of the prominent companies are continuously complaining about the difficulty of making profits commensurate with their increasing volume of business. Price declines in oil, sugar and other products have added to the troubles of many corporations since the turn of the year.

One Thin Woman Gained 15 Pounds In Five Weeks

Men and women, weak, thin and miserable, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in 30 days any druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

But be sure and demand McCoy's and get the original—rich in health and strength building vitamines.

Q. What part of the land area of the world does the British Empire cover? B. C.

A. According to the most recent estimates, the British Empire covers approximately one-quarter of the world's habitable land area. This excludes the Arctic region. The British Empire comprises 13,406,103 square miles.

Q. In playing Five Hundred, if a player gets the bid at No Trump, and his partner has the Joker, must he play it when he can not follow suit? A. A. D.

A. He may discard if he chooses.

Q. Are all insects killed with the same expedition by the use of carbon disulfide? D. M. P.

A. A great variation has been found in the resistance of different species of insects to carbon disulfide fumigation. In a saturated atmosphere of disulfide at about 90 degrees F., a bumblebee will die in a few seconds, while the saw-toothed grain beetle will live two hours.

Q. Please state where the smithy was that is mentioned in Longfellow's poem. C. D. N.

A. Ernest Longfellow in his book, "Random Memories," says: "A short time ago I saw in an English newspaper that the village smithy was in a certain English village that was named; as a matter of fact, as everybody knows, it was on Brattle street, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Q. Who said "We must hang together or assuredly we shall all hang separately?" G. J. R.

A. Benjamin Franklin thus expressed himself to John Hancock at the signing of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776.

Q. What is the best kind of candy thermometer to use? O. P.

A. A thermometer protection with a metal case is to be preferred for making candy. Such thermometers usually come in copper cases and are of varying lengths. For home candy making use a small thermometer about nine inches long, costing about $1.50, will be found very efficient.

Q. What is the meaning of the famous painting "The Huguenot." O. W. S.

A. Briefly, the explanation of the painting called "The Huguenot" is as follows: By order of the Duc de Guise, issued before St. Bartholomew's day "all good Catholics" were enjoined to wear a white scarf as a distinguishing badge. The young woman pleads with her lover as she strives to fasten the symbolic white scarf. The lover will die in the morning. As one writer suggests, the picture is reminiscent of the famous line, "I could not love thee, dear, so much, loved I not honour more."

Q. Have all crystals, when unmolested, a definite number of faces? V. M.

A. Every crystal has a definite molecular structure and its outward form is bounded by a number of faces resulting from the regular arrangement of the particles of the substance which is undergoing solidification. Although the faces often develop unequally, the angles between them remain constant.

Q. Did Phi Beta Kappa always admit women? L. M.

A. This was obviously not intended by the founders but fidelity to the test of scholarship required it. Women were first admitted by the Alpha of Vermont in 1875.

German Press Law Passed by Reichstag Gives Editors Relief

BERLIN.—Publishers and editors of newspapers and periodicals can no longer be forced to testify in court regarding the author of a publication against which the state prosecutor demands an action, according to a new paragraph in the German Press Law, which has been accepted by the Reichstag recently. The editor responsible for the publication might be punished, as heretofore, but the name of the author of the publication will remain a secret, if the defendant can help it.

It is generally expected that this new law will contribute to strengthen the independence and freedom of the press and protect editors from pressure exerted on them by courts.

the fatalities that occur during the years from 5 to 9. That is the problem of the home.

Studies and surveys of the locations of child accidents show that the dangers lie just beyond the congested business districts in highly congested residential districts where yards are the exception. Children will play, and if they have no yards and no community playgrounds they will take to the sidewalks and streets.

Those playing on sidewalks are in even greater danger than those in the street, for motorists can see the latter and govern themselves accordingly. It is the child who darts from the sidewalk into the street in front of a passing car that most often gets injured or killed.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S. S. S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S. S. S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me" Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Strong Prelim Card Planned For Series

Midland High and Bryan Clothiers to Battle in Connection With Elks-Midland Games.

THE East Liverpool-Midland basketball series which is scheduled to get under way with the first game here on Wednesday night, is attractive enough in itself to bring district fans out in droves, but the event has been enhanced to an ever greater extent as a result of a novel preliminary game series arranged by Managers Adam and Kissinger.

In other words, the basketball moguls will really provide two series for the price of one and the main bouters, it appears, will have to step some to take the play away from the prelim lads.

The preliminary foes will be the Midland high school five and the Bryan Clothiers, of East Liverpool.

The Clothiers will have such performers as Hamilton, McKeever and Wildblood as forwards; Elmer English, center; and Dick Larkins and Franner McConville as guards, the outfit that defeated the Elks Saturday night with the lodgemen using three reserve players.

Coaches Lomond and Wuschinski, in charge of athletics at Midland high, are both star performers with the Midland Collegians who will oppose the Elks in the main performances.

The Elks will have their regular roster on the floor for the three games, with Lippe and Shupe at the forwards, Wilde at center, and Anderson and McConville at guards, with Tommy Pusey available for duty either at a forward or a guard, Joe Canne at center or forward, and Carl Wilson and Kenneth Clark for forwards.

ALTMANS LOSE TO BEARS, 32-28

The Bears defeated the Altmans, 32 to 28, in a fast contest here Saturday afternoon. The Altmans led for two periods but the Bears came through strong in the final periods to win. J Davis, Bittner and O'Shea starred for the winners while Tobin and Wise performed well for the Altmans.

The Bears have won 12 out of 15 games this season.

Witse Goes to Buffalo.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21.—Manager Huggins' axe has begun to swing. Jim Wiltse, a promising young righthander of the New ... was hipped to the Buffalo club of the International leaue last night. Indications are that more young Yanks will be shipped away.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The swing for the cut-shot approach should be made, in the back swing, about as you would swing back for a stiff-arm shot. But there is this difference. For the stiff-arm shot your grip is rather firm and tight, and especially so in the left hand. For the cut-shot loosen up the grip, and particularly with the left hand. The club should be held as lightly as you can hold it without having it turn in your grip as the blade strikes the turf. You may be certain that the lighter the grip, while you still hold and control the club, the greater will be your degree of back spin. The action is a sort of flicking of the ball. Still, the ball must be hit accurately, so the grip must not be so wholly loose that you do not maintain mastery of the club. And hold the head still, also your body.

STAGE BOXING FINALS TONIGHT

CINCINNATI, March 21.—The semi-finals, and finals, of the A. A. U. junior boxing championship tourney were to be battled out here tonight, with 32 youthful amateur championship aspirants left to fight it out.

Of the 32 who successfully defended themselves in Saturday night's preliminaries, eight hailed from New York, while St. Louis had six of its original team of eight left in the field.

Philadelphia, Cleveland, Grand Rapids, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Boston, and Chapel Hill, N. C., all were conceded a chance to grab a few of the eight championships that were to be handed out tonight, but the "insiders" predicted that the New York boys would annex the majority of the bouts.

OPEN JUNIOR PLAY TONIGHT

Three Games of First Round of Tourney on Schedule.

The Y. M. C. A. Junior basketball tournament, comprising teams from this city, Wellsville and Newell, will get under way tonight at the "Y" gymnasium.

Three of the opening round contests will be staged tonight, the opener beginning at 8 o'clock. The schedule:

"Y" Silents vs. Roamers.

Newell Juniors vs. Hott Mons (Wellsville).

"Y" Juniors vs. All Stars.

Earl Greenawalt will referee.

JUNIORS STAGE PRACTICE TILTS

The "Y" Elementaries defeated the McKinley Tigers, 20 to 10, the "Y" Juniors won from the Buccaneers, 29 to 14, and the "Regulars" swamped the West End Rinkeydinks, 64 to 15, in junior basketball contests Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A.

Dodgers Play Golf.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 21.—The Brooklyn Dodgers returned to the business of baseball today, after a brief fling on the links, the feature of the annual Al Lang dinner yesterday. "Jigger" Statz, Brooklyn outfielder, won in the players' division hands down, and Wilbert Robinson and Clark Griffith shared honors in the managerial class.

Lack Punch At Plate; Defensively Weak At Several Positions

Dazzy Vance Heads Hurling Corps, Along With Jess Barnes and Bill Doak; Meusel Probably Will Start Season in Left Field.

By Davis J. Walsh.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 21.—If Edward Payson Weston had had feet but no legs, he might have been able to walk across the continent provided he started with Lincoln's administration and forgot to stop. In other words, the worthy Mr. Weston would be going nowhere with great haste and so is the Brooklyn club.

It has the feet of a ball club in its pitchers but W. Rotund Robinson neglected to provide the other and wholly necessary portions of its anatomy and, in consequence, the thing can slide but can't climb. Fortunately, the Phillies can slide faster, further and funnier, so the Dodgers probably will escape the ignominy of the cellar.

Robinson always has had pitchers but, otherwise, there hasn't been a real good ball player developed by the Brooklyn club in ten years.

Dazzy Vance, of course, heads the array of pitchers. Then there are Jess Barnes, ex-Giant and ex-Brave; Bill Doak, the salivary gland, back again after a year with the sub-divisions; Bob McGraw, Doug McWeeney, Jess Petty and Rube Ehrhardt. All were regulars last year and, with one or two additions will constitute the varsity staff. However, Big Jim Elliott, who won 27 and lost 20 with Seattle last year, is a certain regular. He seems to be one of those rarities, a lef hander who has both control and the ability to stand up under work. It is not difficult to see how Elliott pitched 43 complete games in the coast league, for his delivery is as effortless as the glide of a swan. Elliott simply can't miss.

Gets More Pitchers.

Still, Mr. Robinson was taking no chances, so he brought down Roy Gerdinier and Clarence Griffin for another trial, recalled Guy Cantrell from Jersey City, contrived to have the curse taken off the suspension of Norman Plitt for playing outlaw baseball and also signed Clark Wilson and Ed Strelecki.

The team, in brief, is topheavy with pitchers and, in fact, battery candidates in general.

It had three fair catchers last year in Charles Hargreaves, George O'Neill and Hank Deberry, who must be carried to work with Vance. They obviously weren't enough, so Robbie traded Grimes away for "Butch" Henline, of the Phillies.

Meantime, the infield was permitted to stand pretty much, as is, and it was frightful to behold in 1926. In place of Chick Fewster at second base, Jay Partridge was culled from Memphis and seems to be an improvement on his predecessor. Partridge, a native of Mount Ville, Ga., hasn't hit much to date and doesn't look as though he will. But he is aggressive, fast and has what they call a "double play arm," and probably will make the riffle.

Fewster and Bill Rhiel, up from Greenville, via Youngstown, Ohio, are the remaining second basemen in camp and the former is certain to be carried for he can play good ball for a week or two at a time.

Babe Herman is playing first base with marked indifference but he has no one to beat out of the job, with the possible exception of Del Bissonette, back again from Jersey City. The same club sent "Chuck" Corgan back for another trial at shortstop but Johnny Butler's great steadiness will get him the nod there.

Meusel in Outfield.

Bobby Barrett, ex-Cub, is up from Memphis to play third base but the tip is that Bill Marriott will appear at the bag again this year. Jerry Standaert will be carried for another season because of his hitting, the club having exactly none.

Another change from the original line up selected probably will be made in left field. Arnold Statz is back from Los Angeles to give the league another whirl but isn't hitting, so "Irish" Meusel probably will get the job. Max Carey, far from the man he was in many respects, will play center field, and Harvey "Gink" Hendrick, former Yank, will be the right fielder. "Gink" hit .360 in New Orleans last year and looks the part.

In addition, Gus Felix still is around for no particular reason. So is Merwin Jacobson, to say nothing of Oscar Roettger, former Yankee pitcher who has been converted into an outfielder without causing undue excitement. Ernie Neitzski, up from Nashville and Birmingham, looks like a good man but may be a year away from proving it.

Not much of a club, outside of its pitching, no real punch at the plate, not too much speed and weak defensively in several important positions.

Bantams at Work.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Bud Taylor, bantamweight champion, and Tony Canzoneri, New York challenger, began serious training today for their title bout at the Coliseum Saturday night.

Canzoneri, it is said, may have trouble in getting down to the 118 pound weight limit. Taylor is already in fine condition. Three fights within a month have kept the champion in the pink.

Four-game Exhibition.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, March 21—Ray Schalk and his White Sox family were here today for their four-game exhibition series against the local Texas league club. The Sox were unable to play the third game of their series with the Cats at Forth Worth yesterday on account of rain.

Housewives of Penang, in the Straits Settlements, are becoming converted to the use of electrical refrigerators and ranges.

Columbiana Lad To Lead Mt. Union

ALLIANCE, O., March 17.—Harold A. Burkle, sophomore center on the Mount Union college basketball team this year, has been elected captain of the 1927-28 quintet.

Burkle hails from Columbiana where he played three years as forward on the high school team. At Mount he has been used at the pivot position to fill the place left vacant by "Lefty" Miller, center on the Purple's three Ohio Conference championship teams.

BANKERS DEFEND PIN LAURELS

Bankers of the Liberty duckpin league will defend their first place honors this evening when they clash with the Smith News five. By winning three games, the News quint can tie up the race again.

Turk-Nash and Chryslers play tomorrow night and Altmans and Roselawns Friday.

The second half of the season will close next week, followed by the play-off series between the Turk-Nash team, winner of the first half and the victor of the wind-up period.

Whole Chesapeake Family Built to Rugged Health

L. M. McMasters, his wife and three children, all ill. Entire family used Tanlac and grew back to vigorous health. Give full credit to Tanlac for quick recovery.

Mr. McMasters lives on Sims Creek Road, Chesapeake, Ohio. Of his recent trying experience he says: "For two years stomach and liver trouble had gradually run me down and when constipation developed that seemed the last straw needed to break me, and to make things worse all my family were sick more or less all the time. My wife was subject to nervous attacks that kept us all awake at night. The children caught colds for no apparent reason and were confined to bed for several days at a time. None of us were getting the proper nourishment, and temporary relief would be followed by fresh attacks.

"We decided to give Tanlac a trial and it put us all on our feet. Our grocery bills are much higher now. We have no expense for medicines for we all eat heartily, and our food does us good. That was some time ago and we've all enjoyed the finest health since, eating and sleeping normally and getting full value out of life. All the credit belongs to Tanlac."

If overwork or neglect have left their mark on you, try Tanlac. It is nature's own body builder, made from herbs, roots and barks. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.—

McVey To Referee K.-C. Boxing Bouts

Five Mitt Exhibitions on Tuesday's Card.

Oscar McVey, it was announced today, will be the referee in boxing bouts which will feature the open meeting and smoker to be held in the Ingram building, Diamond, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening by Carroll council, No. 509, Knights of Columbus.

Five ring bouts, including two by Boy Scouts, will be included in the card on which appear Harry Heckathorne, Kid Woods, Ike Jones, Earl Miller, Joseph A. McKenna and Paul (Shuffle) Callahan.

Interspersing the boxing will be vocal solos by Dr. R. R. Bode, E. A. Purton and John Coleman, specialties by George H. White and other features.

The affair is for Knights of Columbus and their friends.

Giants Take it Easy.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 21.—Light workouts were the order of the day for the New York Giants, who face but one scheduled game between now and Saturday, that with the Jacksonville club of the Southeastern league on Wednesday. The Philadelphia Athletics through the batting of Ty Cobb and the pitching of Jack Quinn, beat the Giants, 2 to 1, yesterday.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

JUDGING from a study of the careers of the men now leading the major league clubs in the south the catcher's box is the best place from which to learn baseball. No less than six of the managers of the two big time circuits were or are catchers.

Were Very Popular Winter Choices

Incidentally four of the men selected over the past winter to replace deposed managers, were called from the ranks of the masked players.

Ray Schalk, new White Sox boss, is still doing catching duty for the Chicagoans and will do his share next season. Bob O'Farrell, successor to Rogers Hornsby as manager of the St Louis Cardinals, was selected last year as the most valuable player to his team in the National league, because of his services behind the plate and his general labors with the club.

Dan Howley, raised from the minors to pilot the St. Louis Browns, was a backstop in his day and Bill Carrigan won his spurs as a manager while also showing the way as a catcher with the Boston Red Sox in the old halcyon days.

Only One From the Outfield.

As for the other bosses—

Jack McAllister, new pilot of the Indians, was an outfielder.

Mariarty, new Tiger manager was an infielder with the Tigers.

Stanley Harris is second basing as usual for the Washington Senators.

Miller Huggins of the Yanks was an infielder.

Stuffy McInnis, Philly boss, was Connie Mack's star first baseman years ago.

Dave Bancroft, Braves' pilot, is a shortstop.

Donnie Bush, Pirate leader, shortstopped for the Tigers.

John McGraw was an infielder with the famous Orioles.

Joe McCarthy, Cub pilot was an infielder.

Athletics Have Pilot Quartet.

Speaking of managers, the Athletics could present a novelty act of managers between innings if they cared to—and introduce no less an assemblage than—

Ty Cobb, former manager of the Tigers.

Eddie Collins, former pilot of the White Sox.

Kid Gleason, also an ex-manager of the White Sox.

Zack Wheat, manager at times of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cenrtainly Connie Mack cannot want for strategy and brain work on his club the coming campaign. If the legs hold out for Messrs. Cobb, Collins and Wheat so that they can stay in the game and go at top speed the long geared leader should be sitting pretty.

Baptists Defeat Lutherans, 48-27

Sunday School Cage Loop Rivals Stage Fast Contest.

In the preliminary in the Elks-High school game Saturday the Baptists waylaid the Lutherans by the score of 48 to 27. The Baptists led from the start and outclassed the Lutherans all the way. Mackey, Hall and Kittridge were the main works for the Baptists, while Barlow, Brown and Mackall played well for the Lutherans.

Referee—Lorah.

The oldest manager in service in the American league won his baseball spurs as a catcher. He is Connie Mack. And Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers was a backstop in the old Baltimore Oriole days.

Apparently the big mask and the blur of the batter's bat don't hinder the wide awake catcher who wants to learn the ins and outs, as well as the balls and strikes of baseball.

Hard Practice for Tribe.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 21.—The Cleveland Indians will devote most of this week to hard practice in games between the regulars and yanigans. Only two more exhibition games are scheduled before the tribe leaves here, one with the world champion St. Louis Cards and the other with the Columbus American association team.

The Clevelanders are due to leave Lakeland within ten days.

Harris Swings Axe.

TAMPA, Fla., March 21.—Bucky Harris has begun to swing the axe. It was announced today that "Curley" Ogden, who has been up to the majors for several seasons now, will be sent back to the minors. It had been predicted Ogden would gain a regular piching berth with the Nats this year. The Senators went to Avon park today to meet the champion Cardinals.

Beat Elks By Margin of Three Field Goals; Wilson, English Star

Both Squads Play Strong Defensive Games; Contest to Help School Team Buy Sweaters.

With Center English and Guards McConville and Larkins leading the scoring attack, by way of diversion from the customary method of making points the forwards getting just three for the night's work, High school passers Saturday night rolled up three more field goals than the Elks club and finished on the big end of the count in a benefit clash for the schoolboys. The score was 37 to 31.

Center "Elmo" English had a big night. Playing with all his customary zip and dash, English ran through the lodge ranks for seven field goals.

But individual scoring honors were carried off by Carl Wilson, former high school performer, who sank seven field goals for the Antlers and two fouls for a total of 16 points, one better than English.

Had Wilson's comrades come through with a few extra buckets in the same manner that the high school lads supported their scoring star, Wilson's work might not have been in vain.

The Elks lacked the services of Nate Lippe and Dave Shupe, regular forwards, and Ray Wilde, center.

Lippe wrenched a careless knee in a game last week, Wilde was called out of town and Shupe, who had expected to be here for the game, was summoned to Greensburg, Pa., by the illness of a relative.

The high school lads displayed all the speed and form they have exhibited in running up a great record for the season.

Their defense was working in excellent style, with Larkins and McConville drawing the plaudits of the fans time after time. Dick and Franner broke up plenty of passes and also cut quite a figure in the scoring. McConville dropped in three field goals and Larkins four.

And the fact that the high school forwards failed to get a single field goal in the first half attests to the defense ability also of the Antler guards, Anderson and "Chuck" McConville. In the second half Hamilton sank a couple of buckets and Wildblood one.

A fair crowd witnessed the engagement which was staged to assist the school team in purchasing sweaters.

SOUTHERN OPEN ATTRACTS STARS

ATLANTA, March 21.—The pick of amateur and professional golfers were on hand today, as first practice rounds started over the East Lake Country Club course for the Southern open championship.

Interest ran high, with the talk among the pros mainly centering on the $4,000 purse for the winner, and $8,000 in other prizes.

Bobby Jones played a foursome Sunday afternoon and turned in a card of 68 for the round, while Bobby Cruickshank and Willie MacFarlane had 70s. Others getting the feel of the course were Tommy Armour, Wild Bill Mehlhorn, Leo Diegel, Mike Brady, Johnny Farrell, Joe Turnesa, Bob McDonald.

Walter Hagen and Al Espinosa are due to arrive from Florida today.

The competition formally starts Wednesday with a pro-amateur best ball match, and the 72-medal play contest begins Thursday morning ending Saturday evening.

Cubs Trim Angels.

LOS ANGELES, March 21. — The Cubs believe they are now ready to start the season grind, having made a clean sweep of their exhibition series with the Los Angeles and Hollywood clubs of the Pacific Coast league. They swamped the Angels yesterday in the series final, 14 to 1. "We're ready for the pennant grind," said McCarthy.

OLDSMOBILE IN ROUMANIA

Car Vieing With Queen Marie for Popularity.

American made automobiles are vieing with Queen Marie in informing Rumanians about the United States. So great has become their popularity that a major in the Rumanian army recently selected a new Oldsmobile to make a record-breaking non-stop run which circled the kingdom in but slightly more than 50 hours.

This run, which attracted attention of all Rumania, was made by Major Al. Berlescu, an officer in the artillery. Major Berlescu is a motor enthusiast, entering practically every automobile race held in his country. He has won innumerable prizes at these events.

Accompanied by an army lieutenant as timekeeper, he started in an Oldsmobile stock touring car from Bucharest, the capitol of Rumania, to follow a route which was laid out to tour Rumania. The actual distance traveled was 2447 kilometers—approximately 1,520½ miles. The route circled back to finish in Bucharest where the Oldsmobile arrived just 50 hours and 15 minutes after the start.

Forty cities were passed through, at each of which the car stopped and was officially checked by the police. The only other stops were for gasoline. Much of the route was over roads which would be considered unimproved in this country, which makes all the more remakable the Oldsmobile's average time of more than 30 miles an hour for the entire trip.

Following the run the Oldsmobile was placed on exhibition in Bucharest where it attracted city-wide attention.

Since the introduction of the six cylinder Oldsmobile three and one-half years ago many similar record runs have been made in this country and in other sections of the world. It was the first car to ever be driven across the continent in high gear and to make a similar record in Australia. It also established the Pike's peak record for stock cars.

Czechoslovakia Inns Being Bankrupted; Radio is Blamed

PRAGUE.—Radio has nearly bankrupted the inns and beer shops of Czechoslovakia. On the other hand it has sent up the sale of bottled beer by leaps and bounds. Apparently radio fans prefer their bear in the comfort of their homes, listening to music from their own receiving sets, even to the fascinations of cafe society.

In 1926, licensed holders of wireless in Czechoslovakia increased from 17,900 to 175,000.

Said bonds will be 5 in number and numbered from one to five, both inclusive; the first of said bonds shall be of the denomination of One Thousand, One Hundred Seventy Dollars ($1,170.00) and the balance of said bonds shall be of the denomination of Nine Hundred Dollars $900.00) each, and all will draw interest at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of March and September of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. The said bonds shall be due and payable as follows:

Date of maturity	Number	Amount
September 1, 1928,	1	$1,170.00
September 1, 1929,	2	900.00
September 1,1930,	3	900.00
September 1, 1931,	4	900.00
September 1, 1932,	5	900.00

Said bonds shall be issued to provide a fund for the purpose of acquiring and purchasing one fire truck chassis with motor and one Fire Chief's car for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and one police car for the Police Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one year's interest on said bonds.

Said bonds shall be issued under authority of the laws of the State of Ohio and of Section 3939 of the General Code of Ohio and under authority and in accordance with a certain Ordinance of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, entitled: "An Ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for the purpose of acquiring and purchasing one fire truck chassis with motor and one fire chief's car for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and one Police Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and one police car for the Police Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio" said Ordinance was passed on the 3rd day of March, 1927; said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder, at not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery and all bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to The Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for two per cent (2%) of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as before set forth within ten days from the time of award; said check to be retained by the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, if said condition is not fulfilled.

The City of East Liverpool, Ohio, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed: "Bids for Bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for the purpose of acquiring and purchasing one fire truck chassis with motor and one fire chief's car for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and one Police Car for the Police Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio."

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART.

NOW SENATOR BORAH BECOMES A 'SPOKESMAN'-A BUSY ONE, TOO

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Before the summer's ended Senator William E. Borah's "spokesman" promises to have become as widely known a character in Washington fiction as the "presidential spokesman" himself.

WILLIAM E. BORAH.

Probably the country's too well acquainted with the "presidential spokesman" to need an introduction to him.

He was born of the rule that the president mustn't be quoted.

He frequently says something he wants repeated but it isn't etiquette to attribute it to him directly.

The "presidential spokesman" was invented to get around the difficulty. Everybody with a mite of experience knows that the "presidential spokesman" means the president.

Senator Borah's "spokesman" has only just appeared on the scene.

BORAH is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. It's a position which gives vast weight to his views concerning America's international policies.

By indorsing them he can greatly help the president. By opposing them he can gravely handicap him.

Much to the White House's annoyance, this latter is what Borah has pretty consistently done. Especially is he out of sympathy with the administration's course in Mexico and Nicaragua. Every time the state department made a move south of the Rio Grande, so long as congress was in session, the senator followed it up with a speech denouncing it as all wrong.

GOVERNMENT executives always are glad when congress adjourns. They were gladder than usual this time, for they figured it would put a stop to the worst of Borah's heckling.

True, he gave warning that he intended to keep on fighting, but nobody expected more from him than an occasional interview, an informal sort of thing, lacking in continuity, hard to time psychologically and without the punch of a regular speech or a "spokesman's" ponderous utterances.

Little did Washington realize the scheme the Idaho man had up his sleeve.

He didn't go home, as most other members of congress do. He stayed right here. Every day, from his headquarters in the senate office building, he's giving out an "official statement," through his "spokesman," meaning himself, just like the president.

THAT "spokesman" stunt was a stroke of real genius.

It exalts Borah. It puts him in the presidential class. It practically announces his White House candidacy, which Borah certainly doesn't mind a bit. In that sense it kills two birds with one stone.

At the same time it burlesques the "presidential spokesman," detracting very noticeably from the impressiveness of what the latter has to say. It's been taken for granted hitherto that a "spokesman" was the exclusive prerogative of a president. That idea's punctured now, with the utmost ease, and what's been punctured never appears at its best.

BORAH wanted to take his foreign relations committee to Mexico and Nicaragua during the summer, to learn at first hand what conditions in that part of the world actually are like.

The administration forces in the senate squelched this plan, on the ground that it would simply be a trouble-making junket.

The suggestion's heard in high up quarters today that it would have been a blamed sight better if the entire outfit had been permitted to go. Senator Shipstead's gone anyway. Instead of heading trouble off, administration leaders are hinting now that it looks to them as if the attempt to smother it had only resulted in spreading it around.

HEALTH POSTER CONTEST LISTED

Health poster contest will be held at the Community house, New Cumberland, April 22, afternoon and evening. In the afternoon the posters will be on exhibition. In the evening the prizes will be awarded. A program will be given in the evening which will consist of music, both vocal and instrumental, and a 25-piece orchestra.

Last year the contest included the rural schools alone, and over 200 posters were submitted. This year the grades in Weirton, Newell and New Cumberland will be included. The rural schools will compete with each other as they did last year and the city schools will compete.

There will be 12 cash prizes, six for the rural and six for the city grades. Five, three and two dollars will be given for the three best posters in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and the same prizes for the grades below.

The contest will be conducted by the Hancock County Tuberculosis league with the assistance of the superintendents and teachers of the county. The prizes will be paid from the Christmas seal fund.

PLAN TO EXTEND GAME SOCIETY

Plans are being made by the Fish and Game society which was recently organized here to take in sportsmen from all sections of the county and make it a county wide association. Meetings in the future will be held every two weeks in the office of Justice John A. Mylar in the Aaron building.

School Board To Meet.

Members of the Grant district board of education will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the Newell school building. Routine business will be transacted.

Cottage Prayer Meeting.

Cottage prayer meeting for members of the Nazarene church will be held tomorrow night in the home of W. H. Daugherty. Bible study will be conducted Thursday night in the church by the pastor.

Services at Glendale.

Rev. F. F. Freese, pastor of the Nazarene church, conducted services yesterday afternoon in the Glendale mission, back of Newell.

Serving on Jury.

Number of citizens from this section of Grant district are serving on the petit jury this week at New Cumberland. Number of criminal and civil cases are on the docket.

CHEVROLET CAR IS IN DEMAND

Nearly 86,000 New Models Sold During February.

Responding to an unprecedented and enthusiastic demand on the part of the public for 'the most beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet history' with its numerous refinements at lowered prices, the Chevrolet Motor company during February again smashed all previous monthly production records by producing 85,821 cars.

February production this year showed an increase of 34,518 cars or more than 67 per cent over the total of 51,303 Chevrolets built in February, 1926.

Despite greatly enlarged facilities provided under the $10,000,000 expansion program completed Dec. 1, 1926, the Chevrolet Motor company was forced to extend its operations by working overtime, day and night, to meet the nation-wide demand for Chevrolet cars—a demand marking the rise of this company to its position as the largest manufacturer of gear-shift cars in the world.

"There is only one reason for the phenomenal growth in popularity of the Chevrolet car" said D. K. Trotter of the Trotter Chevrolet Motor company, "and that is—it has pleased the public. It has met the desire of the public for a high grade car, of exceptional quality and performance, at a reasonable price. It is this constantly growing approval of the Chevrolet car that is causing the company to extend its production to meet the increasing demand."

TROUBLED FOR YEARS WITH INDIGESTION

Mr. Allan Small, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:
"I have always lived in fear of heart trouble—my father, as well as my mother's sister, died from this dreaded affliction when I was a child. As it was on both sides of my family and I had often heard it was hereditary, I lived in dread and fear.
"As I have had at intervals severe abdominal pains, heart-burn and pressure on the heart, I felt there was no relief so I became reconciled to the horrible truth I was doomed, nothing could be done and must await my time to go as my father and mother's sister. I never dreamed I might only have intestinal indigestion, and my trouble was sour and acid stomach, causing gas pressure on the heart. Thanks to a friend who suggested Carter's Little Liver Pills as a remedy for faulty intestinal elimination, I am now free from the dreaded fear and enjoy all around good health. Small pills, easy to take and relieve the bowels in a rational way, with pleasant after effects." For sale at all druggists.
